Mr. Hoover gets the worst break of his campaign, with six weeks in which to repair the damage if possible, when a letter turns up on the stationery of the Republican National Committee, and from the Republican National Committeewoman of Virginia, declaring that the women of America must save the United States from being "Romanized and rum-ridden." YANKEES CINCH TITLE, ST. LOUIS SEEN IN SERIES

Cards Two Games Ahead of Giants With Only Two to Play.

NEED ONE VICTORY TO LAND PENNANT

Two Giant Triumphs With Cards Losing Two Would Tie Race in National.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28. — Barring the most surprising upset the last two days of any major league pennant race ever developed, it will be the St. Louis Cardinals against the New York Yankees—as it was two year ago, when the world series starts at the Yankee Stadium Thursday afternoon.

The Yankees clinched their sixth American League pennant in eight years under Miller James Huggins' piloting when they defeated the Detroit Tigers today, and the Cards virtually assured themselves of the National League bunting by scoring a 10-3 victory over the Boston Braves in fifteen innings in Boston.

Bill McKechnie's men, battling determinedly, extended their lead over the New York Giants to two full games by downing Rogers Hornsby's charges while the Chicago Cubs were subjugating the McGrawmen, 7 to 5, and, since they have but two games yet to play, the Cards are counted "in."

The National League leaders' standing:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Cards	94	58	.618
Giants	92	60	.605

Giants Need Three Games.

To be tied now, the Red Birds must drop both remaining games—tomorrow's to Boston, and the concluding game at the Polo Grounds on Sunday—while the Giants must win from Chicago tomorrow and from the Cardinals in the concluding contest. In that event, a play-off game would be necessary. Thus, to take the pennant, the Giants must win three straight while the Cardinals lose two in a row. Should any one of the remaining games, either the Giants' or the Cards', be rained out, the Mound City troupe automatically becomes champion of the National League.

Appropriately, the Yankees moved into another championship by outdoing the Jungaleers in a batfest. This victory, although the Athletics won again from the White Sox, made it impossible for Philadelphia to draw up on even terms with them, since each club has but two games to play and the Yankee lead amounts to 2½ games.

St. Louis Favored in Series.

The American League ranking:

	W.	L.	Pct.
Yankees	100	52	.658
Athletics	97	54	.642

The Barnard organization's pennant winners can ease up now in their two remaining games against Detroit, and the brace of White Sox-Athletics games also will amount to nothing more than schedule fillers-out. The Cardinals must continue at full tilt for one more day at least to play safe, but since the Braves now have shot their pitching bolt, the clincher likely will be put on the thrilling National League pennant pursuit tomorrow.

Largely due to their superior physical condition just now, and particularly to their more certain pitching staff, St. Louis is slightly favored to win the world series in the early betting. Six to five and 13 to 10 were quoted against the Yankees here today, and 11 to 10 on the Cards to win the first game.

U. S. REJECTS ANGLO-FRENCH NAVY COMPACT

Kellogg Note Holds That Compromise Is Aimed Against America.

HINTED THAT SIGNERS DESIRE NO LIMITATION

Washington Suggests Former Paris Plan as Basis for Arms Parley.

By ALBERT W. FOX.

Rejecting the Anglo-French compromise as a basis for discussion of limiting naval armaments and unmasking the apparent purpose behind it, the United States yesterday made formal reply to the British note of July 31 summarizing the secret agreement reached by the French and the British.

The American reply, drafted by Secretary of State Kellogg after conferences with President Coolidge, was delivered to the British and French governments yesterday. It is an identic note. It was made public here at the State Department without consulting the British or French as to their possible desire for secrecy. The fact that the note of July 31 has never been given to the public did not persuade President Coolidge or Secretary Kellogg to follow a like course.

Main Points of Reply.

Epitomized, the American reply places on record three major points. First, the compromise is rejected on the ground that it is framed in the interest of the British and against the interests of the United States. Second, the proposed Anglo-French plan is so sharply challenged as to its practicability as well as its fairness to American naval needs that genuine doubt is raised as to whether the French and the British have any sincere desire to limit naval armaments at all. Third, the United States nips in the bud any plan to charge America with responsibility for obstructing naval limitations by suggesting a basis of discussion which already has French support.

This proposal will necessarily be discussed when the Preparatory Commission of the League of Nations on Disarmament meets in Geneva early next year. It has already been discussed by the French at the meeting of the commission in March, 1927. It calls for an allotment of tonnage by classes of ships, cruisers of and under 10,000 tons, submarines, &c. Capital ships and cruisers of more than 10,000 tons are already limited by the Washington conference.

France Invited to Renew.

But in making the tonnage allotments by classes, each power is left free to increase the tonnage of any particular class by a corresponding sacrifice of tonnage in other classes, provided the other powers agree to such tonnage allocation. The American representatives were sympathetic to this French proposal in March, 1927, and Secretary Kellogg invites France to renew the suggestion as a basis of discussion.

America's idea of limiting naval armaments, Secretary Kellogg explains, is to limit all classes of combat ships. The United States can not accept, he declares, limitations that only affect United States interests. The Anglo-French compromise, by proposing to limit surface vessels of or below 10,000 tons, "armed with guns of more than 6-inch and up to 8-inch caliber," limits the type of cruiser which America urgently needs and which Great Britain already possesses in dominating numbers, and places no limitation whatever on cruisers carrying 6-inch guns which the British desire to build but which would be of relatively small use to America because of the sparcity of American naval bases as compared to the British. The same applies to the submarine-building schedule proposed

VIRGINIA G. O. P. WOMAN'S BID TO SAVE NATION FROM BEING "ROMANIZED" STRONGLY REPUDIATED BY HOOVER

Candidate Declares That It Does Violence to Every Instinct.

OPPOSES PRINCIPLES OF REPUBLICAN PARTY

Position Taken in His Acceptance Speech Is Reaffirmed.

"I MEANT THAT THEN, AND I MEAN IT NOW"

Says Statement Is Applicable Whether Letter Is Authentic or a Forgery.

When informed of the letter made public by Mrs. Clara Lyon, of Virginia Highlands, Va., Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for President, said:

"Whether this letter is authentic or a forgery, it does violence to every instinct that I possess. I resent and repudiate it.

"Such an attitude is entirely opposed to every principle of the Republican party. I made my position clear in my acceptance speech when I said:

"'In this land, dedicated to tolerance, we still find outbreaks of intolerance. I come of Quaker stock. My ancestors were persecuted for their beliefs. Here they sought and found religious freedom. By blood and conviction I stand for religious tolerance both in act and in spirit. The glory of our American ideals is the right of every man to worship God according to the dictates of his own conscience.'

"I meant that then, and I mean it now."

Capital Yale Student Indicted as Holdup Man

Special to The Washington Post.

Chambersburg, Pa., Sept. 28.—Charges of impersonating officers and assaulting with intent to rob a Waynesboro merchant resulted in Alexander M. Knapp, of Baltimore, and Sidney R. Prince, jr., of Washington, being indicted here today by the grand jury of Franklin County. Both are seniors at Yale.

Knapp is the son of the late Alexander Payson Knapp, former vice president of the United States Fidelity & Guaranty Co., and Prince is the son of the general counsel for the Southern Railway. The youths, it was charged, were returning from a party on September 4 when they stopped an automobile truck being driven to Washington by Harry M. Rowe. It was alleged they impersonated officers and took Rowe's purse containing approximately $200, which he later recovered.

Thimble to Be Symbol Against Bottle Opener

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The W. C. T. U. will oppose bottle openers with thimbles in Illinois. A symbol of his campaign for the United States Senate, Anton J. Cermak, Democratic nominee, has distributed hundreds of bottle openers bearing on one end the legend, "For light wines and beer," and on the other, "So is Anton J Cermak."

Today the Women's Temperance Union in Cook County decided to distribute to every village and farm in Illinois thimbles carrying the slogan, "Hoover-Home-Happiness."

Man Is Kidnaped; Mail Pouch Loot

$10,000 to $30,000 Is Believed Obtained by Gang at Rahway, N. J.

Rahway, N. J., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Twelve men kidnaped a colored porter at the Pennsylvania Railroad station here today and escaped with a mail pouch estimated to contain $10,000 to $30,000 in cash and securities after leaving their victim handcuffed to a tree about 25 miles from Rahway.

Joseph Van Cline, the porter, who weighs about 125 pounds, was taking the pouch from a train to guards at the lower level of the station when one of the men shoved a gun against him and escorted him into one of three limousines in the street. The bandits, with their prisoner, drove off in the cars so quickly and quietly that no one noticed what was happening until one of the speeding cars nearly collided with another in the getaway. This aroused the suspicions of a bystander, who told a policeman.

Van Cline was found with his arms handcuffed around a trunk at Englewood Cliffs, across the Hudson River from New York City. He was detained for questioning by the police.

Mrs. Clara Lyon,

Alexandria, Va.

Dear Madam:

I am pleased to know that you have been named Vice Chairman for your precinct. I feel sure you are anxious to do everything in your power to elect the splendid ticket "Hoover and Curtis" which our party is so fortunate as to have in the field.

Mr. Hoover himself and the National Committee are depending on the women to save our country in this hour of very vital moral religious crisis. We must save the United States from being Romanized and run ridden, and the call is to the women to do so.

Will you not please try to get a list of every Republican woman and every Hoover Democratic woman who votes at your precinct? The men will help you, and if necessary I think you would be willing to make a house to house canvass, distributing literature, and finding out how the women feel in this election - would you not?

We are sending you some cards, and will send more literature, if you wish it.

Will appreciate a reply, giving us an idea as to how your precinct stands - also a list of Hoover women at your precinct to whom we might send literature.

Cordially yours,

Mrs. Caldwell States That Vital Moral Religious Crisis Exists.

LETTER IS ADDRESSED TO SUPPOSED WORKER

NOT SURE OF HAVING DICTATED TEXTUALLY

Recipient Denies That She Ever Agreed to Aid the Republican Party.

(Copyright, 1928, by The Washington Post Co.)

A form letter, printed on stationery of the Republican national committee, which declares that women must save the United States from being "Romanized," was made public yesterday by Mrs. Clara Lyon, of Virginia Highlands, in Arlington County, Va.

The letter bears the stamped signature of Mrs. Willie W. Caldwell, Republican national committeewoman for the State of Virginia, and was sent to Mrs. Lyon under the impression that she had accepted the office of vice chairman of the Republican committee in her precinct.

Mrs. Lyon declared yesterday that she was not a Republican, that she had not accepted the vice chairmanship, and that now, in view of the methods being used to further the Republican campaign, she would not vote for the Hoover-Curtis ticket in any event.

Mrs. Caldwell's Position.

In a conversation with The Post over the long-distance telephone from Roanoke, Va., yesterday, Mrs. Caldwell acknowledged that the letter had been sent out from her headquarters, but declared that she did not think she had dictated anything about women saving the land from being "Romanized and rum-ridden." The letter reads "run ridden."

Mrs. Caldwell explained that it was her practice to outline letters to her secretary and allow the secretary to do the actual writing. In this case, she said, the secretary possibly "dressed up" the letter.

Refusing to give the name of her secretary, Mrs. Caldwell said:

"I don't remember dictating that part about Romanized and rum ridden, and I don't think I did dictate it. But I am not going to put the blame on my little secretary."

Mrs. Caldwell's Letter.

Mrs. Caldwell said that she was trying to wage a "dignified" campaign and was trying to guard against religious outbursts by overzealous followers.

The letter to Mrs. Lyon reads as follows:

Mrs. Clara Lyon.

23 POLICE SHIFTED; ALLEN CHARGE FAILS

Witnesses Do Not Support Story of Brutality to Arrested Men.

TRAFFIC MAN IS ACCUSED

Twenty-three policemen were shifted to new jobs, effective Monday, under order made public yesterday by Acting Superintendent of Police Henry G. Pratt.

Most of the shifts were due to the opening of new booth substations Monday and none of the men shifted were involved in any serious charges, it was said.

Simultaneously Inspector Pratt made known that the charges of police brutality made against brother officers by Policeman Robert J. Allen had fallen through for lack of proof, witnesses Allen said he thought would substantiate his charges declaring they had seen no evidence of prisoner-beating.

Orders suspending Policeman Loraine T. Johnson, of the traffic bureau, and to investigate charges that Policeman Ford M. James, of the Ninth Precinct, had assaulted Archie Hinson, colored youth, of 1678 Kramer street northeast, also were made public by Inspector Pratt.

Johnson was suspended following an investigation of a complaint by George D. Leong, a Chinese, of 4120 Park Heights avenue, Baltimore, Md., that Leong's young Chinese wife spent too much of her time in the policeman's company, refusing to live with her husband. Johnson, Leong declared, even had come to Baltimore and persuaded his wife to return to Washington, where her father is the proprietor of a restaurant on O street northwest, near Seventh street. The wife is said to be 19 years old.

Alonzo Tinner, 2023 Fifth street northwest, and Robert D. Harlan and his son, Jack Harlan, 123 New York avenue northwest, were the three witnesses Allen said he believed would support his charges that three colored prisoners were beaten in the Second Precinct station some time ago. The three men agreed they were in the station at the time Allen specified and saw the prisoners enter and leave the

Curtis' Finger Smashed In Door of Automobile

Lawton, Okla., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Senator Charles Curtis, Republican vice presidential nominee, was painfully injured upon his arrival here today, when a finger was caught in the door of an automobile. The finger was smashed and lacerated and the senator was taken to a physician to have it dressed.

A parade arranged in his honor went ahead as scheduled, but the vice presidential nominee was able to take part in only a small part of it.

Senator Curtis already was under care of physicians for his throat which has been aggravated by constant speaking and is fatigued from the campaign he has been waging the West.

He went ahead with his speech here tonight despite the new injury.

Rosenthal's Widow Is Dead in Poverty

Thanked God When Becker Died in Chair, Then Forgave Slayers.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28.—Mrs. Lillian Rosenthal, the lonely widow who thanked God when Police Lieut. Charles Becker and four gunmen went to the electric chair for the murder in 1912 of her gambler husband, Herman Rosenthal, died today under a surgeon's knife.

Poor, sickly, haunted nightly by a terrible dream, in which her husband appeared before her with blood streaming from a bullet hole in his head, she had finally sought shelter in the Bronx home of her sister, Mrs. Francis Repper.

Last Monday she suffered a turn for the worse and was rushed by her physician to the French Hospital. Her death today was attributed by the house physician, Dr. Cutler, to shock.

Attention was spectacularly fixed on this dark, plump little woman, erroneously believed to have inherited a vast fortune from Rosenthal, but actually finding it difficult to make both ends meet, when Becker was electrocuted at Sing Sing, July 30, 1915, three years after Rosenthal was shot down. She waited then in the room of a woman reporter for telephonic assurance that Becker had paid the death penalty, "thanked God for having seen justice done," and then hysterically asked forgiveness for all those electrocuted for the crime.

CARNES CAPTURED BY CANADA POLICE

Baptist Mission Treasurer, Held $1,000,000 Short, Not to Fight Extradition.

FINANCED MOVIE GIRLS

Wnnipeg, Manitoba, Sept. 28 (A.P.). Trailed in and about Winnipeg for three days, Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist Convention, was arrested late today and held at police headquarters awaiting arraignment in city court tomorrow.

Immediately after his arrest Carnes, without hesitation, admitted his identity and announced that he would waive extradition proceedings.

The police said Carnes came to Winnipeg about three weeks ago. He was unaccompanied. He stayed at a local hotel and had been making plans for opening a business in Winnipeg.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Chief of Detectives A. L. Poole announced tonight he had been advised by police of Winnipeg, Canada, that Clinton S. Carnes, missing treasurer of the home mission board of the Southern Baptist convention, had been taken into custody there. The message received by Chief Poole read:

"Have C. S. Carnes held here. Admits identity. Wire instructions.

C. H. NEWTON, chief constable."

Chief Poole wired Canadian authorities to hold the man and advised them of the $5,000 reward posted for his capture. Poole said that he would rush photographs and fingerprints in order to be certain of his identity and would not send officers to return him to Atlanta until he was sure the man was Carnes.

Carnes, whose accounts, officers of the board have announced, show shortages of approximately $1,000,000, disappeared from his home here August 15 after telling relatives and business associates he was going to Raleigh, N. C., on a business trip. First intimation the public had of his disappearance was contained in a formal statement from Dr. D. B. Gray, secretary of the home mission board, issued August 25, that Carnes had not returned and ex-

Bombs and Rioting Threaten Mob Rule in Australian City

Government Rushes Recruiting of Extra Constables as Violence Appears in Strike of Stevedores—Southern Cabinet Proclaims State Crisis.

Melbourne, Australia, Sept. 28 (A.P.). The government tonight was hastening the recruiting of volunteer constables as the result of a series of acts of violence connected wiht the strike of the waterside workers.

Homes of stevedore foremen have been bombed and the police have been forced to use their batons to prevent crowds of strikers from forcing their way into bureaus opened to recruit labor for the docks. No one was injured by the bombs, but considerable property damage was done.

Premier Butler of South Australia has declared the issue is mob rule or constitutional government and has called for citizens to enroll as special constables. The government today announced that a force of 2,000 is expected to be in readiness by Saturday night to protect the volunteer cargo handlers. The South Australian cabinet has proclaimed a state crisis.

The trade unionists in Port Adelaide have been bitter in their denunciation of ship owners, the course of the government in initiating legislation for registration of the waterside workers, and of the findings of the arbitration court. They have refused the advice of union leaders that they accept the award of the twice-a-day hiring system.

Riots occurred again today when 2,000 strikers tried to enter a bureau where volunteers were being enrolled for work on the docks. The police used their batons and dispersed the raiders after a lively scrimmage.

Cordially yours,

WILLIE W. CALDWELL.

Mrs. Caldwell said that only two or three copies of this form letter were sent out. A much larger number of another letter, she said, was sent out earlier. She did not think that these contained the word "Romanized."

Remembers Portion.

The letter sent to Mrs. Lyon was read to Mrs. Caldwell word by word. After this had been done, Mrs. Caldwell explained her position about the disputed line.

Going back, Mrs. Caldwell said she remembered dictating the following sentence:

"Mr. Hoover himself and the national committee are depending on the women to save our country in this hour of very vital moral religious crisis."

Mrs. Caldwell said that she had been notified that Mrs. Lyon had accepted the task of lining up women for the Hoover-Curtis ticket, and that the letter was sent to her in good faith.

A few hours before The Post called Mrs. Caldwell on the long-distance telephone she received a letter from Mrs. Lyon, which she described as "insulting." Her intention, Mrs. Caldwell said, is to ignore it.

Mrs. Lyon explained yesterday that she was named vice chairman of the Republican committee in her precinct at a meeting held last August in the Columbia Pike School, in Arlington County. She said she was not present at this meeting.

Nominations were made from the floor, and when Mrs. Lyon's name was presented the meeting nominated her for vice chairman. Later Mrs. Lyon said she notified J. E. Spaulding, the county chairman, that she would not accept the post—that she was not in politics. Apparently, however, word was sent to Mrs. Caldwell in Roanoke that she had accepted, and the sending of the controversial letter followed.

J. J. Davis Terms Food Chief Issue

Labor Secretary and Senator Fess Among Ohio G. O. P. Rally Speakers.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Staging an old-fashioned rally to formally open their campaign which has been running in high gear for some time, Ohio Republicans were told today by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis that food and not liquor was the issue of the national campaign.

"As much as some would like, an increase in alcoholic content of our drinks will not solve our problems," Secretary Davis said, addressing Republicans from all sections of the State. "Increasing the alcoholic content will not count for much if the stomach groans for lack of proper food, especially at the prospect of providing the necessities of life for your wife and children."

The Labor Secretary divided oratorical honors with Senator Simeon D. Fess and Representative Theodore E. Burton, senatorial candidate, and Myers Y. Cooper, Republican gubernatorial nominee. The senatorial candidates also upheld the policies expounded by Herbert Hoover, and in turn criticized those of Gov. Alfred E. Smith, the Democratic presidential candidate.

Mr. Cooper discussed State issues, promising to make a "shake-up" in the administration of the fact-finding division of the utilities commission if elected.

Jumps to Avoid Train, But Falls Under Wheels

Bowling Green, Ohio, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—John Wolf, 26, of Cowans Branch, Va., was killed late yesterday when he became frightened and leaped from the car in which he was riding as the machine approached a Toledo, Bowling Green & Southern Traction crossing in front of an oncoming interurban train.

The automobile passed the crossing safely but Wolf landed on the tracks and was caught by the trolley.

Border Officers Kill Two.

Tucson, Ariz., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Border patrol officers shot and killed Ross W. Huggins, of Tucson, and an unidentified negro near Deming, N. Mex., yesterday when the two failed to stop their automobile as ordered. The officers said the automobile in which the men were riding was loaded with liquor.

FATHER WHO KILLED SAYS HE WAS INSANE

Smith Declares He Choked Daughter While He Was Mentally Irresponsible.

HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

To exact whatever retribution the law may demand of Franklin Ellsworth Smith for the confessed slaying of his 19-year-old daughter the wheels of justice were set in motion by a coroner's jury which yesterday returned a verdict ordering the prisoner held for the grand jury. Smith was held on a charge of murder and was sent to the District Jail.

Temporary insanity is the plea offered by Smith in a detailed confession of the slaying read to the jury.

"I am truly sorry that I took my daughter's life," he said. "I loved her as dearly as any father could possibly love a daughter, and did it while greatly distressed mentally and, in my estimation, mentally irresponsible."

After hearing the prisoner's statement, Assistant District Attorney William H. Collins, in charge of Smith's prosecution, announced that Dr. D. Percy Hickling, the District alienist, will conduct an examination of the prisoner to determine his mental condition.

Speedy Prosecution Planned.

Collins will make every effort to obtain a speedy indictment and trial, he said. The case probably will be presented to the grand jury when it assembles Tuesday, he said.

The hearing was conducted in the District Morgue, where the inquest room was taxed to capacity by the throng which assembled to hear the testimony. The office room of the morgue also was filled and a large crowd gathered in the street outside the church-like building where the slain girl's body lay while her father took the stand and reaffirmed his statements as to the sordid details of the murder.

When the first lines of Smith's statement were read by Detective Sergt. John Flaherty women spectators were ordered from the room by Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt, who interrupted proceedings to warn that the text of the document would be revolting.

Beginning with his boyhood, Smith's statement gave a detailed account of his development into manhood and told how he became possessed of abnormal mental traits. He described his married life as an unhappy one and said that no one in his family showed him the respect due a parent and husband.

Murder Retold in Detail.

Smith's confession dwelt upon each detail of the murder scene. It told how, after he had completed the third test to see if the breath of life remained in his daughter's body and was sure she was dead, he heard the doorbell. At this time he was arranging the body on the bed, placing the head on a pillow and a cushion over her face.

The confession reads:

"During this time the bell rang twice, and to my surprise when I answered it I found this fellow Steele at the door." Steele is the young man whose attentions to his daughter aroused the intense jealousy of Smith, he confessed.

After being told that Miss Smith was dead Steele began to cry, and Smith left him outside the apartment door, which he locked, and went downtown. He attended two motion picture shows on the afternoon of the killing and, because of his state of mind, can not recall what he saw in the films, the document relates.

His life during the past thirteen years Smith described in his story as a "hell on earth," caused, he said, by domestic difficulties.

Fletcher Levels Charge Of "Boodling" at G.O.P.

St. Petersburg, Fla., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Senator Duncan U. Fletcher, addressing a Democratic rally here last night, charged the Republican party with "boodling" in high office, and urged his audience to remain true to principles of Democracy they have followed since 1876.

Senator Fletcher said Gov. Smith possessed the three major attributes of statesmanship, honesty, competency and faithfulness. Prohibitionists, he said, need not fear the prohibition amendment will be altered. Injection of the religious issue into the campaign by foes of the Democratic nominee was deplored.

Drivers Held as 6 Children Are Struck by Automobiles

W. F. Dick Charged With Reckless Driving After Girl, 7, Is Knocked Down—Boy on Skates Collides With Car Piloted by Nurse.

Six Washington children, were injured in automobile accidents here yesterday, as an aftermath of which two motorists were arrested, one charged with reckless driving and the other with being a hit-and-run driver.

Cynthia Rosefield, 7 years old, 3500 Thirteenth street northwest, suffered a fractured skull when knocked down at Thirteenth street and Park road northwest at noon by an automobile driven by William F. Dick, 26 years old, 3920 New Hampshire avenue northwest.

The child was taken to Garfield Hospital and treated by Dr. Richard W. Wilkinson. Dick was arrested and held at the Tenth Precinct on a charge of reckless driving, pending the outcome of the girl's injuries. According to police, the child walked out from behind an automobile which had come to a stop at Thirteenth street and Park road to let through traffic pass.

While skating in the street at Illinois avenue and Taylor street northwest, John Kinsenger, 9 years old, 427 Shepherd street northwest, collided with an automobile driven by Thelma V. Humphrey, 22 years old, a nurse, address unknown. John was taken to Emergency Hospital and treated for head injuries. His condition is undetermined.

Crossing the street at Fourteenth and Duncan streets northeast, Hobart Walker, 7 years old, 116 Fifteenth street northeast, was knocked down by an auto driven by Beverly D. Wayt, of Goldsboro, N. C. The boy was treated at Casualty Hospital for head injuries.

George Hardey, 7 years old, of 466 H street southwest, was struck by the automobile of an alleged hit-and-run driver while playing in front of 492 H street southwest, in the afternoon. He was treated at his home for injuries and his condition is not believed to be serious. Acting on information obtained from witnesses, police of the Fourth Precinct arrested Silas Carter, colored, 34 years old, of 325 G street southwest, and charged him with leaving the scene of an accident without making known his identity.

The fifth child to be injured was John Hughes, 11 years old, of 543 Fifteenth street northeast, who was struck by an automobile operated by Raymond A. Fisher, jr., 19 years old, of 505 B street northeast. The accident occurred at Fourteenth and D streets northeast, and Fisher took the boy to the office of his father, Dr. Raymond A. Fisher, where he was treated for bruises of the left knee.

Percy Ryland, 14 years old, 3701 Thirteenth street northwest, was knocked off his bicycle and injured at Fourteenth and Belmont streets northwest by an automobile driven by Charles Gotkins, 1556 Third street northwest. The boy was taken to Garfield Hospital, where he was treated for bruises. The bicycle was badly smashed.

EVERY PHILADELPHIA POLICEMAN SHIFTED

KERPER SENT TO ATLANTA

Philadelphia, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—In an effort to eliminate alleged police corruption as revealed in the grand jury investigation of bootleggers and their "rackets," Mayor Harry A. Mackey tonight issued the most drastic police reorganization order in the history of Philadelphia, directing the transfer of every policeman in the city.

Joel D. Kerper, so-called "society bootlegger, was today sentenced to one year and three months in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta and fined $20,000 by Judge William H. Kirkpatrick in Federal Court.

Kerper pleaded guilty to 29 counts of illegal possession and transportation of liquor.

Under present plans Kerper will be brought back from Atlanta in December to stand trial with Alfred R. Norris, a New York broker, on a charge of conspiracy to violate the Federal liquor laws. It is alleged Kerper shipped liquor to Norris' apartment in New York. A raid followed which resulted in Norris making a complaint to Washington on the conduct of the raiding prohibition agents.

A number of men charged with various violations of the Federal prohibition laws either were convicted or pleaded guilty in the Federal District Court and were fined in sums varying from $100 to $500. Jack Murphy, of Halifax, Nova Scotia, supercargo and executive officer of the rum runner Bulko, seized a year ago, was convicted in the Federal District Court of smuggling $600,000 worth of liquor into this city when the ship was captured. John McCambridge, New York, owner of tugboats, was acquitted in the same case.

District Attorney Monaghan, who is conducting a special grand jury investigation of bootlegging and police graft, said today that at least four more police officials charged with extortion and bribery would be arrested within 24 hours.

"We are going to make several important arrests," said the prosecutor. It is known that four police commanders, who have been under examination, are possessors of bank accounts far in excess of those usually enjoyed by honest police officials.

"I have subpenaed several bank accounts. One captain has three and probably four accounts. I am curious to know how a policeman whose salary was $5.50 a day for many years until he recently rose in rank, accumulates such a large series of bank accounts."

Underworld Women Called.

Mr. Monaghan said he had summoned a score of women to his office to be questioned regarding reported weekly payments of disorderly houses to the police captains of several districts. One of the police captains alleged to be involved in this new turn in the inquiry is already under $15,000 bail charged with taking money from bootleggers for protection.

Charles C. Beckman, suspended police captain, who was declared by the special grand jury investigating police corruption, to be "unfit to hold public office," appeared before the civil service commission today to answer charges of conduct unbecoming an officer.

After hearing a number of witnesses whose testimony for the most part dealt with Beckman's wealth and alleged association with Max "Boo Boo" Hoff, whom the district attorney once dubbed "King of Bootleggers," the commission adjourned until next Wednesday morning.

Beckman has been suspended from the police department, but can not be discharged without a hearing before the civil service commission. There are no criminal charges lodged against him.

Louis R. Elfman, who revealed to the grand jury recently that he was employed for five years by Hoff as an armed guard for bootleg alcohol trucks, testified that Hoff had at least a dozen midnight meetings with Beckman. Most of these meetings, Elfman testified, were at the home of Beckman's mother.

Much of the testimony dealt with Beckman's wealth. Lemuel B. Schofield, assistant district attorney, brought that while Beckman acknowledged assets of about $23,000, he had drawn about $28,000 in salary from the time of his appointment in 1913.

District Police Raids In Maryland Assailed

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 28.—Action of District of Columbia police in arresting alleged dry law violators on Maryland soil was characterized as "a deliberate plan of the Antisaloon League to foist a State enforcement act on Maryland," in a statement issued tonight by John Philip Hill, Republican candidate for Congress. He said:

"Unless the State of Maryland stops this invasion by District of Columbia police we shall no longer enjoy the benefits of having no State enforcement act. Police from West Virginia, police from Virginia, and police from Georgia will fill our highways in pursuit of alleged violators of the Volstead act."

COUPAL GOES TO AID AUTO CRASH VICTIMS

John Coolidge Drove Car That Hit Another, Policeman Says.

ASKS EXCUSE FROM WORK

(Associated Press.)

Col. James F. Coupal, White House physician, left yesterday for New Haven, Conn., to see if he could be of any help to the persons injured in the automobile accident Thursday morning in which John Coolidge, son of the Chief Executive, figured.

At the White House it was said that the President is anxious to have Dr. Coupal inform himself thoroughly of the conditions of the wounded and to cooperate with local physicians.

New Haven, Conn., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—John Coolidge, son of the President, was driving Gov. John H. Trumbull's machine when it collided with a car driven by Alfred Veno, professional hockey player, in this city yesterday morning, according to the report of the accident filed in the Fifth Police Precinct today by the officer who investigated the crash.

The report described Coolidge as the driver of "vehicle number two," and the explanation of the accident is that "vehicle number two, traveling south on Livingston street, struck vehicle number one going west on Lawrence street, in the right rear causing vehicle number one to turn in the opposite direction and cause the damage."

Deputy Coroner James Corrigan today declined to say whether or not he would talk with young Coolidge or had already done so. He also said that he was not sure there was any necessity of him investigating the case but it is known that the State's attorney's photographer has been ordered to take pictures of the two machines involved in the crash.

First reports that Coolidge was absent from his desk in the general manager's office of the New Haven road this morning were found to be untrue. But it was reported that he had asked to be excused for the afternoon.

ROBINSON ASSAILS COOLIDGE ECONOMY

Nominee, in Kansas City, Says G. O. P. Gives Power to Mediocre Men.

HITS AT HOOVER POLICIES

Kansas City, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Convention Hall, where a shouting Republican host early in June chose Herbert Hoover as its new leader, was singled out tonight by Senator Joe Robinson as the place from which to accuse that party of placing into the hands of "men of mediocre ability" the administration of the Government affairs.

Turning first upon Senator Smoot, of Utah, chairman of the committee which drafted the Republican platform, the Democratic vice presidential nominee said that Shakespeare's Sir John Falstaff could not have been "more bombastic" than was Smoot in the framing of that document.

Quoting from it a sentence reading—"the Government has been controlled by men of character and energy whose abilities are equal to their responsibilities"—the Senator said that "men of mediocre ability have been in charge of the Government" and demanded to know about measure of first importance had been sponsored during the administrations of Presidents Harding and Coolidge.

Assails Coolidge Economy.

Robinson, who was advised well in advance that his words would be carried over the Nation by an extensive hook-up on the Columbia Broadcasting chain, took thrust after thrust at what he described as "Coolidge economy," and after a review of the Republican record declared in the address that the "prosperity bubble explodes simultaneously with the economy balloon."

He accused the Republicans with having broken party pledges to the farmers of the country and said that a plank in the 1924 platform, declaring for a "clean and honest Government" had been "flagrantly violated." Further, he added, at the time the Senate demanded the resignation of Harry M. Daugherty as attorney general, President Coolidge "sustained him with undeserved praise."

"President Harding, whose good nature and kind heart blinded him to the wickedness of his friends," he continued, "established in high official places a group of crooks who respected no obligation, recognized no duty and brazenly plundered the public.

"President Coolidge retained many of Mr. Harding's friends in office long after he must have known that they could be of no value to the public interest.

Calls Hoover Mediocre.

"Now, Mr. Hoover announces his intention, if elected, to carry out the policies of President Coolidge. What policies? To boast of economy in the expenses of Government, when the expenses are greater than ever before?"

Robinson then added that a candidate for President whose "chief claim to performance rests on his willingness to carry out the policies of some one else establishes beyond doubt that mediocrity which is content to stand within the shadow of another."

Robinson found that Kansas City was taking its politics seriously this year. He was advised that registration figures showed more than 203,000 qualified voters, compared with 168,126 four years ago. He also was told that in some precincts election officials reported that women registrants outnumbered the men 2 to 1.

Singularly enough, this word came to the senator less than 24 hours after he had announced that from now on until the end of the campaign he intended to place greater emphasis upon the record of Gov. Smith on legislation affecting women and children.

CURTIS TELLS G.O.P. MILITARY PROGRAM

Declares for Defense Arm Sufficient to Support Peace Efforts.

VISITS FORT SILL POST

Lawton, Okla., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Close by one of the Nation's military posts, Fort Sill, Senator Curtis, the Republican vice presidential nominee, tonight advocated military defense of "sufficient strength" to ward off attack and to support the world efforts toward peace.

He lauded the recent Kellogg treaty denouncing war as "the greatest step forward ever taken by mankind in the age-long struggle to abolish war," and declared "it tends to assure us that peace we all desire, without engaging to depart from our traditional policy of 'no entangling alliances.'"

"The essential purpose of government," he declared in his prepared address, "is to maintain peace and to promote the happiness and welfare of the people. To this end the policy of the United States has been, is, and will be, to maintain its military forces at sufficient strength to defend the country in event of attack. It never has engaged in, nor will it ever engage in, a war of aggression; and in a war of defense only as a last and unavoidable resort."

Visits Indian School.

Coming here from Oklahoma City, where he discussed Republican hopes for agriculture this morning, Senator Curtis was welcomed by another of the demonstrative crowds which have greeted him almost everywhere during his two days in this State. After a motor parade through the city, he went to the Kiowa School and Hospital for Indians, near the city, and from there to Fort Sill.

At Fort Sill the nominee found his son-in-law, Maj. C. P. George, and halted long enough to receive officers at headquarters. Mrs. Parmela George, a daughter of the senator, met him today at Oklahoma City and accompanied him to her home here. Tonight he was the guest of Lawton civic organizations at a banquet.

Crowds were on hand at all points along the route today and the senator got off the train to shake hands with as many as time would permit. He was unable to talk because of throat trouble which has been aggravated again by his heavy program and the dust he encountered in a long motor trip yesterday.

G. O. P. Leaders Confident.

Representative Purnell, of Indiana, ranking Republican on the House agricultural committee, spoke from the back platform at train stops and also shared the speaking burden with the senator at Oklahoma City, where the meeting was held on the grounds of the State fair. He declared the Republicans considered farm relief "the real problem of today and the real issue" and he insisted that "we can look with greater hope to Herbert Hoover, whose heart is in this cause, than to Gov. Smith and to Tammany Hall."

Republican leaders accompanying the senator on his speaking tour in this State have spoken in most optimistic terms of the Republican outlook in the election. Among those with the senator are Senator W. B. Pine, of Oklahoma; W. G. Skelly, Oklahoma national committeeman, and Frank A. Parkinson, State chairman.

"Conditions here are good," said Parkinson. "We have the State well in hand now. I don't think there will be any doubt of the outcome. The reaction to the visit of Gov. Smith has occurred."

Gang Holds Up Bank, Getting $6,000 and Bonds

Jackson, Minn., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Five bandits held up the Brown National Bank here this afternoon, forced seven employes and patrons of the bank to lie on the floor and fled with $6,000 in cash and between $30,000 and $40,000 in bonds.

The bulk of the bonds were not registered, A. R. Albertus, assistant cashier, said.

Norris Again Backs Smith Farm Views

"I Say God Bless Him," Senator Remarks, Hoping He Will Push Plans.

(Associated Press.)

Gov. Smith's views on farm relief, as given last night at St. Paul, Minn., were endorsed again yesterday by Senator Norris, of Nebraska.

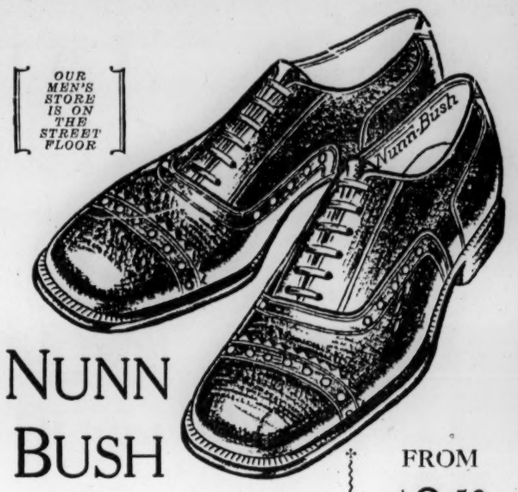

"I don't see how any man who backs up the McNary-Haugen bill can find fault with Gov. Smith," he said.

Norris added that the principle behind the equalization fee machinery was that the cost of selling surplus at a loss "on the other side of the tariff wall" should be assessed against the crop benefited.

"That principle was endorsed emphatically by Smith, both at Omaha and St. Paul," he continued, "and he has promised to call a commission to consider better machinery for operating the principle.

"I say God bless him and make him go ahead with his commission, if it can improve the machinery. If any man can improve the machinery of the McNary-Haugen bill, I take off my hat to him. I assume that the equalization fee will be accepted if nothing better can be found."

And all three principles are combined in the great new Nash Twin Ignition Motor which powers every Nash "400" Special and Advanced Six model.

The Nash Twin Ignition Motor, with two ignition coils instead of one, two spark plugs (airplane type) to each cylinder instead of one, 360 sparks a second instead of 180, at top speed, burns the highly compressed gases more thoroughly and economically.

The result is more power from less gasoline, and ordinary gasoline at that. No special, high priced fuels are required for the Twin Ignition Motor.

MILWAUKEE HOLDS PARADE FOR SMITH

Red Fire, Torchlights and Old-Time Fervor Mark Governor's Arrival.

THINKS MINNESOTA SAFE

By EDWIN W. GABLEMAN
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 28.—Prohibition, with particular reference to his attitude on the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead act, is to be the subject of the speech Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, Democratic presidential nominee, will make in this city tomorrow night. It will be the last speech of his present tour through the West.

The governor made the announcement at the daily press conference on his special train shortly after noon today as he was speeding toward this city from St. Paul, where he spoke last night.

His arrival in Milwaukee tonight was the signal for a big demonstration which if anything exceeded his enthusiastic reception in Minneapolis and St. Paul yesterday. A tremendous throng was at the station and the streets were lined with crowds for blocks along the route from the station to his hotel.

Smith admirers staged an old-fashioned torchlight procession behind the automobiles carrying the governor and his party and red fire and flares lit up the streets like day. Thousands were in line and many thousands more watched the spectacle from sidewalks and windows along the line of march. The parade, which lasted an hour, terminated at the Schroeder Hotel where the governor and his party are quartered for the night. It was the nearest approach to the campaign demonstration of former years that the governor has witnessed on the entire trip. He was cheered repeatedly as he moved slowly through the streets, bowing and waving his "brown derby" in acknowledgment of the applause.

Ideal for Wet Speech.

Gov. Smith chose an auspicious place for his speech on prohibition. Milwaukee abounds with wet sentiment and the State of Wisconsin is regarded as one of the wettest States in the Union, so indications are that his views will meet a ready response from his immediate audience. His message will be broadcast throughout the country, however.

The governor declined to indicate today the line his speech will take tomorrow night, but the probabilities are that it will follow closely that of his speech of acceptance, in which he declared for an amendment to the eighteenth amendment patterned somewhat after the Canadian system which returned control of the manufacture and sale of liquor to the provinces, and modification of the Volstead law to conform thereto, giving each State the power to decide the alcoholic content of beverages that may be manufactured and sold within its borders.

Furthermore, he may have something to say about the graft and disregard of law that has grown up in this country as a result of national prohibition enforcement and the alleged failure of the Republican administration to bring about proper enforcement of the dry laws.

Smith Sure of Minnesota.

The governor left Minnesota this morning confident of his ability to carry the State in November. Assurance of support he received from Republican farm leaders and other independent Republicans who are advocating his candidacy, coupled with the confidence expressed by Democratic leaders who conferred with him on his visit, have encouraged him to believe that his trip to Minnesota and the Northwest has not been in vain.

He was especially gratified by his reception in Minneapolis and St Paul yesterday and the tremendous outpouring of citizens last night to hear his speech. It was by far the most enthusiastic audience he has addressed since he left Albany, and must have proved an inspiration to him, for he never has succeeded in getting over his points as effectively as last night.

"I think it was wonderful," said the governor today. "I never saw such a crowd any place. I think it was great. I was tremendously impressed by it and much heartened. I think it was as big a crowd as I ever saw any place outside of Soldiers Field in Chicago, and that was not a political meeting.

John P. Reed, a Republican, former president of the Minnesota Farm Bureau Federation and regarded as the most influential farm leader in Minnesota, was on the speakers' platform and spoke in advance of the governor's arrival. He is making an aggressive campaign for Smith as are many other Republicans who have been associated with him in the farm relief movement. One of them is Frank Murphy, who was a delegate to the Republican National convention in Kansas City last June and made an appeal from the platform for adoption of the farm relief plank submitted by the farm group.

Magnus Johnson for Smith.

Another man who is stumping the State for Smith is former Senator Magnus Johnson, who is credited with a following of no mean proportions. Senator Hendrik Shipstead, running for reelection on the Farmer-Labor ticket, is taking no part in the presidential contest, which is interpreted to mean that he is opposed to Hoover, particularly since his political followers are openly supporting Smith. Republican leaders are charging that there is a deal on between the Shipstead managers and the Democrats whereby the former will support Smith and the latter Shipstead for senator. The withdrawal of George Cashman, who was the Democratic nominee for senator, lends support to this charge.

Republican leaders say in their public statements that Hoover will carry the State by a big majority, but privately they admit that the outcome is in doubt, with every indication that the result will turn on the extent to which the religious issue will cut into the Smith strength. The governor is being fought hard on this issue throughout the State, but his losses on this score are being offset to considerable extent by his gains among the Republican farmers and the wet Republicans in Minneapolis and St. Paul. In both of these cities there are organizations known as the Smith Voters League, composed of Republicans, which are credited with large memberships.

Religious Factor Admitted.

One Republican leader of prominence who refused to be quoted, said that reports of political scouts sent throughout the State from Republican headquarters are so conflicting as to be of little value. One scout is sent into a section where the Swede population predominates and he brings back the report that everything is all right for Hoover. Another scout sent into the same section reports that the Swedes are rampant for Smith. This has happened in a number of instances, he said, so many that he himself is "all up in the air." There is said to be no question that the majority of the Germans, who have been off the Democratic reservation for several years, are back in line for Smith.

In summing up the situation in Minnesota a Republican leader, noted for his political sagacity, said "It all depends on whether a 400-year grudge against the Pope or a 10-year grudge against Hoover will carry the most influence in the voting."

As in Montana and North Dakota, the price of wheat around election time may prove a determining factor in the election in Minnesota. There is much grumbling among the farmers because the price of wheat thus far has been below what they say it costs them to produce it, and many of them are said to be turning to Smith as the Moses to lead them out of the wilderness of agricultural despair.

Putting everything together and making the natural allowances for the claims of the political managers and the leaders of the independent groups that are making new political affiliations this year, it would seem that the State of Minnesota properly belongs in the doubtful column this year, with the odds naturally in favor of the party that can make the strongest appeal to the voters between now and election day.

Power Position Amplified.

Gov. Smith amplified his position on the water-power issue today at considerable length in answering inquiries at his daily press conference.

"Governor," he was asked, "in your Denver water-power speech you spoke about the desirability of Government ownership and control of rates. Will you ever extend that formula to include Government operation, as at Muscle Shoals, in the case of great water-power sites. Is that something you think ought to be operated by the Government?"

"That would all depend on circumstances," the governor replied. "It all depends upon the plant. If the power authority can make it desirable and agreeable and bargain for the operation, provided the Government can control the rates, that is one thing. It may be that at some sites you could not get private operation."

"Somebody must operate the plant. It will not operate itself. In the State of New York we own two electric light plants and we operate them. The juice is delivered to the bus bar at so much per kilowatt hour, or so much per horsepower to the private company that distributes it."

Can Not Lay Down Rule.

"Pursuing that question a little further, has your experience as governor with those electric plants made you believe that government operation is successful?" he was asked.

"It all depends on circumstances and conditions. You can not lay down a hard and fast rule. The only definite principle you can agree to is that the site itself and the machinery for development shall never be in the hands of a private company. That is a definite principle. The machinery for operation depends upon the circumstances."

Replying to a question as to his attitude toward leasing of sites and plants, the governor said: "I do not believe in leasing at all. My speech says that the Government must control the switch."

"How would you operate through a private distributing agency without leasing?"

"By contract," was his reply.

"No 50-year leases?"

"No leases at all. Contracts."

"A contract breakable at the will of the power authority?"

"No," said the governor. "A contract is a contract."

"I do not see the difference between a contract and a lease," the questioner persisted.

Cites Railway Lease.

"In a lease you may not be able to enforce all of its provisions if anything happened so that the company did not feel it was making a fair return," the governor explained. "That is the answer to that. We leased a lot of valuable property for 999 years to the New York Central Railroad in New York on condition that they would carry the people between Forty-second street and Buffalo at 2 cents a mile. Government policy changes and the Federal Government, through the Interstate Commerce Commission, takes control of rates and our leases fall to the ground. If it was a contract, we could enforce it."

"The contract," he continued, "should be between the State or the Federal Government or where the power is the property of more than one State between the States, the Government, and the distributing company."

"Is it correct to say that in a specific instance, all things being equal and there is an issue on a certain plant between Government operation and private ownership operation, that you would be for the Government operation?"

"I believe," the governor replied, "that the Government ought to keep the control of the plant and operate it where it is feasible to do it and deliver energy to the company under a contract that gives the Government something to say about the rates."

Answers an Editor.

The governor commented on an editorial this morning in the St. Paul Pioneer Press, which is supporting Hoover, in which he was taken to task because he did not give the Coolidge administration credit for giving its encouragement to the organization of a corporation to run boats on the Mississippi River in his speech last night.

"The man who wrote that editorial confused the physical development of a water way with the organization of a corporation to run boats. He is just tied up in a knot, that's all," the governor said. "I am talking about developing a waterway. He is talking about incorporating a transportation company to run boats on it. They are not going to dig any trenches or build any docks, or do any developing. That is almost like saying that something was done on the Erie Canal last week because some private individual bought three canal boats to run on it."

Writes Tydings That Emergency Has Made Program Imposible.

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Senator Millard E. Tydings, chairman of the speakers' bureau of the Democratic national committee, today made public a letter from Senator James A. Reed, of Missouri, in which Senator Reed said he would be obliged to limit his services in the campaign to three or four speeches because of a professional emergency which he could not escape.

"As you will recall, the understanding was that I should give to the campaign substantially all of my time until election day," Senator Reed wrote. "Accordingly we outlined a program which would carry me into some ten or twelve States and which was to begin at an early date.

"I am making this statement in order that you may understand the reluctance I feel at being compelled now to say that I must limit my services to probably not exceed three or four speeches. I am under this compulsion because of a professional emergency."

HOUGHTON OPPOSED AS SENATE NOMINEE

G. R. Fearson in Race as G. O. P. Convention Is Opened at Syracuse.

SNELL IN KEYNOTE TALK

Convention Hall, Syracuse, N. Y., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—More than 1,100 representatives of the Republican party of the State of New York attended the opening session of the Republican State convention today, perfected a temporary organization and listened to the keynote speech of Representative Bertrand H. Snell, of Potsdam, the temporary chairman.

Snell's address, with "prosperity" as its leading theme, reviewed the accomplishments of the Republican national administration during the last seven years. He aroused his auditors to great enthusiasm by his reference to the "sane, capable, fearless leadership of Calvin Coolidge." In concluding his address Snell brought the delegates to their feet, cheering and applauding, by his tributes to Coolidge and Herbert Hoover.

The convention transacted such routine business as the appointment of committes on rules, resolutions, credentials and permanent organization and adjourned until tomorrow in the memory of the late chairman of the tate committe, George K. Morris, who died recently.

The brief session interrupted for a time the series of conferences between State and county leaders over the State ticket.

While there was no opposition to the nomination of Attorney General Albert Ottinger for the governorship, the leaders were somewhat worried over the opposition to the nomination of Alanson B. Houghton, Ambassador to Great Britain, for the United States Senate. State Senator George R. Fearon, of Syracuse, who announced his own candidacy for the position on Wednesday night, insisted that he was in the fight to stay and that his candidacy would be carried to the convention floor.

Borah Says Hoover Is Farmer's Friend

Charges Republican Nominee Grossly Libeled by Opponents.

Mitchell, S. Dak., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Senator W. E. Borah, of Idaho, in an address here today defended Herbert Hoover against charges that he is unfriendly to the American farmers. "Never was grosser libel ever circulated in a campaign," Borah declared.

The senator discussed farm relief prohibition, deflation and the Underwood tariff. The Underwood tariff, Borah said, placed the farmer at the mercy of peon labor all over the world.

Prohibition, Borah declared, was being "dragged into the campaign over the heads of the platform makers of both the Democratic and Republican conventions by that corrupt political organization, Tammany Hall." He asserted that the eighteenth amendment must be kept on the statute books and that if it is to be kept there "the women of America must realize the prohibition fight is their fight."

Hoover, Borah said, stands for rigid enforcement of the dry act, but "can any one conceive of the governor and Mr. Raskob getting their heads together, in case the governor is elected, and appointing enforcement officers to enforce the statutes which Raskob has declared a 'damnable outrage?'"

HOOVER IS TO SPEAK IN NEW YORK OCT. 13

Change Made to Obtain Madison Square Garden, Holding 20,000 People.

FORMER HALL TOO SMALL

(Associated Press.)

Herbert Hoover will speak in New New York City, the home town of his Democratic opponent, on October 13 instead of October 17, the change of date being made so that he could obtain Madison Square Garden with its quadruple seating capacity over Carnegie Hall.

The change was made yesterday after Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, chairman of the Eastern campaign advisory committee, had reported that the advance demand for tickets for the New York speech was so great that the Carnegie Hall would not afford sufficient space to accommodate the crowd.

At the Hoover general headquarters it was said that the 5,000 odd seats in Carnegie Hall would have been filled with Hoover workers from the various precincts in Greater New York, and for that reason the decision was made to hold the meeting in the new Madison Square Garden, which has a seating capacity of approximately 20,000 and is one of the largest halls in the country.

The meeting probably will start at 8 o'clock, Eastern Standard time, and will be sponsored by the Union League, the National Republican, the Women's National Republican, the Young Men's Republican and the Republican Business Men's Clubs in conjunction with the New York party State and county committees.

The speech of the Republican presidential candidate will be broadcast over a nation-wide radio hook-up.

While final plans will not be completed until next week, Hoover probably will leave here at midnight on October 12, spending all of the next day in New York. This will give him opportunity to confer with leaders in both the metropolitan district and in some of the New England States.

By moving up the date of this speech the Republican nominee also will avoid a conflict with a speaking date of Gov Alfred E. Smith, who is to deliver an address at Chicago on the night originally chosen by the Hoover managers for the New York meeting.

There was considerable interest in political circles as the result of an announcement during the day that President Coolidge plans to send a message today to the Massachusetts Republican State convention. The Chief Executive was reported as willing to add the influence of a message from him to the party's national and State tickets' cause.

ANOTHER WEEK OF SUPER-FILMS

HOME TOWN BOY MAKES NEW WHAM!

Jolson is back again and the whole town will be turning out to welcome him. His first Vitaphone picture, "The Jazz Singer," broke all records for attendance and enthusiastic comment. Now he brings us "The Singing Fool," a heart story of universal appeal, which has to do with the joys and sufferings of a singing waiter of a Broadway cabaret. The picture opens today at the Metropolitan at regular prices, which means just $1.50 less than New Yorkers are now paying.

Jolson sings new songs, covers new emotional ground, pours out his heart in the exaggerated, jazzy, conquering way that makes his personality altogether irresistible. The story was done by Leslie S. Barrows and picturized by C. Graham Baker. Lloyd Bacon directed. The all-star cast includes Betty Bronson and Josephine Dunn.

"The Singing Fool" of the story becomes infatuated with a beautiful but heartless entertainer at the club in which he is a waiter. Through his help she succeeds, introducing songs he has dedicated to her. They are married and she deserts him, calling him back only when their "little feller" is at the point of death. "The Singing Fool" is a story to laugh and cry over, and to treasure.

VERSATILITY THE AIM OF FILM STARS

William Haines had a new sport to learn for his recent starring picture, "Excess Baggage," now playing at Loew's Palace.

For his previous starring pictures Haines had to develop himself into an all-round athlete. For "West Point" he learned football; for "The Smart Set," polo; for "Spring Fever," golf, &c. But in "Excess Baggage" Haines had to learn two new stunts.

For the opening sequence he had to learn to be a juggler, an art which usually takes at least three years to learn. Haines had to learn in a short time to juggle four balls at a time, throw ten-pins and even to catch balls and hats on a fork in his mouth.

For a later scene in the picture he was forced to learn to walk a tight rope and even to slide down it backward.

The actor perfected his ability in these tricks in less than four weeeks, showing the versatility necessary for screen actors who acquire proficiency for a certain picture, only to drop it and take up something entirely new for the next.

JANNINGS A SUPER-STAR IN NEW HIT

"The Patriot," now playing at Loew's Columbia for the second week, was purchased for the screen by Paramount not only for its interesting possibilities but principally because the leading character offered Emil Jannings, acknowledged the greatest dramatic actor on the screen today, the opportunity to reach the peak of his dramatic ability. Suffice to say, Jannings has made Paul I real, and almost terrible, so realistically does he interpret the role of a mad man.

Paul I was a great man for show. He delighted in flare and color and also prided himself in his ability to be the perfect drill sergeant. He would drill his men until they dropped from exhaustion, and then to show his peculiar twist of mind would order the exhausted ones slain or banished to Siberia for becoming in such a state.

This filmed version of Russian history was directed by Ernst Lubitsch.

New Film Bills

METROPOLITAN.

Heretofore identified with the "Mammy" type of song and the indelible comedy which is strictly Jolsonesque, Al Jolson is said to reveal himself as an actor of considerable emotional depth in his latest sound picture for Warner Brothers, "The Singing Fool," which comes to the Metropolitan Theater for a week, beginning today. This subject is not a completely talking picture, but offers numerous dialogue sequences and much music and sound. "The Singing Fool" is playing the New York Winter Garden at the $2 scale, but will be presented here at the usual house admissions. The star is supported by Davey Lee, Josephine Dunn, Agnes Franey and others.

FOX.

Charles Farrell, of "Seventh Heaven" and "Street Angel" fame, will appear in an entirely different type of characterization at the Fox Theater this week, beginning today, in Fazil," in which the principal feminine role is played by Greta Nisson. The story is that of an Arabian prince who meets his great love in the person of a beautiful Parisienne. The picture will be preceded by another colorful prologue and will be accompanied by a specially assembled and synchronized Fox Movietone accompaniment. The symphony orchestra under the conductorship of Leon Brusiloff will contribute an overture of worth and the Movietone News will complete the entertainment.

PALACE.

Loew's Palace Theater for the week beginning today will present Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's first sound picture "Excess Baggage," in which the stellar role is portrayed by William Haines, who is said to prove himself a competent romantic actor as well as a capable light comedian. The story is one of the vaudeville stage and its people. On the stage, Wesley Eddy will present the Palace Syncopators, Ray Bolger, Helen Kennedy, Andrew and Louise Carr Lucien La Rue and Virginia Roy in "Oh Teacher," a Loew-Publix revue. Auxiliary attractions will include a new release of the Fox Movieton News, the M-G-M News, a surprise organlude and orchestral interludes under Borjes.

EARLE.

Clara Bow, the screen's red-headed hoyden, romps across the silver sheet at the Earle Theater, for the week which began with last night's midnight showing, in "The Fleet's In," a rollicking tale of the devastation caused in the Pacific fleet by the Titian-haired hostess of the "Roseland Dance Hall." James Hall and Jack Okie are foremost in the star's support as two young bluejackets who accept the urgent invitation of the hostesses to step out thereby letting themselves in for a knockdown fight and other consequences of the Bow flair for the unconventional. Mal St. Clair, who made "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes," directed. The bill will also embrace short-reels and orchestra

COLUMBIA.

As was to have been expected of a picture that has been universally proclaimed one of the finest ever made, "The Patriot," with Emil Jannings in the stellar role, will be retained for a second week, beginning today, at Loew's Columbia Theater. In this subject Jannings offers by far the most impressive character portrayal he has ever brought to the screen. He is accorded incomparably fine support by Lewis Stone in the title role, Florence Vidor, Neil Hamilton and many others of note. The story is of Czar Paul I mad ruler of all the Russias. Supplementing the feature are a new M-G-M News and a thematic overture by the Columbia Orchestra under Claude Burrows.

OH, PIFFLE, FUDGE AND LOLLYPOPS!

Sad eyes, with a slight suggestion of mystery, are the greatest assets a girl can have in the motion picture industry, says Howard Hawks, Fox Films director, who made "Fazil," coming to the Fox Theater today.

"When we began searching for a girl to play the leading feminine role opposite Charles Farrell," said Hawks, "I knew that we were going to have trouble.

"I wanted a girl with those mysterious, smouldering eyes, which express so very much, and yet tell so very little. This is power of the deepest, most significant kind, but few women possess it.

"Farrell, cast as a haughty Arabian prince, is capable of great love—but it is not the way of men of his wealth and position to confess their love in so many words. Such things are deeper than words.

"Therefore, I wanted a girl with the eyes of the soul—a girl so vastly different that she could wrench the heart of this haughty lover and make him declare his passion.

"It takes the eyes of a siren to do that, but I did not want a siren. I wanted a woman who could love one man, and be loved by one, but her power had to transcend the audible power of the desert. So much depended upon the eyes—I wanted soul behind those eyes.

"So I decided upon sad eyes, with a slight suggestion of mystery. Miss Nissen is the one woman in the motion picture industry who completely met my conception of the girl I desired for this part. Her eyes, coupled with poise and magnificent acting, make her one of the most magnetic women in the motion picture business."

Horton Signed.

Edward Everett Horton has been added to the roster of featured players now under contract to Warner Bros., according to an announcement last week from J. L. Warner, who is in charge of studio affairs. The contract given him provides for his appearance in Vitaphone productions and will run for a long term.

This clever actor has been exciting much favorable comment for the excellence of his performance as male lead in Warner Bros. second all-taking Vitaphone picture, "The Terror," now doing turnaway business at the Warner Theater on Broadway. Horton's contract with Warner Bros. is a direct result of his work in this production.

WHAT DOES A GOB DO WHEN FREE ASHORE

What do sailors do for amusement when on shore leave?

The answer has to do more with geography than with the personal tastes of Jack Tar. The bigger the city, the wider the field of merriment.

In the case of Washington, the social contacts are enormous, for the Capital hasn't forgotten the war-time camaraderie between soldier and sailor and the private home. Particularly for Navy men stationed here permanently, as at the Navy Yard, the War and Navy Building, the President's yacht, the Mayflower, and on other vessels between here and Norfolk, the sailor's stamping ground is usually confined to the dining room and parlor of a private residence.

"The Fleet's In!" Clara Bow's latest Paramount starring hit, current at the Earle, depicts in a novel manner what a large percentage of "gobs" do the minute they touch shore after a long routine training cruise at sea.

Malcolm St. Clair, the director, spent several days at San Pedro, port of Los Angeles, and at San Francisco studying the ways of sailors of the United States battle fleet, and how they conduct themselves when away from their ships.

For this reason the majority of the scenes in the picture will interest ex-service men beyond their appeal as entertainment, for they will recall memories of those all-too infrequent hours on shore, away from the discipline of naval training.

Miss Bow's role in her new picture is that of a dance hall hostess. It is her duty to encourage the sailors to buy as many dance tickets as possible.

MRS. C. D. SABIN, JR., PLUNGES TO DEATH

Bride Dies in 15-Story Fall From New York Hotel Window.

DIVORCEE IS ALSO KILLED

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28.—Two young women of wealth and social position died in plunges from great heights from New York hotel rooms.

One was Mrs. Charles Dwight Sabin, jr., a bride of two weeks; the other, Mrs. Evelyn Stoddard Reynolds, a divorcee, daughter of Henry L. Stoddard, former editor and publisher.

Mrs. Sabin, who was 25 years old, fell to her death this morning from a fourteenth story window in the Hotel Weylin in East Fifty-fourth street. She formerly was Miss Mary M. Boylan and was married September 12 in the municipal building to a son of the late Charles Dwight Sabin, wealthy member of the New York Produce Exchange and grand-nephew of Samuel J. Tilden.

Immediately after the marriage the couple went to Midleburg, Va., to spend two weeks on the Sabin estate there. They returned to the city yesterday and took a room at the hotel to wait for their apartment to be put in readiness.

Mrs. Sabin spent yesterday afternoon and this morning shipping and returned to her room shortly after noon. Soon thereafter a package was delivered at the hotel for her, and the boy who took it up said he noticed the young woman looked pale. She was seated beside an open window, he said. A few minutes after Mrs. Sabin signed for the package her body struck the pavement in Fifty-fourth street midway between the sidewalks. She died a few minutes later.

The other fatality as a result of a fall from a window was recorded when Mrs. Reynolds, daughter of the former editor of the New York Daily Mail, died of injuries suffered when she plunged, early this morning, from a window on the fifteenth floor of Mayfair House, on Park avenue. Mrs. Reynolds, divorced, had been living with her parents at the Mayfair. The apartment, however, had been closed all summer, while the Stoddards were living at Stamford, Conn. Mrs. Reynolds, police believe, had come into town to open the apartment and get it ready for occupancy.

Dry Squad Shooting Case Inquiry Begun

Victims of Bullets Tell Grand Jury of Volley; Wounded Girl Better.

Lorain, Ohio, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Seven persons, alleged to have been fired upon by a city prohibition squad here Wednesday night, testified before the Lorain County grand jury today at Elyria as city and county officials pressed their investigation of the affair.

The grand jury heard in turn the stories of Richard Heywood, father of Miss Betty Heywood, 22, who was shot in the neck when the officers are alleged to have fired on the car in which she was a passenger; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Edwards, members of the same automobile party, and Stephen Ketling. Ketling told police he ran a gantlet of bullets just ahead of the car in which Miss Heywood and her party were traveling.

Frank Klady, a deputy sheriff, and Walter Knitter and Louis Cicci, Lorain city police, who made up the prohibition squad, also were questioned. They are under bond on charges of shooting with intent to wound.

Miss Heywood was reported recovering in a hospital here. The shooting resulted from efforts of the dry squad to apprehend a car which they had been told would be driven through Lorain Wednesday night loaded with liquor. According to the stories told by Ketling and members of Miss Heywood's party the officers attempted to stop them and when they drove on opened fire.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell was granted a divorce today from James R Cromwell, New York banker, on grounds of mental cruelty. The case was not contested.

She is the daughter of the late Horace Dodge, Detroit automobile millionaire.

SMITH, SAYS WHITE, HAS 'TAMMANY MIND'

Editor, Back From Europe, Denies Accusing Candidate of Dishonesty.

INSISTS HE IS MENACE

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28—William Allen White, the Kansas editor who made his customary presidential campaign rumpus two months ago with an attack on Gov. Smith's voting record in the assembly, came back from Europe today and jumped back into the fight.

On the deck of the President Harding White brushed aside political questions with the explanation that he wished to "do a little thinking before I say anything," and would say something when he got back to Emporia, Kans., whither he starts tomorrow, and knew what it was all about.

But by the time he and Mrs. White reached their rooms at the National Arts Club, Mr. White had been sufficiently affected by the political winds of the city to come out with a bristling statement.

Writes Out an Attack.

In the lobby of the club, adjacent to the site where Samuel J. Tilden fought Tammany tooth and nail, White wrote out an attack forging Gov. Smith's link with Tammany Hall and asserting that "Tammany has never been American" and that "Tammany is the denial of all that is America."

"I have admired Gov. Smith since he entered public life," he wrote. "In all that I have said of him I have carefully guarded him against any charges of personal or political dishonesty, personal or political cowardice, or any lack of wisdom according to his environment and background.

"I never have charged him with anything approaching moral turpitude. I have declared that he has a Tammany mind.

Declares Him Menace.

"That is the reason why, with all his high qualities, he menaces our American institutions in the White House. * * * Tammany is organized graft. Tammany is more than sporadic stealing. It is the combination of political tyranny with such a system of backsheesh as makes the reformation of Tammany impossible.

"Honest men abide in Tammany, of course. But they thrive on silence and not on a militant endeavor to make Tammany an American institution where men rise as independent, conscientious, thinking Americans.

"Tammany * * * has many virtues, but its vices make it a dangerous element in American life. Smith is its best product. But he is still a Tammany man. His record in the assembly was a Tammany record."

Hot-Tar Kidnaping Confessed; Four Held

Kenosha, Wis., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Police announced today that they had arrested the four men who kidnaped and poured hot tar over Harold Hendrickson, Allen-A Co. knitter. One of the men confessed, they said.

The man who confessed, police said, is Elmer F. Hackbart, 23, of Bristol, and he named Earl M. Steele, 21; Oliver Hushold, 21, and Dewit Jones, all of Kenosha, as his accomplices. He was unable to give the name of the fifth member of the kidnaping party.

All of the men arrested were formerly employed by the Allen-A Co., according to police.

Several hundred employes of the Allen-A Co. have not worked for several months following a disagreement over wages and working conditions.

Pastor Acquitted Of Being Immoral

Illinois Preacher, However, Suspended on Charge of Imprudence.

Fairfield, Ill., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Rev. J. S. Cummins, former pastor of the First Methodist Church, of Belleville, Ill., today was acquitted of charges of "immorality," but convicted of "high imprudence and unministerial conduct" in a church trial here in connection with the annual conference of southern Illinois Methodist churches. The Rev. Mr. Cummins was suspended for one year.

The immorality charges involved alleged giving of false testimony, and accusations that he embraced three women members of his congregation in his Belleville church.

Anaheim, Calif., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Rev. Ernest J. Plenderleith, resigned pastor of Calvary Baptist Church, has been unfrocked by the council of Santa Ana Valley churches meeting here.

The accusations against the minister were based on charges of immoral conduct while he was pastor of a Baptist church in Vancouver, B. C.

TUNNEY IS IN FAVOR OF ROME WEDDING

Leaves Any Decision to Change the Plans Up to Miss Lauder.

GIRL TO ARRIVE TUESDAY

Rome, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—After a few hours' experience here today with the formalities necessary for his approaching wedding with Miss "Polly" Lauder, of Greenwich, Conn., Gene Tunney, retired heavyweight champion, decided that, if his fiancee agrees, they will be married in the Eternal City.

Miss Lauder and her parents, together with several friends, are voyaging toward Naples, where they are due Tuesday. Gene said he was not certain just when he would go there to meet them, but he intends to leave Rome within a day or two. It was made plain, however, that the change in the wedding plans will not be made definite until Miss Lauder has had opportunity to decide for or against Rome as opposed to Sorrento, the romantic spot on the Bay of Naples which first was picked for the ceremony.

Tunney was aided in his quest for special writs from government sources by Thomas L. Daniels, second secretary of the American Embassy. His assistance with the church authorities probably will come through the Very Rev. Mgr. Joseph A. Breslin, who was Tunney's parish priest in New York and now is vice rector of the American College in Rome. Mgr. Breslin visited Tunney at the latter's hotel and the two had a long talk.

Henry P. Fletcher, American Ambassador, placed his staff at the disposal of Tunney when the two met today.

Gene was much amused later by one question asked him by the Italian authorities who wished to know if he was "free to marry."

In a press conference at his hotel the retired champion told Italian newspaperman that he wished no publicity. The reporters' bosses took him at his word. None of the seven newspapers which appeared up to 5 p. m. published a line about him.

In official circles it was rumored arrangements probably would be made for Tunney to have an audience with the Pope and that he probably would be received by Premier Mussolini.

WORK HOLDS SMITH FAILS IN LEADERSHIP

Asserts Governor Should Proclaim His Stand Upon Equalization Fee.

DEMOCRATIC RECORD HIT

(Associated Press.)

Chairman Work, of the Republican national committee, issued a statement yesterday declaring Gov. Smith had not yet said whether he was for or against the equalization fee in the McNary-Haugen bill.

"Gov. Smith spoke last night on leadership," Dr. Work said. "One of the qualities of real leadership is to stand for something and proclaim it. The point of dispute in the McNar-Haugen bill is the equalization fee. Is Gov. Smith for it or against it? He has not said. He declares he will refer the matter to a committee. It does not take leadership to refer a matter to a committee.

"In one breath Gov. Smith praises the achievements of the last Democratic national administration. In the next he denounces the Republican party for the desperate plight into which agriculture was sunk under that administration. The collapse in American agriculture came in 1920 under the Democratic administration. The bottom dropped out of farm prices and credit between July, 1920 and March, 1921 That is the record, and Gov. Smith appeals to the record.

Waterway Stand "Uncertain."

"The worst than can be said of the Republican administration on agriculture is that in seven years it has failed fully to remedy the desperate agricultural conditions it inherited. But the governor should remember that it is easier to bankrupt an industry than rehabilitate it once it has been bankrupted.

"A similar failure to display real leadership is found in Gov. Smith's reference to the St. Lawrence waterway. He does not say whether he is for it or against it. Not long ago he declared for the alternative New York route. Last night he said he will leave the matter to the engineers and to Congress. This is not leadership. This is one way of encouraging the West without alienating support in the East. The public expects Gov. Smith to show leadership in such matters as well as talk about it."

Chicago, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Walter H. Newton, Minnesota representative, and head of the speakers' bureau at Western headquarters of the Republican national committee, commented today in a prepared statement on the speech of Gov. Alfred E. Smith at St. Paul.

"Gov. Smith's stand on immigration has been vague and equivocal throughout this campaign, and his remarks last night threw no further light on his stand," Representative Newton said.

Calls Smith Discriminatory.

"Speaking in Minnesota, Gov. Smith naturally professed a great love of the Scandinavian and the German immigrant. The fact is, from all the statements of his I can obtain, his stand on immigration is a direct discrimination against the Scandinavian and the German immigrants.

"I quote from his speech of acceptance: 'I am opposed to the principle of restriction (of immigration) based upon the figures of immigrant population contained in a census 38 years old. I believe this is designed to discriminate against certain nationalites and is an unwise policy.'

"By that I gather that he would eliminate the 1890 census. At no time has he stated what census he would base the restriction upon. The peer of Scandinavian and German immigration is not passed after 1890. If we were to choose any other basis than the 1890 quota we must diminish the immigration quota for Scandinavian countries and Germany.

"It should be remembered that Herbert Hoover is definitely in favor of the 1890 basis."

WOMEN MAY DECIDE VOTE, SAYS PEERESS

Might Break Solid South for First Time, Asserts Lady Astor.

FOR RELIGION IN POLITICS

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Lady Astor, of the British Parliament, today came back for a visit to her native land, expressed the opinion that the advance by women in politics might break the Solid South in the presidential election for the first time.

"I wouldn't be a bit surprised if the women's vote split the Solid South," she said as she arrived with her daughter, Phyllis, on the Aquitania. "I should say the present election in America is going to be influenced strongly by what the women think.

"As for myself," she said, "I do not believe in standpatism in politics. I have never accepted the tenet, 'My country right or wrong; my party right or wrong.' I always reserve the right to change. The world needs independent voters."

As to politics and religion, Lady Astor said:

"I believe in putting religion into politics but not politics into religion."

Asked if the married women of England would vote as their husbands voted, Lady Astor, who was Nancy Langhorne, of Virginia, before she was married to Viscount Astor in 1906, answered:

"Women do not vote as do their husbands. That is one of the delusions men have got and which they must get over. I can say, however, that many men vote as do their wives."

NO, THANK YOU!

The British and French governments have received a rebuff from the United States which exposes the hypocrisy of those governments in pretending to seek limitation of naval armaments while actually trying to exempt themselves from limitation. The American note delivered to the British and French governments yesterday discloses the true character of the Anglo-French agreement. It is an agreement which seeks to bring about a limitation upon construction of vessels needed by the United States, and to exempt from limitation the construction of vessels desired by Britain and France.

On the basis of this cynically selfish agreement the British and French governments proposed that the preparatory commission for the disarmament conference should prepare its program. The United States refuses to accept the agreement as the basis of discussion.

Any intimation that this refusal constitutes opposition to equitable naval limitation is refuted by the statement that the United States still hopes for proportional naval limitation and is willing to seek for a basis of limitation acceptable to all powers. The note goes even further, by expressing the willingness of the United States to take into consideration the special needs of France, Italy, or any other power for particular classes of vessels. So long as maximum tonnages are agreed upon, the United States would agree that any power should have the right to vary the percentage of tonnage of any particular class of vessels. If France or Italy, for example, should need more submarine than cruiser tonnage, it would be free to build more submarines and fewer cruisers, up to the maximum total tonnage allotted to it.

In restating the proposal made by the United States at the three-power conference at Geneva, Secretary Kellogg sums up the objects of naval limitation and the absolutely fair position of the United States:

> The purpose of these proposals was that there might be no competition between the three powers in the building of naval armament; that their respective navies should be maintained at the lowest level compatible with national security and should not be of the size and character to warrant the suspicion of aggressive intent, and finally, that a wise economy dictates that further naval construction be kept at a minimum.

Whenever the great naval powers concerned really wish to reach an agreement for honest and equitable limitation of navies, the United States will make the agreement with them. At present there is no such desire on the part of two of the great powers—Great Britain and France. Their only desire, as expressed in their agreement, is to tie the hands of the United States while inducing the United States to leave their hands untied.

It was unfortunate for the cause of confidence and good will that Sir Austen Chamberlain and M. Briand and their advisers became enamored of the scheme to hoodwink and overreach the United States. But even the impaired confidence of Americans in the good faith of the British and French governments does not destroy the willingness of the United States to agree to honest naval limitation.

It is the plain duty of Congress to provide the cruisers needed by the United States for its own protection. Those cruisers would be needed, whether further limitation should be agreed to or not, and they would not come within the scope of any limitation, as their total tonnage is less than the tonnage of similar cruisers already built and building by both Great Britain and Japan. The United States is inferior to both of those powers in cruiser strength. No doubt if it should approach a point of superiority to them in cruiser strength they would be willing to agree to limitation, as they were in the matter of battleships when the United States was drawing ahead of them.

The one sure rule of action that is taught by America's experience in trying to promote naval limitation is this: Build up your navy to a point where it is about to become stronger than others; then the great powers will cry quits.

THE DOORS ARE CLOSED.

Gov. Smith has done well to clarify his position in regard to immigration. His statement at St. Paul was an out-and-out pledge to stand by the restriction policy. Thus there is no clash between himself and Mr. Hoover on that question, and it is removed from the arena of dispute.

Restriction of immigration is not only an economic necessity if the workers of the United States are to continue to receive high wages and live in comfort, but it is a social necessity. Crime is the business of certain kinds of aliens. It is impossible to believe that the gangs guilty of diabolical kidnaping conspiracies are Americans.

Some of the bandits bearing foreign names are found to be American citizens, but they have never absorbed American ideas or abandoned the foreign method of crime. The United States can not hope to put a stop to crime if the doors are opened to foreign criminals.

Organized labor stands opposed to unlimited immigration. Organized society stands opposed to it. Both political parties are opposed to it. Restriction of immigration is the fixed policy of the United States, adopted as a means of self-defense. The people will not suffer this policy to be changed.

CONSENT DECREES.

Originated as a device by which concerns prosecuted by the Government might avoid the full consequences of a jury decision against them, the consent decree has now been made a subject of attack. In the action against five packing concerns under the warrant of the Sherman antitrust law, a consent decree on the petition of the latter was granted, by which they agreed to desist from certain practices in combination. The packers, restrained by the decree from carrying on unrelated industries and compelled to confine themselves to their ostensible business, have operated under the force of that decree ever since.

The California Cooperative Canners, alleging that they had pending contracts with one of the five packing concerns and that these contracts called for satisfaction within the terms of the decree, began an action which, if successful, might invalidate the effect of the decree altogether. That action, begun in the District Supreme Court, by petition, which met denial, was carried to the Court of Appeals, which set aside the judgment of the Supreme Court. It is upon this decision that the Government is now invoking the Supreme Court of the United States to pass upon the matter of the intervention of a third party in a consent decision already rendered and in effect.

The Government sets forth that these consent decrees have been effective means for enforcement of the antitrust laws, and that it is desirable to have a quick decision on the question of attempts to prevent their enforcement by the intervention of third parties. The opinion, when rendered, is expected to have an important bearing upon the future methods of bringing about obedience to the Sherman act.

COMMANDER BYRD NEEDS HELP.

Never has an exploratory expedition been as completely, or as expensively, equipped as that of Commander Byrd. Originally it was believed that his party could be provided with the best scientific and other apparatus at a cost of about $500,000. This figure, of course, did not represent the total cost of the expedition, for much of the equipment was donated. Reconditioning of the ships, the City of New York and the Eleanor Bolling, proved to be more costly than was anticipated and it has been apparent for some time that the Byrd expedition would face a deficit. It has now been figured that the expedition will cost in the neighborhood of $750,000 and it appears likely that the deficit will amount to approximately $150,000.

Commander Byrd will sail soon from San Pedro, Calif., for New Zealand. He sails, it is said, worn out by his strenuous efforts during recent weeks to raise funds. The expedition itself is not in danger from lack of ready cash, for funds have been set aside with which to buy necessary last-minute supplies in Dunedin, the last port of call. Nevertheless, Commander Byrd needs financial help.

Americans should come to his rescue forthwith. The Byrd expedition is of importance to the United States and the entire world. No one can tell what may be discovered in Antarctica or what subsequently may be reclaimed from these wastes. A brave American is leading a little band of adventurous spirits, experts each in his specialized field, all of them risking their lives so that the world may profit by their explorations. The American flag goes to the front in this battle with nature. Americans should put this expedition beyond the need of funds by sending individual contributions to Commander Byrd before he sails.

CHINA AND JAPAN.

Japan and China are finding difficulty in reaching an agreement that will accommodate their desires. China gives Japan a good excuse for assuming a stubborn attitude by attempting to terminate a commercial treaty without the consent of the other contracting party. Japan thereby makes the point that other treaties, of greater consequence, might meet the same fate, if the right of China to abrogate this treaty is conceded. The suggestion is advanced that China is taking a leaf from the book of Russian communism in thus repudiating agreements entered into by a former regime.

On the other side of the argument is China's determination to assert sovereignty over Manchuria, Japan's interest to the contrary notwithstanding. China has repeatedly asked for revision of the treaties. The United States responded to the plea and canceled the old tariff treaty in making a new one. The act constituted recognition of the Nationalist government. Thus China is encouraged to make a similar demand upon Japan, and Japan is placed in a difficult position when it refuses to revise its treaty with China.

Everything depends upon the stability of the new Chinese regime. If it remains strong and is supported by the people it will win in its contention with Japan, for Japan can not afford to press the controversy to the bitter end. Japan's trade with China is as valuable as the empire's Manchurian interests. Contrary to the general belief, Japan is more dependent upon peace with China than China is dependent upon Japan. A rupture would work havoc with Japanese industry, which is struggling to recover from the frightful demoralization of the earthquake, when one-seventh of the empire's wealth was destroyed. Japanese statesmen will not make the fatal mistake of entering into war with China. If Chinese statesmen are equally wise they will avoid a clash with Japan, by making reasonable concessions and by recognizing Japan's legitimate interests in Manchuria, while insisting that Chinese sovereignty over the province shall be unconditionally recognized.

CHAIN STORE INQUIRY.

Many persons mistake the objective of the Federal Trade Commission in instituting an inquiry into chain stores. The commission has nothing to do with the economic theory underlying the system, or with its bearings upon the interests of the individual merchant. The public convenience is promoted in large measure by the chain system, and the individual merchant has both grievances and gains to be ascribed to the system as its direct or indirect effects.

If any consolidations or combinations are found to be repugnant to the Federal Trade Commission act, then the system will be dealt with as in the case of other traders, individual or combined. The commission is not a punitive body. Its procedure has in general been to warn the merchant or corporation that has been found trading unfairly, and the mere warning has usually sufficed. There has been found little need to prosecute any merchant or corporation for engaging in unfair practices.

Investigation of the chain stores is provided for in the preliminary work thus far done by the commission. The task constitutes one of the most novel and important pieces of investigation that has come within the functions of the commission thus far. Only in case the method of merchandizing is found to be at variance with legitimate trading will the commission propose legislation. It is believed that if legislation shall be proposed it will be in the direction of guiding one of the most important trends in modern economic life rather than for dealing with the system in a punitive spirit. Rightful trade, and the chain system per se appears to be of this character, can not be legislated out of existence. The chain store is facing a stage of development rather than an indictment.

QUININE IN ART.

A novel use for quinine, that has nothing to do with its pharmaceutical value, has been found in its service to paintings. Protection for fading pictures has been one of the principal concerns of artists, as the aging of old masters leads to attempts to duplicate works of indubitable authenticity by those of subtle fraud. Light analyses of the colors of paintings in the galleries of Europe are employed, to distinguish the true from the false. But ultra violet rays hasten the fading of pictures. Even more than oil paint, water colors and the colors in textiles are apt to fade out.

Glass, opaque to the destructive rays, has been employed in some galleries, but it has its disadvantages. So the quinine idea has been received with wide interest and expectation. Strangely enough, the virtue of quinine as a preservative for paintings came from the experience of tourists in the Alps, who have been in the habit of using for their faces a cream that had quinine content, to protect them from sun glare.

If the quinine treatment shall be found to meet hopes that have been centered about it, artists will hail with delight such a simple method of perpetuating the freshness of paintings.

THE FOOTBALL SEASON.

Football gets under way today. For weeks campuses of colleges and universities throughout the country have been resounding to the whack of leather upon pigskin, and husky athletes have been rounding hardened bodies into shape for the campaign. A good football year is in prospect. Teams, with few exceptions, will be chosen from a wealth of promising material; schedules are much to the public liking; the rules, for the first time in years, have not been tampered with. The thrilling finish of the baseball season for the moment occupies public attention, but football is under way and the public is ready to turn to it for week-end diversion.

Word that the Army-Navy football break may be patched up is most welcome at this time. The Naval Academy still feels that its position regarding the three-year playing rule is fundamentally sound, but it has come to realize that the Military Academy has no intention of backing down. Possibly relations may be restored this autumn, despite the fact that both schools have arranged difficult schedules. Certainly next year will bring an Army-Navy game, it is said, as the thrilling climax to the season.

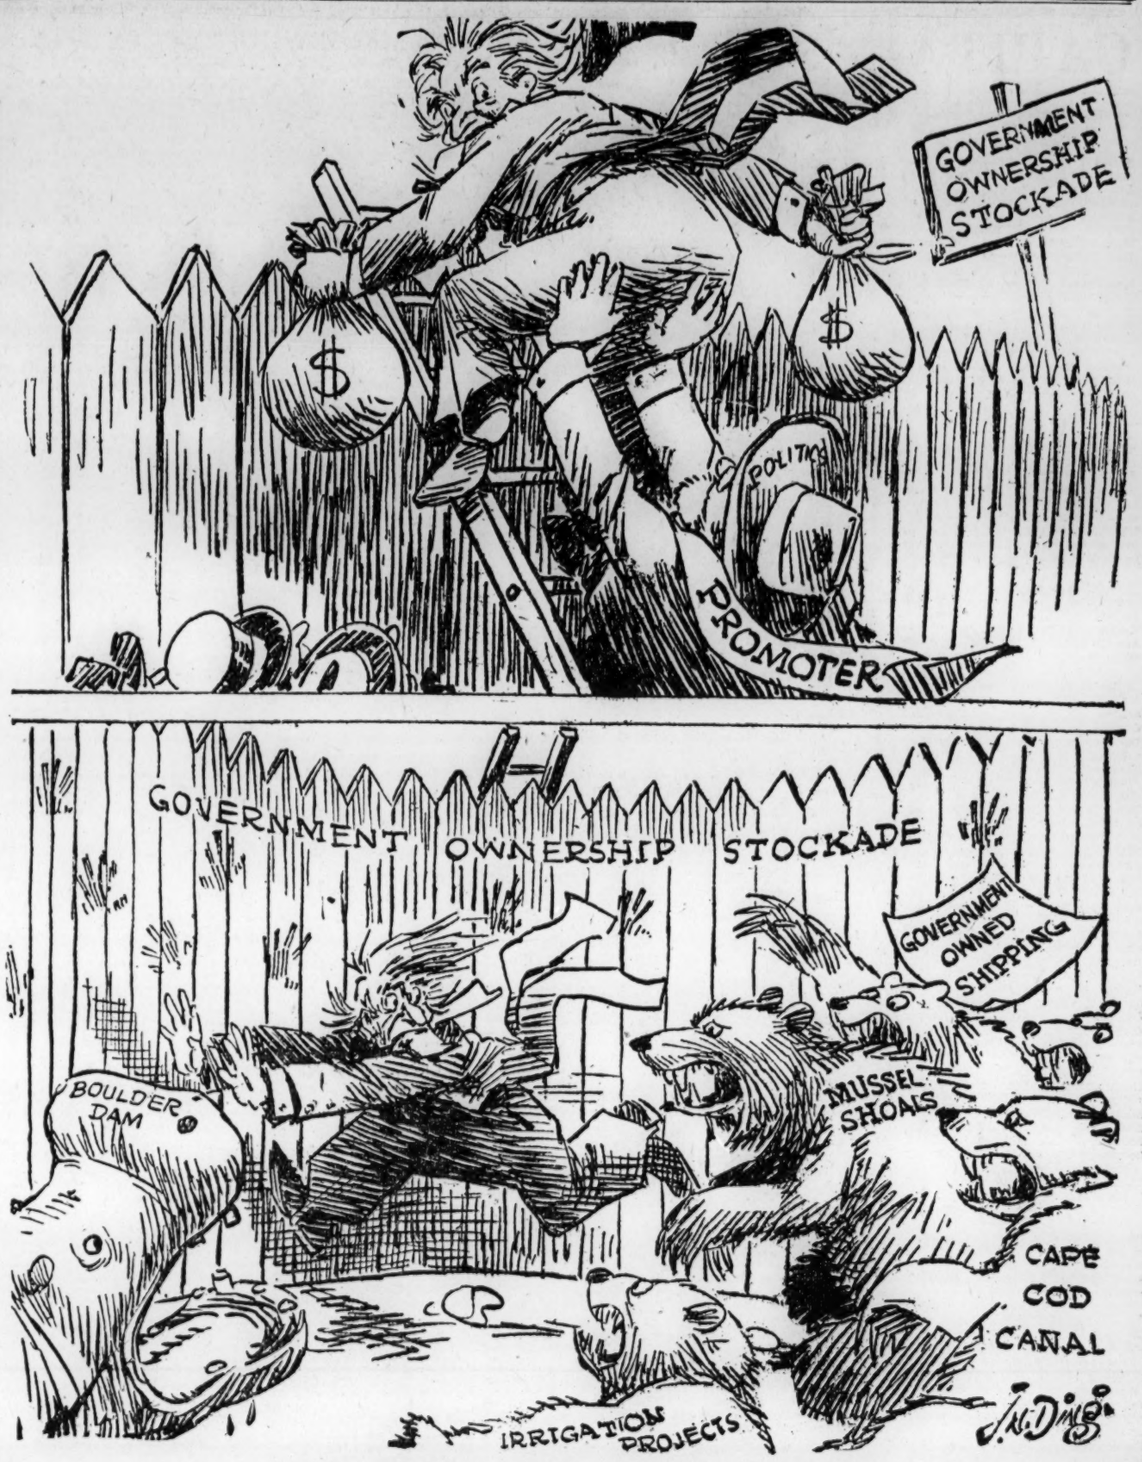

Without the service contest the season of 1928 will not seem complete. Nevertheless the public awaits the referee's whistle as he sends a hundred or more teams charging into each other this afternoon. Two months of battle stretches ahead. Today all teams stand equal, but by the first of December new champions will have been crowned.

A prize fighter shouldn't travel incog. There's always the danger that somebody will beat him up before discovering who he is.

Why operate on the brain to restore sanity? You can get the same result by persuading some jury to say "not guilty."

Some people are buying coal by the ton when they haven't a single tire that will last through the winter.

A free country is one that passes laws to please its conscience and then breaks them to please its appetite.

It's Lots Easier to Get in Than It Is to Get Out. —Houston Post-Dispatch (Dem.)

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Freedom to Choose.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Says Robert Quillen in your issue of September 27: "The freedom men desire is merely the right to choose their boss." That is just what is needed in the Government service to eliminate friction and trouble; that is exactly what all intelligent and fair-minded Government clerks are asking for, and pray, why not? PHILIP EBERT.

Smith's Vote for Governor.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Emphasis is placed on the election of A. E. Smith to the governorship of New York. Four times was he placed in office in the Empire State.

These figures are suggestive:

In 1918, when he was elected governor, he carried only 9 of the 63 counties in the State. Five of these are in New York City proper; thus Al carried but 4 counties outside of New York City.

In 1922 Smith carried 17 counties, 12 outside of the city.

In 1924 he carried 6 counties, only 1 outside of the metropolis.

In 1926 he carried 9 of the 63 counties, 4 outside of the city of New York.

Charles E. Hughes in 1916 carried 52 of the 63 counties.

Smith is not of the State; he is of New York City, which is soakingly, shockingly "wet."

Shall "wet" New York City conquer for Al in November? The election will tell. JOHN N. QUINN.

The Bootleg Vote.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: In reference to a letter in this morning's Post inquiring about the political views of bootleggers, I had a conversation with one this morning. He said he admired Gov. Smith, but he would not like to see him elected, as it would put him out of business.

He informed me there is a plentiful supply of liquor in Washington and, judging by the number of police who are brought before the trial board for being under the influence of liquor, I was inclined to believe him.

Being a firm believer in temperance, I would like to see some of our high lights try to clean up here instead of talking about conditions in New York, the den of iniquity. They overlook Chicago and Philadelphia, but, being a moral issue, they will wait until after election before they try to enforce the law in those cities. JOSEPH M. OWENS.

Loeb-Leopold Favoritism.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The country has a fair exhibition of the way sentences of courts are carried out in Illinois. Two irreclaimable scamps, Leopold and Loeb, committed one of the most atrocious crimes known in criminal history. They should have been hanged, but an astute lawyer and a complacent court saved them from that well-earned penalty and they were sentenced to imprisonment for life. That was not all the sentence. It read "with hard labor." I notice one of them is doing duty as private secretary to the warden and the other serving in the same capacity to the chaplain. No hard labor about that, especially the one serving the chaplain. Were they boys of poor parents they would have been put at some hard labor instead of occupying such easy berths. The judge who pronounced the sentence should haul that warden over the coals, and hot coals at that. SUBSCRIBER.

Is Maryland Responsible?

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The story told by those two attorneys about Curtis is of such a character as to deserve the contempt of every one. Curtis denies the story—and I believe him.

Of the United States senator who broadcast that story, and also the acknowledged lie about Hoover, Maryland should be ashamed—and doubtless is. N. EGBERT.

Mount Rainier, Md., Sept 26

Best Traffic Lights of All.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The new traffic lights recently installed at the intersection of Florida avenue and Connecticut avenue are the best to be found in the city, because they eliminate any possible danger of an accident that could be caused by a motorist attempting to cross on the yellow light. Along Sixteenth street one often witnesses narrow escapes from accidents when drivers attempt to speed across on the yellow light. The new lights at the intersection of the two avenues mentioned above are so arranged that the green and amber lights both flash at the same time, which is an indication that it is safe to cross the intersection. In a similar manner, the red and amber appear, and this informs any motorist that the amber light does not give him the right of way to make the crossing, but he must wait until the green and amber appear before attempting to cross. The amber lights appear with the red and green lights only for a certain number of seconds, and then the two colors, red and green, remain until a change in the lights, when the amber appears again for the same number of seconds, and so on.

This system should be adopted in all new installations of traffic lights throughout the city, as it is by far the safest system yet employed. It makes it clear without any doubt to all drivers whether they have the right of way on the amber light or not, and thus eliminates any possibility of an accident over such a misunderstanding. All streets controlled by traffic lights should adopt this system and thus make motoring safer throughout the city. A. W. K.

The Day of Big Things.

There Would Be No More Romance If Woman Had a Biceps Like a Man's

By ROBERT QUILLEN

THE manners of men have changed. The youth enamored of a fair maiden no longer approaches in fear and trembling to ask for the privilege of making a call. He "dates her up," and if the keeping of the date threatens to interfere with some entertainment more to his liking, he breaks the engagement more lightly than ever woman did. What is more, and worse, he can make any flippant apology and "date her up" again tomorrow.

The gentler sex no longer is on a pedestal. It no longer is wooed in humility and reverence. It is treated with cynical contempt—and it continues to make matters worse by its obvious eagerness to please and placate the lordly males who affect such sublime indifference.

What caused the change? What cheapened the woman and took away her veil of mystery and cooled the ardor of men?

Styles? Perhaps. Charms half-concealed or merely suggested are far more alluring than charms brazenly exposed. When imagination is trusted to fill in the gaps, it always pictures perfection. If there is nothing to awaken imagination, there is no romance.

But the chief cause of the tragedy is economic. The one who gives feels superior to the one who takes, and the one who lives on another's bounty lifts adoring eyes that give payment in flattery.

While man alone had spending money and every woman was a clinging vine who had either to cling or go hungry, the strutting male was aware of his vast superiority but he worshiped the helpless creature who leaned upon him.

Her helplessness and her need of his rough strength were proof of purity, sweetness, gentleness and holiness. He adored her because her need flattered him.

Modern woman has spending money. She doesn't cling. It isn't necessary. She isn't an angel, but a competitor. Paying the bill doesn't tickle a man's vanity if he knows the woman is earning more money than he is. There's no fun for him in "protecting" a girl who can outrun, outswim and perhaps outshoot him. You may feel tender affection for a dove, but you merely respect an eagle.

Woman is off her pedestal because she no longer is helpless enough to tickle man's vanity. She yearned to become an equal and became a mere equal. She is one of the boys.

The wedding of Miss Jacqueline Chamblin Edes to Mr. Albin Francisco Knight, of Rockville, took place Thursday night at the Church of the Transfiguration, the Rev. George F. Dudley officiating. Miss Edes entered the church on the arm of her father, Mr. James Harrison Edes, who gave her in marriage. Her wedding gown was of ivory satin combined with tulle and lace, the tulle veil held in place by bands of orange blossoms. The bridal bouquet was of white roses showered with lilies of the valley.

Miss Juliet Edes was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of pastel blue satin trimmed with orchid velvet, the skirt finished in blue satin ruffles edged in silver to match the silver slippers. Her arm bouquet was of flesh-colored roses and a tulle veil, the same color as her frock, and fell to the bottom of the skirt.

Mrs. James Keenan, of Detroit, aunt of the bride, acted as matron of honor, and her gown, veil and bouquet were in orchid colors. The bridesmaids, all members of the bride's sorority, were Miss Janet Esch, Miss Anne Godden, Miss Dorothy Lewis and Miss Anne Knight, a sister of the bridegroom. They were gowned in dresses modeled exactly alike but different in color—pink orchid, green and yellow satins. Basque waists and bouffant skirts were half hidden in tulle veils that fell from bands of silver, and the bouquets were of pink roses.

Frank Cox, John Willson, Dale Beard and Carlton Knight, brother of the bridegroom, were ushers. Mr. Merrill Knight, assistant city manager of Lynchburg, came on from that Virginia city to act as his brother's best man.

After a small reception at the bride's home, Mr. and Mrs. Knight departed for the North. Her going-away costume was of gray kasha, trimmed with green bands of the same material, and with a small hat to match.

CHURCH URGES ALL TO VOTE DOWN WETS

Methodist Resolution Says That Dry President Must Be Elected.

NO CANDIDATE IS NAMED

Special to The Washington Post.

Staunton, Va., Sept. 28.—Calling upon its constituency and the Christian citizenship of this Nation to oppose at the polls candidates for public office who favor a let-down in prohibition enforcement or modification of the Volstead act, the Baltimore Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church South, here today in its one hundred and forty-fourth annual session, adopted a sweeping temperance resolution, but did not mention any political party or candidate.

"From constable to governer, in the States, and from revenue agent to President in the Nation, officials must be elected who believe in enforcement, not only because prohibition is the law, but because it ought to be the law," was the attitude of the conference in adopting the report of its committee on temperance and social service.

In approving the report the conference reiterated that it is in accord with the statements in episcopal addresses made in 1922, 1926 and 1928. One of these declares that, "The vital issue before the people today is whether they will stand by those members of Congress who have voted to maintain the prohibition amendment and whether the people will vote to defeat candidates who will attempt to repeal or weaken the Volstead act." The resolution was read to the conference by the Rev. J. J. Rives, of Harrisonburg, and bore the signatures of the committee members. The Rev. R. C. Meeks, of Central Church, Baltimore, is president of the committee, and the Rev. W. W. McIntyre, of Poolsville, Md., is secretary.

Text of Resolution.

The text of the resolution follows:

"In compliance with the resolution passed by the conference on Wednesday of this week calling upon the Board of Temperance and Social Service to present to the conference a clear-cut declaration of our historical position on temperance and other social problems, in order that no doubt may be raised as to our stand on these matters, we, the Board of Temperance and Social Service, present the following report:

"Whereas, it is appropriate that we renew a statement of the attitude of this conference respecting the subject of temperance and that we should express our loyalty to prohibition and the attitude of our church, which heretofore was expressed in the Episcopal address at Hot Springs in 1922 in the following words:

"'It is the cause of deep gratitude that the greatest of all nations has led the way in this mighty and matchless reform. It is incumbent therefore upon every good citizen to work for the placing in power of men who are sincere friends of the law and to assist in every proper way the enforcement of the law.

"'The vital issue before the people today is whether they will stand by those members of Congress who have voted to maintain the prohibition amendment and whether the people will vote to defeat candidates who will attempt to repeal or weaken the Volstead act. The only certain place to meet that issue is the primary and in the general election.'

"The crisis should be promptly and vigorously met by the Christian citizenship of this Nation and whereas, the attitude of our church was further expressed in the Episcopal address of May, 1928, in the following words:

Wants Dry President.

"'The industrial social, educational, moral and religious futures of the Nation led by its Christian citizenry overthrew the legalized liquor traffic and secured national prohibition. The same great forces must unite in the fight with equal vigor and persistence to outlaw the criminal traffic and the would-be nullifiers of the law.'

"And whereas the general conference in May, 1926, in the report on temperance declared the attitude of our church in the following words:

"'In our States from constable to governor and in the Nation from revenue agent to President, officials must be elected who believe in enforcement, not only because prohibition is the law, but because it ought to be the law. To the attainment of these ends we will call upon our teachers and preachers to give voice to the social creed of the church, and upon all people to assert their full influence as citizens and as patriotic citizens of our Republic.'

"Now, therefore, this conference desires to reaffirm and to emphasize and indorse the action taken by the general conference and the sentiment as expressed above in the Episcopal address on the great moral issue of prohibition and as to the duty of our people in connection therewith."

The conference will meet next year in Cumberland, Md., the invitation from the Central Church there being accepted today. It has been 22 years since it met there.

Trustees of the conference's home for the aged and orphans at Gaithersburg, Md., today asked Bishop Denny to appoint the Rev. Herman M. Wilson superintendent of the institution to succeed the Rev. J. G. Ringer, who, after serving five years, has asked to be given active ministry. Mr. Wilson has been financial secretary of the home pressing fear over his safety. He asked for assistance in finding him.

CARNES IS ARRESTED BY CANADA POLICE

The first indication that anything was amiss in his accounts, came several days later when auditors had started checking his books and it was announced the shortage, would approximate $1,000,000.

Two indictments charging embezzlement, one charging misappropriation of $69,000 and the other $88,000, have been returned against Carnes by the Fulton County grand jury, and Solicitor General John A. Boykin has announced that other true bills will be sought just as rapidly as auditors working on the books can complete their work.

During the first few days after the announcement that Carnes was missing, a Nation-wide search was launched for him, relatives and friends clinging to the theory that he had either fallen ill or had met with foul play as it was known that he carried considerable money.

While the search was in progress, records of the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary were revealed showing that a C. S. Carnes had served a sentence of thirteen months for misuse of the mails. He entered the institution on March 8, 1916, after being sentenced at Birmingham, Ala. Another record of C. S. Carnes having served a prison term was unearthed at Clinton, Mo., where he had served a five months' sentence.

Bertillon experts who checked Carnes' measurements against those at the penitentiary here said they were identical.

Carnes had served the home mission board for nearly ten years, his work while employed by Joel Hunter & Co. as an accountant working on the mission board books attracted attention of the board officials, and he was offered a position.

Accepting, Carnes expanded his business interests and accumulated considerable property here and became active in religious, civic and social life in the city.

During the investigation of his private affairs after the shortage, his activities in financing the moving picture aspirations of two young women became known. The young women, Miss Lois Griffin, of Hapeville, Ga., and Miss Sonja Norida, a Norwegian beauty, had made contracts with Carnes through Mrs. Louise Pope, a former Atlanta business woman, whereby he would finance them for a percentage of their earnings after they had attained success. His private papers showed advances of $5,138.62 to Miss Griffin, $3,721.61 to Miss Norida and $4,304.67 to Mrs. Pope, business manager for Miss Norida.

The revelation of Carnes' financing the two young women in their efforts for movie careers was made by Thomas Howell Scott, an attorney, appointed receiver for Carnes' assets.

Carnes, who has two sons, Stuart and Robert, records showed, had been divorced by his wife in 1914 on grounds of extreme cruelty at Cartersville, Ga. They were remarried in 1918.

Clemenceau, 87, Avoids Newspaper Interview

Paris, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Former Premier Clemenceau celebrated his eighty-seventh birthday today in earnest and successful efforts to avoid interviewers. "Journalists now give their opinions to the public rather than asking the public for theirs," he said. "I belong to the great public." And then, turning to the persistent newspaper man, he added, "Once I knew how to talk; now I have learned silence. Let me interpret my own silence."

Clemenceau appeared in splendid health and spirits. "The president will live a hundred years," said his faithful old woman servant to the reporters soothingly as they left, disappointed at their failure to get the Tiger to talk.

MacDonald Assembling Plane for Ocean Flight

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The airplane brought here from England this week by Commander H O. MacDonald, British naval officer, with the intention of flying it back to the British Isles, was being assembled at the airport today. It was believed this work would be completed by noon tomorrow.

MacDonald said he would take off for Ireland as soon as the weather was favorable. He will have no companion on the flight.

15,000 WILL ATTEND ST. ANDREW'S RITES

Greatest Outpouring of City's Church History Expected on October 7.

PLANS ARE ANNOUNCED

A congregation numbering 15,000 persons or more is expected to attend the open air mass meeting of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew to be held in the amphitheater of Washington Cathedral Close, on the afternoon of October 7. This mass meeting is the outstanding religious service of the forty-second national convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew meeting at the Hotel Mayflower, October 5 to 9, just before the general convention of the Episcopal Church convenes.

The Right Rev. James E. Freeman, Bishop of Washington, will preside at the mass meeting, and the speakers will be former Senator George Wharton Pepper, of St. Mark's Parish, Philadelphia, and Dr. Rudolph Bolling Teusler, director of St. Luke's International Hospital, Tokyo, Japan. The subject of the mass meeting will be "A Call to Witness." More than 1,000 men and boys from the parishes of this diocese will be present as officially registered representatives from their churches to the brotherhood convention, and a number of the Sunday schools of the diocese will be present en masse. There will be troops of Boy and Girl Scouts which are connected with local Episcopal churches and a general attendance not only of the men and boys of the city, but of women and girls.

Seats to Be Provided.

Seats will be provided in the amphitheater for 15,000 persons and many thousands more can stand within range of sight and sound of the service on the hillsides surrounding the amphitheater.

Through the means of amplifiers it will be borne to the outer edges of the great congregation and it will also be broadcast to unseen thousands more over WRC.

Special street car and other transportation arrangements are being made for the accommodation of the expected throngs. Many of the bishops and delegates, clerical and lay, to the general convention will be in town next Sunday and will attend this service.

Efforts are being made by H. Lawrence Choate, general chairman of the Washington committee for the brotherhood convention, to have an attendance of 1,000 men and boys at the sessions of this convention from the diocese of Washington. Six hundred and sixty-six have already been enrolled for this purpose and it is hoped that the entire 1,000 or more will be registered by the middle of next week

The Right Rev. Henry St. George Tucker, Bishop of Virginia, recently issued the following call to the clergy and laity of his diocese:

Bishop Tucker's Call.

"The annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew is the outstanding opportunity offered by our church to its laymen for deepening their spiritual life, arousing their religious enthusiasm and considering the problems involved in the application of Christianity to life

"The convention meets this year in Washington within easy access of the men of our Virginia diocese Not only members of the brotherhood, but all laymen are invited to attend. In our Virginia church life we need just the kind of stimulus that will be given by this convention. Moreover, when the brotherhood honors us by holding its annual meeting so near us, we ought to show our appreciation by doing our full part in helping promote the success of the convention. I appeal, therefore, to clergy and the laymen of our diocese to make every effort to secure a large representation from Virginia."

The registration of delegates to the Brotherhood of St. Andrew convention from outside the diocese of Washington is as follows at the present time: Diocese of Albany, Denny Pollock, Albany; the Rev. L. G. Rouillard, Saratoga Springs; diocese of Bethlehem, Glen B. Walter, Sayre; Paul W. Gardner, Scranton, and W. A. Hazard, Bethlehem: diocese of California, Fred T. Foster, San Francisco, diocese of Central New York, Stephen A. K. Parker, Elmira; Frank H. Pyke, Syracuse.

"God for All," Topic Of Rev. Dr. J. R. Sizoo

Dr. Joseph R. Sizoo will preach at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church tomorrow. His theme for the morning worship will be, "God for All." This service will be broadcast through radio station WRC.

On Thursday evening a reception and welcome home will be extended to Miss Ernestine Niemeyer, who has just returned for her first furlough from Colombia, South America. Miss Niemeyer is in charge of the primary schools in the South American republic under the auspices of the Presbyterian Church The reception will be held at 8 o'clock.

FRENCH GLAD NOTE LEAVES DOOR OPEN

Paris Feels Naval Limitation Basis Must Now Be Sought For Anew.

LONDON MAY NOT REPLY

Paris, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The first conclusion which the French have drawn from Washington's reply to the French note concerning the Franco-British naval accord, delivered to the foreign office today, is that the search for a basis for further reduction in naval armaments must begin all over again. The text of the note will not be generally known until tomorrow, but its essential features are known here and already are being commented on in a rather noncommital tone.

There is evident satisfaction in official circles that the note leaves the way open for further negotiations.

It was remarked semiofficially on that point that the Franco-British agreement never was considered in Paris as posing intangible conditions for naval armament limitations, but rather as furnishing the basis for a discussion at Geneva.

The extreme liberal and socialist press expresses regret that a third power was able to upset an accord between the traditional enemies, France and Great Britain, who finally have found a basis for a reduction in naval armaments. The merits of the American argument that the Franco-British accord puts the United States at a disadvantage thus far have not been touched on.

London, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The American note on the Anglo-French naval agreement, long awaited here, was handed to Lord Cushendun, acting foreign secretary, at noon today by Ambassador Houghton. It was made public tonight by the American Embassy, and the fact that it was given out from this source instead of from the foreign office caused some comment.

In authoritative circles it was stated that it would be impossible to say what the British government's reaction to the note would be. Any comment, it was explained, would necessarily be a question for the cabinet, since the note concerns more than one government department. The ministers will meet next week, probably on Tuesday, but perhaps later.

Nevertheless, responsible quarters indicated a belief that the note did not preclude further discussion, yet they would not say whether any reply was deemed necessary.

In giving out the note to the public, who have not yet learned from official sources the full and exact wording of the Franco-British accord, the American authorities apparently acted on their own initiative.

After delivering the note, Ambassador Houghton remained in conference with Lord Cushendun. This talk lasted about 45 minutes. Inquiry in Whitehall official quarters failed to develop any indication as to when the complete terms of the Anglo-French agreement would be made known.

Potomac Anglers' Outing.

Ten prizes will be awarded the best fishermen at the ninth annual outing of the Potomac Anglers' Association tomorrow at Chesapeake Beach. More than 300 anglers, including many women, are expected. A train will leave District Line at 8:30 a. m., returning at 6 p. m. Twenty boats will carry the fishermen to points on the bay.

TEXT OF KELLOGG NOTE ON NAVAL AGREEMENT

Following is the text of the note of the United States delivered yesterday in London to the British government in reply to the Franco-British note. An identic note was also delivered yesterday by the American Embassy in Paris to the French government.

The Government of the United States has received from His Majesty's government a communication summarizing the understanding reached between the British and French governments as to a basis for naval limitation, which agreement, it is stated, will be submitted to the next meeting of the Preparatory Commission for the disarmament conference.

The Government of the United States is willing to submit certain suggestions as to the basis of naval limitation as summarized in the British note. From the communication of the British government it appears that:

"The limitations which the Disarmament Conference will have to determine will deal with four classes of men of war:

"(1) Capital ships, i.e., ships of over 10,000 tons or with guns of more than 8-inch caliber.

"(2) Aircraft carriers of over 10,000 tons.

"(3) Surface vessels of or below 10,000 tons, armed with guns of more than 6-inch and up to 8-inch caliber.

"(4) Ocean going submarines over 600 tons."

As the Washington treaty regulates the first two classes—that is, capital ships and aircraft carriers—the Preparatory Commission will have to consider only the last two categories so far as the signatories of that treaty are concerned.

Limitation on Cruisers Only.

From the foregoing summary of the agreement it appears that the only classes of naval vessels which it is proposed to limit under the Franco-British draft agreement are cruisers of or below 10,000 tons, armed with guns of more than 6-inch and up to 8-inch caliber, and submarines of over 600 tons. The position of the Government of the United States has been and now is that any limitation of naval armament to be effective should apply to all classes of combatant vessels. The Franco-British agreement provides no limitations whatsoever on 6-inch gun cruisers, or destroyers, or submarines of 600 tons or less. It could not be claimed that the types of vessels thus left without limitation are not highly efficient fighting ships.

No one would deny that modern cruisers armed with 6-inch guns, of destroyers similarly armed, have a very high offensive value, especially to any nation possessing well distributed bases in various parts of the world. In fact, such cruisers constitute the largest number of fighting ships now existing in the world. The limitation of only such surface vessels as are restricted in class 3 of the draft agreement—that is, cruisers of or below 10,000 tons, armed with guns of more than 6-inch and up to 8-inch caliber—would be the imposition of restrictions only on types peculiarly suited to the needs of the United States.

The United States can not accept as a distinct class surface combatant vessels of or below 10,000 tons armed with guns of more than 6-inch and up to 8-inch caliber. It is further clearly apparent that limitation of this type only would add enormously to the comparative offensive power of a national possessing a large merchant tonnage on which preparation may be made in times of peace for mounting 6-inch guns.

British Proposal in 1927.

At the three-power conference at Geneva in 1927 the British delegation proposed that cruisers be thus divided into two classes: Those carrying 8-inch guns and those carrying guns of 6 inches or less in caliber. They proposed further that 8-inch gun cruisers be limited to a small number or to a small total tonnage limitation and that the smaller class of cruisers carrying 6-inch guns or less be permitted a much larger total tonnage, or, what amounts to the same thing, to a very large number of cruisers of this class.

The limitation proposed by the British delegation on this smaller class of cruisers was so high that the American delegation considered it, in effect, no limitation at all. This same proposal is now presented in a new and even more objectionable form which still limits large cruisers which are suitable to American needs but frankly places no limitation whatever on cruisers carrying guns of 6 inches or less in caliber.

This proposal is obviously incompatible with the American position at the three-power conference. It is even more unacceptable than the proposal put forward by the British delegation at that conference not only because it puts the United States at a decided disadvantage but also because it discards altogether the principle of limitation as applied to important combatant types of vessels.

Question of Submarines.

Much of what has been said above as to vessels in class 3 of the Franco-British agreement applies with equal or greater force to class 4. The American Government can not accept as a distinct class of submarines those of over 600 tons leaving unlimited all submarines of 600 tons or under. Six hundred-ton submarines are formidable combatant vessels. They carry the same torpedoes as are carried by larger submarines and of equal destructive force within the radius of their operation. They can also be armed with guns of 5-inch caliber. The United States would gladly, in conjunction with all the nations of the world, abolish the submarine altogether. If, however, submarines must be continued as instruments of naval warfare, it is the belief of the American Government that they should be limited to a reasonable tonnage or number.

If there is to be further limitation upon the construction of war vessels so that competition in this regard between nations may be stopped, it is the belief of the United States that it should include all classes of combatant vessels, submarines as well a surface vessel.

The Government of the United States has earnestly and consistently advocated real reduction and limitation of naval armament. It has given its best efforts toward finding acceptable methods of attaining this most desirable end. It would be happy to continue such efforts, but it can not consent to proposals which would leave the door wide open to unlimited building of certain types of ships of a highly efficient combatant value and would impose restrictions only on types peculiarly suitable to American needs.

No Special Advantage Sought.

The American Government seeks no special advantage on the sea, but clearly can not permit itself to be placed in a position of manifest disadvantage. The American Government feels, furthermore, that the terms of the Franco-British draft agreement, in leaving unlimited so large a tonnage and so many types of vesesls, would actually tend to defeat the primary objective of any disarmament conference for the reduction of limitation of armament in that it would not eliminate competition in naval armament and would not effect economy. For all these reasons the Government of the United States feels that no useful purpose would be served by accepting as a basis of discussion the Franco-British proposal.

The American Government has no objection to any agreement between France and Great Britain which those countries think will be to their advantage and in the interest of limitation of armament, but naturally can not consent that such an agreement should be applied to the United States.

In order to make quite clear that, in declining to adopt the Franco-British agreement as a basis for discussion of naval limitation, it seems appropriate briefly to review the attitude of the United States regarding the methods of limitation, in order to show that the American Government has consistently favored a drastic proportional limitation.

The success of the Washington Conference is known to all. It strictly limited all combatant ships and aircraft carriers of over 10,000 tons. In order to bring about such limitation the American Government made great sacrifices in the curtailment of plans of building and in the actual destruction of ships already built.

Proposals of U. S.

At the first session of the preparatory conference, the American Government submitted proposals which were consistently adhered to at subsequent meetings:

(1) That the total tonnage allowed in each class of combatant vessel be prescribed.

(2) That the maximum tonnage of a unit and the maximum caliber of gun allowed for each class be prescribed.

(3) That so long as the total tonnage allowed to each class is not exceeded, the actual number of units may be left to the discretion of each power concerned.

Within this general plan the American proposal at the Geneva conference was, for the United States and the British Empire, a total tonnage limitation in the cruiser class of from 250,000 to 300,000 tons and for Japan from 150,000 to 180,000. For the destroyer class, for the United States and the British Empire, from 200,000 to 250,000, and for Japan, from 120,000 to 150,000 tons.

For the submarine class, for the United States and the British Empire, 90,000 to 90,000 tons, and for Japan, 36,000 to 54,000 tons. It was further stated by the American delegation that, if any power represented felt justified in proposing still lower tonnage levels for auxiliary craft, the American Government would welcome such proposal.

Would Avoid Competition.

The purpose of these proposals was that there might be no competition between the three powers in the building of naval armament, that their respective navies should be maintained at the lowest level compatible with national security and should not be of the size and character to warrant the suspicion of aggressive intent and, finally, that a wise economy dictates that further naval construction be kept to a minimum.

The Government of the United States remains willing to use its best efforts to obtain a basis of further naval limitation satisfactory to all the naval powers, including those not represented at the three-power conference in Geneva, and is willing to take into consideration in any conference the special needs of France, Italy or any other naval power for the particular class of vessels deemed by them most suitable for their defense. This could be accomplished by permitting any of the powers to vary the percentage of tonnage in classes within the total tonnage, a certain percentage to be agreed upon.

If there was an increase in one class of vessels it should be deducted from the tonnage to be used in other classes. A proposal along these lines made by France and discussed by the American and French representatives would be sympathetically considered by the United States. It expects on the part of others, however, similar consideration for its own needs. Unfortunately the Franco-British agreement appears to fulfill none of the conditions which, to the American Government, seem vital. It leaves unlimited a very large class of effective fighting ships, and this very fact would inevitably lead to a recrudescence of naval competition disastrous to national economy.

Marylander Is Injured In Motorcycle Crash

Losing control of his motorcycle, Irving Manuel, 21 years old, of Beltsville, Md., was seriously injured last night in the Washington-Baltimore boulevard 4 miles beyond College Park, when thrown to the pavement. A passing motorist brought Manuel to Casualty Hospital, where he was treated for a lacerated head, a possible fracture of the skull and mangled hands. His condition is critical.

A motorist, who failed to give his name at the hospital, saw a flame spurt from the motorcycle as he passed it, and thought he heard a crash. Turning his car around, he found Manuel in the roadway with the machine nearby.

Senator's Secretaries Are Victims of Thief

A thief yesterday afternoon entered the office of Senator Henry Dale, in the Senate Office Building, and stole valuables amounting to over $350 from two of his secretaries.

The victims of the thief were Mrs. Nora E. Miller, 314 B street northeast, and Miss Stella Clodfelter, 311 South Clifton Terrace Apartments. The loot was removed from a desk drawer. It included $37 in cash, two $150 bonds and two checks aggregating $32.50.

Holds Cause of Fear Lies in Past Conduct

Dr. J. Rozier Biggs, medical director of the Continental Life Insurance Co., was the principal speaker yesterday at a meeting of the Cosmopolitan Club at the Carlton Hotel. Dr. Biggs discussed phobias and the cause of fear.

He advanced the theory that fear was caused by past breaches of conduct of which the person was ashamed and tried to forget. The club booster prizes yesterday were awarded to Charles Lanham and Emory Gallihen.

Husband Asks Absolute Divorce.

Naming a corespondent and charging misconduct, Louis F. Hofer, of 606 Lamont street northwest, yesterday filed suit for absolute divorce from his wife, Mrs. Jeanette F. Hofer, through Attorney Clifford P. Grant. The couple were married in July, 1905, the plaintiff declared.

Kellogg Intimates Naval Compromise Is Opposed to U. S. Interests.

PROPOSES FRENCH BASIS

in the Anglo-French compromise. Submarines of more than 600 tons, which America requires, are to be limited, but submarines of 600 tons and under, which suffice for British needs, are to be left unrestricted.

Opposed to U. S. Needs.

No important point is left untouched in the Kellogg note. Attention is called to the fact that British merchant ships would be available without restriction for war purposes by the suggested provision of placing no limit on vessels with 6-inch guns. These merchant ships can mount 6-inch guns but can not stand the strain of using the heavier guns against which it is proposed that a restriction be placed.

After stating that the Anglo-French compromise is absolutely incompatible with American naval needs, Secretary Kellogg goes even farther and characterizes the proposal as inimical to the whole idea of limiting naval armaments. It "would actually tend to defeat the primary objective of any disarmament conference for the reduction or limitation of armaments," he states.

Inferentially, between the lines of the Kellogg reply, the question is raised as to whether the British and French really desire to reach any international agreement looking to the actual limitation of naval armaments. There is a strong presumption that Great Britain and France are quite satisfied to let the present situation alone, especially as the United States is consistently falling behind in naval construction, while they are steadily forging ahead.

Count on Pacifists Here.

By keeping the subject of naval limitation alive, the British apparently are able to count on pacifist sentiment in America and anti-Navy sentiment in Congress to keep the United States Navy in a position of relative impotency, regardless of the 5-5-3 ratio agreed upon at the Washington conference. So long as this impotency exists there is, it is conceded, no need for the British to consider any agreement actually to limit navy building.

The British agreed to the limitations of the Washington conference because the United States challenged British naval supremacy and because new powerful American ships were building and a formidable building program was before Congress. By the agreement to scrap ships and stop the building program, the United States had an important diplomatic weapon to trade with and results were achieved. At present America has nothing to offer by way of sacrifices, and, accordingly, it is not expected that the British, Japanese or French will seriously think of actual limitation agreements until or unless the American Navy again appears to challenge their attention.

Wife Would Divorce Prisoner.

Mrs. Evelyn Gross, of 2225 New York avenue northwest, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to grant her an absolute divorce from Thomas Gross, who is now in the District jail. Through her attorney, Michael F. Keogh, Mrs. Gross charged that her husband was guilty of misconduct and had deserted her in April, 1925. They were married July 13, 1923, she declared.

Back Teeth Subject to Early Decay

Front Teeth Are Simple in Structure and Last Long Time — Tongue Active in Cleaning Inside of Jaws—Cheek Wearing.

To the limit of space, questions pertinent to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal replies will be made to inquiries, under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual disease.

By DR. W. A. EVANS.

WHEN a person displays a blotch or gold on one of his front teeth, it is reasonably certain he is vain, or maybe his dentist is a good salesman.

Extensive studies made by Dr. T. P. Hyatt show that the front teeth rarely decay. There are several reasons for this. The front teeth are simple in architecture and have few valleys in which decay can start. They are generally well made and of good material, and, finally, they stand out in front and we try to keep them clean. None of us fully get away from a tendency to sweep the dirt under the bed.

The teeth most subject to decay he found to be the second and third molars. These are the teeth commonly called the jaw teeth. They are large, grinding teeth and have surfaces which are corrugated like the surface of a millstone. Decay starts in the valleys on the grinding surface of these teeth.

Dr. Hyatt says he found an average of more than one cavity to each of these teeth examined and his record covered many thousand.

The outside surface of the teeth, the cheek surface, was second to the grinding face in the number of cavities. The interdental faces, the area where tooth touch tooth, had the least number.

The rank of locations are determined in part by the difficulty in keeping the different surfaces clean, but mostly by defects in the tooth, left there at the time of its formation.

In so far as cleaning is concerned, it would seem that food left between the teeth at meals is not an important cause of decay. The reason the inner surface is freer from decay than is the outer is in part because the tongue is very active and it is in a good position to keep the teeth clean as compared with the cheek muscles. If any one doubts that let him notice what happens when he is eating crackers or dry bread without drinking at the same time. Food tends to accumulate between the cheek and gums.

The wisdom teeth probably stay in the mouth for a shorter time than any of the others, but since Dr. Hyatt was studying young people that fact did not appear from his statistics. The teeth between the jaw teeth and the front teeth showed a decreasing amount of decay as we come from behind to the front.

Decay is the principal tooth trouble in persons under 40 years of age. After 35 to 40 it becomes of minor importance, yielding its place to pyorrhea, a gum disease.

Strike one—miss; lemon juice is not a cure for arthritis.

Strike two—second miss; taking lemon juice will not make a person thin.

Uncle Ray's Corner

A Little Saturday Talk.

A SCHOOL pupil in a little village brings up an interesting question in the following letter:

"Dear Uncle Ray: I would like to have a leaflet on 'How to Make a Corner Scrapbook.' Also I would like to have your opinion on which is more important, geography or history. We are having a debate on this subject at school. I am captain of the side that has geography. I read your talks and enjoy them very much. Yours truly, "BETTY FOX."

When I first thought about your question, Betty, it seemed to me that the two subjects were of about equal value, but I have made a choice. Because of a certain great point, I should say that one of the subjects is even more important than the other.

Before I give my opinion, however, I want to set forth some points on both sides. Let us take up geography first:

The modern world has better means of getting around than ever before. We have airplanes, automobiles, bus lines and fast trains. More people travel now than at any time in history.

When people travel they enjoy themselves more when they know about the lands to which they go. If you knew nothing about the Rhine River, or the Seine, or the Nile, before you saw them, would you enjoy them so much when you visited Germany, France or Egypt?

Geography helps us to know about the great cities of the world, their commerce and ways of life. It is interesting to know what people do in other places. It is important to know about trade and industry, for it may help us to know where we should go to find certain kinds of work in later life.

A good knowledge of geography should help to prevent war. When we learn about people in other lands, their ways of life and their hardships, it gives us a feeling of sympathy and friendship for them. Next Saturday I'll give points in favor of history, also my opinion of which is more important.

If you would like a copy of the leaflet, "Questions About Europe (With Answers)," send me a stamped envelope addressed to yourself. Address your letter to Uncle Ray, in care of this newspaper. Write plainly to avoid any trouble in the mails.

True to its tradition of being the first with the latest, the Evening Tab announces it has secured at great expense the story of Dixie Dugan's life from her own lips.

Every father and mother will want to read this story—how this young girl who leaves her home to find fame and fortune in the wicked maze of Broadway becomes involved in a scandal which is rocking New York's social and financial structure.

This story comes from Dixie Dugan's own lips and carries a message to the bewildered parent who today is asking that baffling question: "What will become of this young generation?"

Dear Mr. Milton: I thought you were dying or I wouldn't have sent them Throw them out if they annoy you.

DIXIE DUGAN.

Chicago, Ill., June 18.

Dear Dixie: I hesitated a long while before writing this letter because I don't know hardly what to say. I can hardly believe that you're the girl I'm reading about in the papers. Dixie Dugan—my Dixie—going out to wild parties with millionaire brokers, being pursued by crazy Argentine tango dancers, mixed up in a brawl that may end up in a murder and now with your pictures in all the papers, and news items saying that you are going into vaudeville and into the movies and today I see in one of the New York papers an announcement of your life story written by yourself. Well, you certainly surprise me.

Here I've been going along from town to town selling Greeting Cards for All Occasions, trying to make an honest living, working hard toward the day when I can offer you my hand and heart and an honest home where I could come home to a nice little wife who would love me devotedly and who would appreciate a good home, and maybe a little house with a garden by the side of the road, and, by the way, that's one of our best sellers—9M60, "The House by the Side of the Road." You probably remember how it goes:

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road, &c."

I tell you I'm stunned and heartsick, but I guess maybe a fellow can never tell about women. They look like butter wouldn't melt in their mouths and the first thing you know they're out stabbing and shooting. So maybe you'd better get it all out of your system now, and no matter what happens I will always think of you.

All to myself I think of you,
Think of the things we used to do,
Think of the things we used to say,
Think of each happy yesterday.
Sometimes I sigh, sometimes I smile,
But I keep each olden, golden while
All to myself.

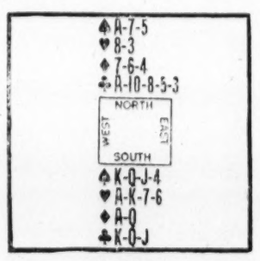

Your heartbroken DENNY.

P. S. "All to Myself" is by Wilbur Nesbit and is one of our best sellers. I'm going to send you one of the samples from "Ye Sturdie Hearte of Golde" line, boxed with or without easels. It's made on glass and a little bit cracked, but you'd hardly notice it. Whenever you read it, think of me thinking of you—all to myself.

You remember Dixie wanted to go on the stage? Maybe she is, after all. Read tomorrow's installment.

The question is how North and South should bid. Make up your mind before you read the explanation that follows. South is the Dealer, and the hands are:

The Bidding.

South, with great strength in all four suits and with a hand counting 25, would be justified in bidding four No Trumps. This bid would be made as a request to North to pass with a bust holding, but to bid if he held either of the Aces not in the South hand.

After South's four No Trumps, North could raise once for each Ace, and so would be quite justified in jumping to six. However, more accurate information can be given by showing the Aces one at a time, so North's correct bid would be five Clubs.

Over the five Clubs South would be tempted to bid six No Trumps, but hardly would be justified in doing so. The Ace of Clubs in itself would not insure a Small Slam; and South can portray his hand better by bidding five Hearts, thus giving South a chance to show the Ace of Spades if he has it. Another advantage of South's five-Heart bid would be that if North should show the Ace of Spades and South then bid for the Small Slam in No Trumps West would be tempted (North and South having shown the Aces of Clubs, Hearts and Spades) to lead a Diamond, which would suit South exactly.

After South's five Hearts, North would bid five Spades and South then would bid six No Trumps. There would be no point in South's bidding six Diamonds because the information that he has the Ace of Diamonds would not be of value to North, and it should be kept from West.

As the cards happened to lie, a Grand Slam would be made with a Diamond led; with any other suit opened, a Small Slam would be obtained, and the making of the thirteenth trick would depend upon the location of the King of Diamonds.

Conduct and Common Sense

By ANNE SINGLETON

A YOUNG lady, taking a trip to a neighboring country, writes me a charming letter to ask about dinner dress. She and her family are not in the habit of dressing for the evening, and she very wisely wants to know if she should change her habits when she goes on her travels.

"I am in doubt," she says, "as to what sort of clothes to wear for the evening meal. We expect to travel until about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when we shall stop at a hotel and dress for dinner. After dinner we expect to go out into the city and do whatever appeals at the moment. What sort of frocks shall I need to dine in? At home we eat our evening meal at 6 o'clock and wear afternoon street dresses. I have never been away from home before and do not know whether to do this on my trip. If so, of what fabric should a plain afternoon frock be made?"

If no change is to be made in the dinner hour and the travelers choose to have their evening meal at 6, they will find the dining rooms of the larger hotels and restaurants quite free of people—certainly of people in evening dress—and many attire themselves as they please. There are a certain number of persons in every city who always wear evening dress in the evening, but these would hardly be dining before half past 7 or 8. There are a large number of persons who don't wear evening dress. So my young lady needn't be troubled in any case. In her place, if I had not need of evening frocks at home, I should not get them for this trip. I think a simple crepe de chine gown, or a foulard, or, possibly, a flowered chiffon, if she were going to the theater, would meet all requirements.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

LUCK.

A queer little fellow came up to my side
As I sat all alone on the shore,
One half of him glistened in raiment of pride,
Rags and tatters the other half wore.
He both laughed and frowned as he walked up to me,
And I said unto him: "Pray now, who can you be?"
"Oh, I am the fellow called Luck," answered he.

"Well I'd never have known you," I ventured to say,
"You are one, yet you look just like two,
I'd never have known you rigged up in that way,"
And he said: "Very few people do,
I'm a fellow that's frequently misunderstood,
Some would know but the fine half of me if they could,
But I make them all swallow the bad with the good."

"You're a queer little fellow," I said with a grin,
"And I'm glad to have met you today,
I thank you for times that you've helped me to win."
And he laughed in his jolliest way,
And he said: "Of my frowning you've seen quite a lot,
But now that the sting of the loss is forgot,
Can you look back and say if 'twas bad luck or not?"

So half with a smile, and half with a frown
I wander about among men,
And some I raise high and some I pull down
And set them to working again.
In broadcloth and tatters I go about clad,
And sometimes men laugh when they ought to be sad,
But it's fearfully hard to tell Good Luck from bad.

Handy Hints To Help the Homemaker

Lemon Skins or Tomato Peelings Are Efficient in Removing Stains of Apples and Peaches From Hands; Menus.

By LOUISE BENNETT WEAVER.

DINNER MENU.

Rice and cheese Buttered beets
Bread Peach conserve
Stuffed tomato salad
Apple pudding
Coffee

FOR THE PICKLE SHELF.
BORDEAUX SAUCE.

½ gallon chopped cabbage.
¼ gallon chopped green tomatoes.
1 cup chopped white onions.
½ cup chopped green peppers.
¼ cup chopped red peppers.
2 ounces white mustard seed.
1 ounce plain mustard seed.
2 tablespoons salt.
2 quarts vinegar.
1½ cups sugar.

Mix all the ingredients and cook in an enameled pan for 25 minutes. Stir frequently during the cooking to prevent scorching. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal at once. Store in a dark, dry place.

When using green tomatoes in pickles, they need not be peeled, but merely washed well and the blossom ends cut out.

SLICED PEARS.

7 pounds pears.
7 cups sugar.
2 cups vinegar.
1 cup water.
¼ cup whole cloves.

Peel and core the pears. Cover with water and boil for five minutes. Dain. This cooking softens the pears a little, which is desired. Loosely tie the spices in a white muslin bag, add to the sugar, vinegar and water. Boil for five minutes. Add part of the pears and cook until tender and well glazed. Remove the cooked pears to sterilized jars. When the jars are full and all the pears have been cooked, pour the boiling sirup over the pears in the jars. Seal. For convenience, all the pears may be placed in a stone jar after they have been cooked and the sirup poured over them, making sure that the pears are covered with the sirup. Cover with a plate or earthenware lid and store in a cool, dry place.

The pears are so heavily spiced and sweetened that they will keep without sealing.

MEDLEY PICKLES.
(These blend with meats.)

12 8-inch cucumbers
1 cup sliced white onions
2 tablespoons salt
1 cup sugar
1 teaspoon celery seed
1 tablespoon white mustard seed
1 tablespoon tumeric powder
4 cups vinegar.

The cucumbers should be 1½ inches in diameter and the onions 1 inch. Wipe off the cucumbers with a damp cloth. Slice very thin. Add the onions and sprinkle with the salt and let stand for two hours. Drain well and add the rest of the ingredients and bring to the boiling point. Pour into well-sterilized jars and seal at once.

To remove the stains of apples and peaches from the hands, rub with lemon skins or tomato peelings.

BEAUTY AND YOU

By VIOLA PARIS

SOME QUERIES ANSWERED

DEAR VIOLA PARIS: I am troubled with pimples on my scalp. I have been using a tonic that cured a friend of dandruff and scaly scalp, but the pimples seem even worse. I shall be very grateful for any advice.

M. M.

Answer—The chances are that the tonic that was just the right thing for your friend is equally the wrong thing for you. Scalp pimples may come from a skin disease or the use of a tonic, dressing or dye that contains poisonous ingredients. If the irritation is severe and chronic, I advise that you consult a physician immediately. If he finds that the trouble is due entirely to irritation and that no disease is present, the first thing to do, of course, is to stop using the tonic. Apply a solution of boric acid to the scalp each day. Divide the hair into strands and with a medicine dropper or a small piece of absorbent cotton apply the solution along each part until the entire scalp is covered. After the solution has dried, a little sulphur ointment may be applied to the pimples. Some scalps are more sensitive than others. Even a good stimulating tonic will sometimes cause scalp pimples if applied too frequently. Tonics of this character should not be used oftener than two or three times a week. Never scratch the head. A simple irritation, aggravated by some foreign substance introduced by a finger-nail, may easily lead to serious trouble.

Gale: The following exercises, if practiced regularly night and morning, will tend to correct your flat chest:

1. Stand erect, upper arms at shoulder level, elbows bent, fingers touching shoulders. Keeping the hands in this position, bring the elbows forward until they almost touch in front of the chest. Now, swing them sharply outward and backward as far as possible. Make the movement vigorous. Repeat fifteen to twenty times.

2. Stand erect, with hands on hips. Press down on your hips with the hands and at the same time swing the elbows forward as far as you can. Now press them back until the shoulder-blades touch. Repeat twenty times. Practice deep breathing at every opportunity, and always out of doors or before an open window. Watch your posture. Avoid a slouch, while walking, standing or sitting. Sleep with the head low. Practice "standing tall."

G. B. G.: I believe that careful attention to your diet is what is needed to improve the condition of your skin and will, as well, tend to correct the circles under your eyes. Your elimination is not what it ought to be and demands first attention. Include in your diet plenty of laxative foods, such as spinach, lettuce, prunes and whole-grain products. Drink at least eight glasses of water each day, between meals. Take no water with your meals. Adopt a system of exercises that bring into play the muscles if the abdomen. Bending and twisting exercises are good. They should be practiced faithfully night and morning. Get plenty of rest and exercise in the open air for at least an hour each day.

ELEANOR GUNN on FASHIONS

Crepe de Chine Shoes Have Walked Into Popular Favor.

NEW YORK—Crepe de chine has won a new place for itself. It did seem as though this most obliging of fabrics had been put to every purpose under the sun and it was natural enough to have overlooked the fact that it was not being used for shoes but boot makers now have seized upon crepe de chine.

It has met the demands they have made of it to the extent that the call for footwear so fashioned is not exceptional. It is almost acceptable for dress types, and several formal models for afternoon and evening wear are made wholly or in part of crepe de chine. Velvet shoes, less ultra but important also, have naturally stepped down from the back shelf and joined in the great demonstration for velvet which is being staged the smart world over. Velvet hand bags, too, have come to light, it still being the fad to preserve the relationship between shoes and purse, even though the media is not leather.

The union of two materials remains approved and that velvet is apt to be one, is evident. Shop windows devote their greatest space to it and incidentally the price of the velvet frock has been brought within the range of all. Excepting in its more severe interpretations, the velvet frock automatically calls for feminine footwear. Presumably, the agitation over the stockingless fad will pass with the first nip of frost. Critics who find sun tanned legs unlovely will hardly be expected to admire frost reddened ones, besides which good taste, rather than censorship, may be relied upon to dispose of the question.

While Vionnet ran the gamut of beige and putty shades at her recent openings, the season remains a free-for-all, so far as colors are concerned, with black by no means incidental.

YOUR BOY AND YOUR GIRL

By ARTHUR DEAN, SC. D.
The Parent Counselor.

Contribution Day.

A GIRL correspondent recently inquired whether a girl who has engaged in many love affairs can become a happy wife. Many replies came from readers of "Our Conversation Corner." Youngsters who tried to justify their own emotional excess lacked the convincing words of those coming from married women, who, out of a rather bitter experience, expressed their views.

The subject is much more involved than is apparent on the surface. Expressing one's love life with carelessness and abandon when young has a tendency to bring about a "conditioning" of the person involved. The nervous system is so constituted that when stimulated a part, or the whole, of the body moves automatically for the service or protection of the organism. Thus at the sight and smell of food the stomach begins to secrete gastric juices for the service of digestion. Out of these types of simple reflex behavior are developed more and more complex forms by the process which is known as "conditioning."

The correspondent for today allows me to publish her letter:

"Dear Prof. Dean: I was called as rather a good petter in the days before the war—I am 42 now—though we called it spooning then. I married a fine man, strange to say, despite my spooning propensities. He has none of the promiscuous tendency that unfortunately developed in me. We are happy as married folk go, have a nice family and a good home. But tell Lorna for me that I could be a deal happier. There is an unrest that attacks me at the most unexpected and often most inopportune moments.

"Hubby was never a sheik and there is where some of the unrest comes. I sometimes think of the rather masterful love-making of Tom, or the fiery kisses of Dick, or the insinuating methods of Jack. And I get sort of restless or dissatisfied or fed up with the changeless, possessive attitude of my lord and master.

"It is outrageous for me to feel so. My husband is one of the none-too-large class of faithful, wholesome husbands. I should thank the Lord for His kindness in giving me something I don't deserve. But I often find myself wishing, after all, that my husband was Tom or Dick or Jack. If I had never gone in for that sort of thing I shouldn't know what I am missing now, I shouldn't have this unrest, that makes life a burden. Tell Lorna that a woman who knows a lot about it agrees with her mother that girls who pet aren't always happy wives, even though they may marry the finest kind of men.

"I know I'd be far happier if I had never allowed so much petting when I was a young girl. There is another danger for a girl who has petted in her young days. She may marry satisfactorily, but some day she will fall before the old lure of variety, and her husband, home, position and family may be lost. It is a dangerous pastime. MRS. ———.

Too Sweet to Spoil.

My little girl is very sweet, pretty and clean. She is unusually well-mannered, and while we can not afford to dress her extravagantly, yet she always looks neat. Are people going to spoil her by telling her how lovely and sweet she is? DEVOTED.

Answer—If you put her into beauty shows, exhibit her in shop windows, cover her with fine clothes and talk nothing in front or behind her except what she should wear and how pretty she is, and how much prettier than the other girl, then I think she would be well spoiled. But because you are teaching her household duties and raising her with an appreciation of the exactions of life, I can see no fear of her being spoiled by what your friends say.

Wives of Tomorrow

By FRANCES McDONALD

DEAR MISS McDONALD: Please do not condemn me too severely after you have read this, but feel sorry for me. The position I find myself in is this: I am in love with a man who loves me and wants me to marry him. But I, when I was just 16 fell "in love" with a man who was then 22. He told me he loved me, and took advantage of me, I haven't seen him since, and he married recently.

Now, the situation is this: I feel sure that if I told "my man" all about it, he would forgive me, but I also know that if I do, it will make him terribly unhappy, and he will probably never be able to forget it. He is himself an entirely different type, and I am sure that he has never done such a thing.

I don't know what to do. I want to be honest and fair with him, and yet, why cause him misery, especially when the mischief can never be undone? Don't think that I am a bad girl, Mrs. McDonald, but just a fool, and one who has learned a bitter lesson, and one who, if she ever has any daughters of her own, will know how to prevent such tragedy for them.

I hope that your schedule will permit your answering this shortly, as I will be anxiously awaiting your answer. I feel so terrible as you can well guess, and there is no one to whom I can turn for advice in this matter, as I have no mother, and one doesn't ask a father's advice about a thing like this, at least not the kind of a father I have.

Please forgive me for not signing my name, but I am sure you understand my motives. JOYCE.

Simply tell the man that you had an unfortunate experience and that you do not care to discuss it. Tell him that you would prefer to give him up rather than enter into discussion concerning it.

If he demands the facts he will make a poor husband for anyone and you will have been saved considerably misery by escaping him.

If he is a real man, he will not care to hear what happened one night back in the days when you were 16. State the fact only, and let him decide whether he wants to accept you as you are.

It is my poor opinion that "confessions" on either side are inviolably one's own. Our archaic laws, however, make a woman's marriage liable to annulment if she conceals such an unhappy circumstance in her past experience.

So state the fact, and omit the harrowing details. I hope your man is really a man. Perhaps you might show him this column, and ascertain his sentiments without telling him anything. If he expresses the antiquated opinion that such an unhappy incident unfits a woman for wifehood you will know he is not of the calibre to comprehend your situation. The average man today knows the many difficulties that beset girlhood, and his views are governed by his intelligence. If this man you love is intelligent, you have nothing to fear; if he is not, you do not want him for a husband in any case. So apply the intelligence test by showing him this article and asking his opinion on the matter. Then do as you deem best.

Gems Seen in Borneo Large as Finger Nails

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28.—Diamonds as big as the nails on a man's fingers were seen in abundance in the heart of Boreno by Eugene Wright, a young adventurer of Rutherford, N. J., who has just returned from the island. Wright didn't bring back any of the gems, but he did tote home a manuscript titled "The Great Horn Spoon," telling of the gems and the other wonders that he came upon 400 miles back in the jungles.

With three Japanese soldiers, Wright, who quit Columbia University in his junior year to try exploration, traveled 750 miles in Borneo, penetraing to within 150 miles of Sarawak. He found the natives keeping the diamonds in small boxes, often filled also with rubies and nuggets of pure gold. Among the former head hunters, now classified by the Dutch authorities as snake eaters, he found many wearers of gold earrings so heavy that the ear lobes were stretched several inches.

FAIRLY GOOD BUYING HALTS LATE LOSSES

Conflicting Movements Feature Day's Relatively Light Trading.

CALL FUNDS 8 PER CENT

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28.—Conflicting price movements featured today's dealings on the Stock Exchange, strong cross currents creating much confusion. In the early trading liquidation of recent speculative favorites was urgent, being encountered by the steady increase in the rate of call money from the renewal figure of 6 per cent to 8 per cent for new accommodations as the market entered the last half-hour.

Losses were registered ranging from 2 to more than 6 points before fairly good buying in various quarters, notably among the motors, oils, picture stocks and specialties, checked the downward movement. Thence to the close conflicting elements fought for supremacy and in the end the traders on the constructive side appeared to be in the lead. In the final cast-up net gains extending to 13½ points outnumbered net losses ranging from fractions to 10 points by a small margin.

A singular coincidence was that the strong rally near the close occurred at a time when call money had advanced abruptly to 8 per cent, as the banks withdrew more than $40,000,000. Approximately 3,700,000 shares changed hands, the smallest turnover of the week.

Public on Buying Side.

As was the case yesterday, the public generally appeared to be on the buying side, not at all alarmed by the bear maneuvers. The heaviest outside buying came late in the session from the Pacific Coast. Professional operators and several of the big pools accelerated the selling movement in the early trading by offering stocks freely and some of them had to pay dearly to get their stocks back before the close.

General Motors, in a turnover of 251,500 shares, was under extremely heavy pressure at times, but weathered the storm and finished an even point above yesterday's last price. United States Steel common also was under pressure, but it gave ground grudingly and closed loser by only a small fraction. Chrysler, in the tremendous turnover for that stock, of 328,500 shares, was twirled into new high price territory at 118¼ and closed at 117½, up 6⅜ net.

A. M. Byers was another outstanding feature of the day, shooting up to a new high at 138½, after an early dip to 125¼, and closing at its high for the day a net advance of 13½ points. Allied Chemical was whipped up from 193 to 199½, the closing price, up 6½ points net.

Others Show Advances.

Other issues to recover and close with net advances ranging from 2 to 7 points included Atlantic Refining, 4¼; Mexican Seaboard Oil, 2¼; Brookway Motor, 2½; Nash, 3¼; American Can, 2½; Rock Island, 2¼; Coty, 2⅝; Electric Auto Lite, 2⅞; General Electric, 2⅛; Gillette Safety Razor, at a net peak, 7; Greene Cananea, 2⅛; Radio, 3¾; Owens Bottle, 2⅝; Paramount, 3¾; Warner common, 3⅛; Warner A, 2⅜; Fox Film A, 2¾; Johns Manville, 2⅜; Montgomery Ward, 4¼; Murray Corporation, 3⅛, and International Tel. & Tel., 2½. On the losing side were International Harvest 5⅛; American Sugar, 2⅜; Adams Express, 10; Motor Products, 4¾; Pan-American Petroleum, 3¼; Purity Bakery, 2⅝; Western Union, 3¼; McCrory B, 6¾; Norfolk & Western, 3; Allis Chalmers, 4, and Midland Steel Products preferred, 6¾.

Selling spread among the rails in the forenoon and some of them failed to rally with the leading industrials in the late trading, but price changes among them, as a rule, were unimportant. Most of the coppers also were slow to rally.

Firmer Money Rates.

The firmer money rates were quite in the natural order of things in view of the month-end requirements. In fact, the case of the past few days seemed to have been rather unexpected. It often has been remarked that the stock market likes tight money better than it does easy money, and certainly it has rallied frequently of late on a rise in the call rate and declined when rates eased off. This contrary action doubtless is due to too much agreement on what the market ought to do on the money rate changes.

Comment on the increase of $54,000,000 in brokers' loans for the past week was mostly to the effect that the gain was smaller than expected. However, the market was irregularly weak, and so large an increase apparently was due largely to the revival of new capital issues.

Foreign exchange dealings were without wide movement and principal currencies remained steady. Sterling started higher, but the rise in money rates here brought some further pressure upon the British rate, with the result that the cable rate fell to $4.85. Whether any gold can be purchased in London for shipment on the Berengaria tomorrow at that figure is extremely doubtful. French francs lost ⅛ and Swiss francs ⅜, while lire improved ⅛ and guilders yielded ½. Important changes were lacking in the Far Eastern and South American groups, although Uruguayan exchange rose 6 points. Canadian dollars, which sold at a slight discount yesterday, returned to par today.

Wall Street Briefs

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—A small increase is shown in the week's new bond offerings amounting to $69,417,000, compared with $65,240,000 the week before and $75,105,000 in the corresponding 1927 week.

Net operating income of the first 61 railroads to report August earnings, aggregated $104,400,000, against $99,955,000 for the same number in August, 1927. Their July net was $78,682,000.

The United States Steel Corporation will begin operation of its wire mill at Ojibway, Ontario, in a few weeks. Semifinished steel will be obtained from the corporation's plants in this country.

August net operating income of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy advanced to $4,707,669, from $4,106,930 in August, 1927, and for eight months this year to $19,888,836, from $17,289,447 in the same period of 1927.

Carle C. Conway, president of Continental Can Co., in a letter to stockholders referring to the 100 per cent stock dividend recently proposed, said surplus on July 31 was $11,154,105. This compares with surplus of $9,626,910 at the close of 1927.

H. O. Barker, of New York, has been elected chairman of the board of Transue & Williams Steel Forging Co., also chairman of the executive committee. Business was splendid, he said, and the outlook exceptionally promising. J. R. Gorman was elected vice president.

The lumber industry reports a net gain of sales for 1928 to date in contrast to a decline of 6 per cent in 1927, the National Lumber Manufacturers Association reports. The encouraging outlook was attributed largely to the effectiveness of the trade extension of various lumber organizations. Reports from 87 mills show an increase in production for the week ended September 22, to 399,868,000 feet and a gain in shipments to 413,932,000 feet, but orders went down to 403,244,000 feet.

The Chesapeake & Ohio's recent order for 45,500 tons of rails was distributed among Illinois Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Inland Steel. The Union Pacific's order for 40,000 tons went to Colorado Fuel & Iron, Illinois Steel and Inland Steel. The Great Northern's for 15,000 tons was given to Inland Steel, Bethlehem Steel and Illinois Steel.

Stockholders of American Tobacco Co. will be asked at the annual meeting October 17 to approve an increase in authorized common stock to 225,000 no par shares from 175,000. Additional stock will be used to pay the 3 per cent stock dividend recently declared and for future corporate purposes.

August net operating income of the Detroit, Toledo & Ironton, Henry Ford's railroad, rose to $338,170 from $63,431 in August last year and to $1,210,819 for eight months of 1928 from $588,120 in the same period of 1927.

E. J. Kulas, president of Otis Steel Co. and Midland Steel Products Co., said on his departure for Europe that steel prices were clearly headed for higher levels.

Consolidated income account of American & Foreign Power Co. for the year ended June 30 shows earnings of $24,177,970, which includes earnings of subsidiaries from acquisition dates only, and net earnings of $12,806,158 before depreciation.

Curb Review

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The curb market was markedly irregular today, as nearly a dozen issues were bid up to new high levels in buying largely on individual developments, while profit taking and week-end adjustments sent a large portion of the list lower. A rise in the call money rate from 4 to 8 per cent was a factor in the selling.

Bancitaly rose nearly 7 points to 132 on the distribution of Bank of America stock, and Columbia graphophone more than 6 points to a new top at 85½ in sympathy with recent strength on the London market. Hygrade Food rose nearly 6 points to a new peak of 49⅜ in buying inspired by reports of increased earnings. Libbey Owens jumped more than 6 points to a new top at 146½ and Checker Cab Franklin Manufacturing Co. and U. S. Asbestos extended their gains in smaller advances.

Sparks Withington encountered heavy realizing after its recent advance and sold down 6 points. Wayne Pump sold down to about 4 points under yesterday's close after touching a new top at 52⅛, and Marion Steam Shovel extended its gain only to encounter selling pressure later. American Rolling Mill also yielded a fraction in profit taking. Bliss, Caterpillar Tractor, Firestone Tire, Hart Parr, Nyles Bement Pond, U. S. Gypsum and others sank 2 to 4 points. Chain stores generally declined, Safeway and Sanitary 15 and 12 points.

Mines were less active, but some improved. Newmont and Phelps Dodge made 3-point gains, while Hudson Bay improved fractionally. Noranda, however, was again in supply.

Oils were generally heavy, although Pantepec was again in demand and Humble improved. Standard of Indiana and Vacuum eased, while Kentucky and Ohio dropped more than a point.

Utilities were less active. American Gas & Electric and Electric Bond & Share were steady, and Middle West jumped 3 points, while Electric Investors and New England Public Service were in supply.

Utilities Suffer Under Profit-Taking; Coppers Pressed for Sale.

FOREIGN LIST IRREGUGLAR

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The bond market was uneasy today under shifting credit conditions. Firmness of prices in early trading, encouraged by lower call money rates, changed to heaviness in the afternoon when the call money rate went to 8 per cent, and banks called upward of $30,000,000 in loans. Time money remained above the 7 per cent level. Total sales were less than $9,000,000. Price trends were irregular throughout the day, with rails as a group holding steady when the general list eased off.

Utilities, which have been strong of late, apparently encountered profit-taking. Brooklyn Union Gas 5½s slid down 11 points, Public Service of New Jersey 4½s more than a point and others showed fractional losses. Coppers were pressed for sale, Anaconda 7s closing nearly 4 points lower and Andes 7s yielding a point.

Dodge Brothers 6s, Pressed Steel Car 5s, Murray Body 6½s and Humble Oil 5s were among the few industrials which gained in the face of declines of a point or more by Barnsdall 6s with warrants, Goodyear Tire 5s, United Drug of Delaware 5s, Liquid Carbonic 6s and National Radiator 6½s.

St. Paul 5s of 2000 were among the few railroad liens to close lower. Louisville & Nashville 4½s, Southern Railway (Memphis division) 5s, and Mobile & Birmingham 4s made net gains of 1 to 4 points. Mobile & Ohio 4½s, New Haven 4½s, Pennsylvania Gold 5s, and Hudson & Manhattan 5s improved fractionally.

The foreign list was irregular and without features. U. S. Government obligations showed some improvement, especially among the Treasury certificates.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—With ocean freight bookings of grain from North America reported today as the largest in months, wheat prices here showed an upward tendency at times. Good export business in bread wheat from Canada and in durum wheat from the United States was noted.

Closing quotations on wheat were irregular, ¼c net lower to ½c advance. Corn finished ¼c off to ⅝@¾c up, oats at ⅛c decline to ⅜c gain, and provisions varying from 22c setback to a rise of 20c.

An outstanding feature today in the wheat trade was the buying support which developed on price breaks both here and at Liverpool. Meanwhile, bullish reports about Russian famine prospects continued to receive notice. In addition authoritative advices were at hand that frost damage to Canadian wheat is proving heavier than was expected, and that there is now no doubt of a substantial part of the Canadian crop being low grade. In this connection, it was pointed out that only seventeen cars in today's Canadian gradings were sufficiently good to rank as No. 1 Northern.

Intimations that new wheat in Argentina would be available by the end of November failed to exert any decided bearish influence. Something of a counterbalance was word that the south Australian government had proclaimed a crisis because of strike riots by dock workers at Adelaide.

Another sustaining factor was a comprehensive summary issued here from milling sources stating that movement of domestic spring wheat is not of a volume in keeping with the estimated size of the crop. Further talk was also current that farmers in the Northwest are storing their wheat in anticipation of higher prices.

Bigger export sales of corn stimulated greater activity and strength today in the market for corn future deliveries. The new crop months advanced notwithstanding estimates from a leading field that despite frosts 90 per cent of the crop has been benefited, and will turn out to be of excellent quality. September corn showed notable weakness at times as a result of selling by scattered holders. Oats held firm owing to smallness of receipts and of country offerings. Provisions were somewhat influenced by upturns in the value of hogs.

Wardman Swells City Tax Receipts

Last-Minute Payment of $242,611 to Bring Total to $12,000,000.

A check for $242,611.11 from the Wardman Construction Co. received yesterday by Chatham M. Towers, collector of taxes, added to the last minute receipts of District taxes.

The Wardman check, signed by Harry Wardman, was in payment of all back taxes and other tax claims of the District and was paid as a part of the refinancing arrangements of the Wardman activities through a bond issue of between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000.

Tax receipts of the District will total $12,000,000 when the first half year payments shall have been added up, Towers estimated yesterday. This estimate, however, was based on receipts in previous years.

Last-minute taxpayers will be given the grace of two and a half extra hours today, the last day on which taxes may be paid without incurring penalties. The collector's and assessor's offices will remain open until 3 o'clock, Towers announced, instead of closing, as usual on Saturdays, at 12:30 p. m. Tax payments sent by mail must be postmarked not later than September 30 to escape the penalty.

North Virginia Seen As Aviation Center

Capital Held Probable Air Focal Point, Bureau Head Predicts.

Northern Virginia last night was pictured as a leading aviation center of the future by C. A. Keefer executive director of the Northern Virginia Bureau, in an address at a dinner of the Alexandria-Arlington-Fairfax Real Estate Board at the Washington Golf and Country Club.

Washington, in all probability, soon will become one of the focal points of world aviation, Keefer said, and northern Virginia's close proximity to the downtown area offers exceptional advantages for development of both airports and industrial plants producing aviation equipment. The speaker pointed out the fact that four commercial airports and an airplane manufacturing plant have been established in the northern Virginia area during the last three years.

Recent developments in aviation indicate the possibility of using smaller landing fields in the future, Keefer said He cautioned the realtors to keep ahead of the time in aviation in order to be able to meet future requirements for airports.

Crops in Page County Are Damaged by Frost

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., Sept. 28.—Thousands of dollars have been lost through frost in Page County this week. The frost caught three-fourths of the corn crop uncut. This is said to damage the corn and fodder 50 per cent for feeding purposes. One-eighth of the tomato crop has been ruined. Ice an eighth of an inch thick formed in different parts of the county.

This was the earliest frost in Page County for the last quarter of a century, according to records kept by cannery owners. The corn has the appearance of having undergone a bleaching process and hundreds of thousands of bushels of tomatoes today are beginning to rot.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—A more favorable view of weather conditions seemed to promote reactionary sentiment in the cotton market today after recent advances, and there was rather a sharp decline in prices. December contracts sold off to 19.00, or 29 points net lower and 35 points below the high level yesterday, and closed at 19.02. The general market closed barely steady at net declines of 17 to 27 points.

The market opened steady at unchanged prices to a decline of 9 points in response to relatively easy cables and more favorable weather news. Some overnight buying orders, attributed to further covering by shorts and some trade demand, were readily supplied and prices showed increasing weakness during midday under liquidation and local or Southern selling.

October contracts declined to 19.01 and March to 18.86, or 26 to 29 points net lower, and while there were rallies from time to time on covering or a renewal of speculative demand, last prices were within a point or two of the lowest on most positions.

Part of the selling was attributed by local probers to a feeling that the advance of more than 2 cents a pound from recent low levels had been sufficient to discount a readjustment of the technical position to reduce crop ideas. There was also talk of a possible increase in Southern offerings at the higher level of prices, and while comparatively little Southern selling was reported during the day, some hedging was in evidence at the opening and again in later trading. Rising temperatures were reported in the South and traders seemed to be looking for more favorable conditions for picking and the movement of cotton to market. Trade interests were reported buyers on a scale down, with the demand supposed to be partly for Japanese account, following reports of recent purchases in the Southwest. The report on grades and staples of cotton ginned prior to September 1 attracted comment late in the afternoon, but was not generally mentioned as a market factor.

Port receipts today, 65,849. United States port stocks, 1,012,624. Exports, 27,381, making 879,408 so far this season.

Private cables reported fair trade calling, supplied by hedging and liquidation in Liverpool, but said there were encouraging sales of cotton cloths for shipment to India.

YANKEES WIN SIXTH AMERICAN LEAGUE PENNANT; CARDS TRIUMPH IN 15TH; CAN CLINCH FLAG TODAY

Giants' Defeat By Cubs Aids St. Louis

Tie for Flag Now Is Worst Possibility of Cardinals.

Score 7 Runs in Last Inning; High's Hit in 9th Ties Score.

BOSTON, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The St. Louis Cardinals finally broke through the splendid defense of Pitcher Bobby Smith, of the Braves, to win in fifteen innings, 10 to 3, this afternoon, making it certain that the Missourians can not lose the National League pennant this season, except in the event of a play-off.

As the Giants lost, the Cardinals now lead the second-place Manhattanites by two full games. Each contender has but two games to play, the Cards one here tomorrow and one at the Polo Grounds Sunday, while the Giants entertain the Cubs again tomorrow afternoon.

It required 3 hours 34 minutes to play today's game at Braves Field. The blow-off came with one out in the fifteenth, when Richbourg, playing right field for the Braves, and who had been putting up a remarkably good game at bat and in the field, made a three-base muff of George Harper's long, high fly. Wilson walked and so did Thevenow. Then Pinchhitter Ray Blades walked and forced in the run which broke the three-all deadlock. That would have been ample to win the game for the visitors.

Farrell made an error on Douthit's hard grounder; Andy High, whose single had driven in the tieing run for the Cards in the Ninth, crashed out a two-bagger; Frisch walked; Bottomley singled, and there was a double steal and the stunning total of seven runs had crossed the plate for the Cardinals.

After Frisch walked, Kent Greenfield succeeded Bob Smith. It was rapidly becoming dark. The Cardinals became nervous lest the inning be prolonged to such an extent that the game would have to be called because of darkness and the score revert to even innings. But the Braves then went out in order.

The fifteenth inning lasted 35 minutes. Hornsby's homer off Alexander in the first inning, scoring Jack Smith ahead of him, gave the Braves their first two runs. Their other run was made on a pass to Mueller in the fourth, two successive sacrifice hits and fielder choice plays, and an infield out.

Boston's 3 to 0 lead looked good. Bob Smith yielded few hits, but was wild. However, in the sixth High, a former Brave, led off with a single and doubles by Bottomley and Hafey gave the invaders two runs. Bob Smith started the ninth by passing Wilson. Orsatti batted for Maranville and was thrown out brilliantly by Hornsby. Holm batted for Alexander and walked.

Douthit fouled to the catcher, but High hit the first pitch lazily to short left center field and Wilson easily scored from second base with the tying run.

Boston had several chances to win the game. In the twelfth, with one out and men on first and second, Muel-

CUB VICTORY BLOW TO GIANTS

Chicago Routs Benton and Genewich to Win, 7-5.

By WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Giant pennant hopes for 1928 were placed neatly in the grave this afternoon, but they won't throw on the dirt until tomorrow. There is still some slight chance that the corpse may come back to life.

The Cubs mussed up Larry Benton in a disgraceful manner this afternoon and showed no better manners when Joseph Genewich was introduced from the mound. Old Jack Scott finally dashed to the rescue in the ninth, but the damage already had been done in the shape of a 7-to-5 victory for the bruins.

The Cards and the Braves were still at it in Boston. Was it possible that the derelict Braves could turn back the leaders. Giant showers waited upon the necessity some 30 steaming young athletes felt of crowding about the ticker in John McGraw's office in the clubhouse, but what they read burned their eyes:

"Natl at Bos—Fifteenth: St. Louis, 7; Bos, 0."

That grand inning gave the forces of William McKechnie the big end of the bacon by 10 to 3, after the Braves had made as if to scurry mischievously off with the winning run on several occasions. It further increased the margin of the Cardinals over the Giants to two full games, with only two more to go.

The race will end with another Cardinal victory or another Giant defeat. All of McGraw's fight will have been in vain if the Cards are strong enough tomorrow simply to push over the Braves. That Sunday game now looks very much like it will be for exercise only.

The Cubs proved annoying to Larry Benton from the start today. Two runs were picked up in the second on Hartnett's force-out of Grimm, who had singled, and safe one-base blows by Beck and English, mixed intelligently with Bush's out. The Giants got to Bush for one run in the home second, but Mike Gonzales and English put the Cubs safely ahead again in the fourth with a pair of home runs.

Singles by Welsh, O'Doul and Ott and a double by Terry netted only two to the New York cause in the fifth, and Benton gave way to a pinch batsman in the eighth. Genewich was rudely assaulted in the ninth, when, among other things, Cuyler tripled with two on. Grimm's single accounted for another run and the Cubs were in the lead by 7 to 3.

True to their tradition, the Giants rallied in the ninth, but the distance was too great. They prodded Bush for two runs, but Hal Carlson spoiled the party before the game could be tied.

MISS VAN WIE IN FINAL TODAY

Miss Collett, Seeking 3d Title, Opponent in U. S. Golf.

ZACHARY P. | HEIMACH P. | MEUSEL O.F.

By BRIAN BELL
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

HOT SPRINGS, Va., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Two long hitters, Glenna Collett, of Providence, and Virginia Van Wie, of Chicago, will have their day in the women's golf championship tomorrow with the national title the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow. Both women can hit a golf ball farther than the average man player and they meet for the championship as a result of their victories today in the semifinals.

Miss Collett has won the championship twice—in 1922 and 1925—while her 19-year-old opponent from Chicago is knocking for the first time at the women's golf hall of fame. The former champion won the right to bid for the title again by defeating Mrs. G. Henry Stetson, Philadelphia, who has also worn the crown, 4 up and 3 to play. Miss Van Wie defeated Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, 2 up, ending the match on the final green.

Miss Collett played a high brand of golf as testified by her score over the first nine. She was out in 36, even 4s and 1 over men's par. Her medal score was 6 under the more liberal allowance for women. She was 7 up at the turn, Mrs. Stetson's best having been halves at two holes.

Coming home, Mrs. Stetson played six holes, 2 under women's par, and by winning three holes and halving two carried the match to the "vanity fair" fifteenth hole in front of the clubhouse before she could be shaken off.

Miss Van Wie, in the meantime, was having to work for her victory over Mrs. Dorothy Campbell Hurd, the sterling Philadelphia player, who has been three times champion of the United States and in addition twice held the title in her native Britain. Mrs. Hurd fought heroically to the last, but this was no novel experience for the slim, young Western girl and she came out victorious. Miss Van Wie has had only one East match in the title hunt and was well acquainted with the eighteenth green as a finishing hole. In three of her four matches she came to it to decide the issue and once went beyond.

The 36-hole final hole test is expected to develop into a titantic struggle for golf supremacy among the women. Miss Collett found herself on the tee yesterday and today and gave an exhibition of driving seldom seen in championship play. Miss Van Wie has been far from short, and her long irons to the greens have had spectators gasping.

In her first nine holes today Miss Collett was hitting tee shots comparable with well-known men players. On every hole where distance was an asset she was well beyond the 200-yard markers and on several holes she was close to the peg indicating 250. Mrs. Stetson fought valiantly as befitted a former champion, but the cause was hopeless.

Miss Van Wie, three down at the tenth, but a perfectly played three at the short eleventh got one of the holes back and another was cut away when Mrs. Hurd had an unplayable lie at the twelfth and had to concede the hole. Mrs. Hurd took three putts at the fourteenth, and the match was a square.

At the 237-yard fifteenth Miss Van Wie placed her tee shot on the green, while Mrs. Hurd sent

Goslin Leads Manush by Fraction Of Point With 2 Games to Play

LEON ("GOOSE") GOSLIN, Washington's premier outfielder, who has been making a strong bid for the batting championship throughout the entire 1928 campaign is finding considerable trouble holding on to his slender lead during the waning days of the season.

By connecting for two safe blows out of three official times at bat in yesterday's game Goslin raised his average to .3772 while Heine Manush, the Brown star ran his average to .3766 as the result of his .750 performance for the day with three safe blows in four trips plateward.

With both teams having two games left to play, it is evident that each player will put forth every effort to cop the coveted honor. A repetition of last season's climax act is forseen as it was in the final game of the season that Harry Heilman wrested the leadership from Al Simmons.

ROUTIS BEATS CANZONERI FOR TITLE

French Featherweight Wins World Crown in Gallant Finish.

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Sept. 28.—With one of the most spectacular finishes staged in many a day, Andre Routis, fiery little French fighter, won the featherweight championship of the world tonight from Tony Canzoneri, New York Italian, in a slashing 15-round match in Madison Square Garden.

Routis staged his comeback after nearly being knocked out in the first round. He was floored in the first two minutes of the fight by a terrific right hook that swung him clear around and to the floor with a thud. Only the Frenchman's unusual powers of endurance enabled him to weather the storm of gloves that struck him from every direction during the rest of the opening round.

The champion, by the end of the seventh, as he outpunched and outboxed the challenger, appeared to have a lead that was insurmountable. At least it might have been so against any fighter of less rugged caliber or persistence than Routis.

The Frenchman never gave up. When he realized, after the seventh, that Canzoneri was tiring fast, he leaped in with a ferocity that quickly turned the tide and put Toney on the defensive.

Routis won seven of the last eight rounds, but his furious, two-fisted attack in the last four proved the decisive factor. He pounded the champion's body ceaselessly and frequently connected with short hooks that shook the chunky little Italian.

At the finish, however, it was so close that the officials were unable to agree. One judge cast his ballot for Canzoneri but the other judge, together with Referee Eddie Forbes, decided the fight in favor of the Frenchman. On the Associated Press scorecard Routis was given seven rounds, and Canzoneri six, with two even.

NATS CLINCH 4TH DESPITE DEFEAT

Goslin Hits Homer to Tie; Error Aids as Browns Win, 4-3.

Special to The Washington Post.

ST. LOUIS, Sept. 28.—Fourth place in the American League was clinched by Washington today, despite its defeat at the hands of the Browns, 4 to 3. The three-game lead which the Nats held over the White Sox this morning was preserved when the Chicago team took a beating from the Athletics with only two more games on the schedule for the fourth-place rivals.

Chief interest of the Washington team now concerns the furious batting duel for the American League crown between Goose Goslin and Heinie Manush. Manush gained an edge today when he connected three times in four appearances at the plate, while Goslin was banging out two safeties in three tries.

The Nats lost the game in the eighth inning after Goslin hit a home run to tie the score. Cronin booted O'Rourke's easy grounder to start the frame. Manush poked a single past short when Cronin moved over to take the throw as O'Rourke started to steal. McGowan sacrificed. Kress walked and the bases were full. Melillo sent a fly to West in short center and the bags were still loaded. But McNeely kept up the bombardment on Cronin by hitting a hot bounder that the shortstop fielded, but could not throw home, and had to be satisfied with a force out of Melillo. O'Rourke scoring the winning run on the play.

Braxton wasn't good enough to be called effective in the early innings, Blue, O'Rourke and Manush hitting in succession to open the game. A double steal went over after Blue tallied on the third bingle and O'Rourke came over while Cronin was throwing out a runner.

Huggmen Beat Tigers, 11-6, In Climax

Pipgras Goes Route; 4 Detroit Hurlers Are Hammered.

DETROIT, Mich., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Yankees clinched their sixth American League pennant and their third in succession by defeating the Tigers here today by 11 to 6 in the third game of the series. The Athletics won from Chicago, 7 to 5, but the Yankees gained a lead of two and a half games with only two more to be played by each of the contenders.

George William Pipgras, a leading cog in the Yankees' remnants of a pitching staff, but a failure until today on this trip West, turned in the flag-winning victory. The Tigers prodded him hard, but he had a good lead from the start. Gibson, Stoner, Smith and Page failed to stop the Yankees. Ruth hit his fifty-third homer in the eighth with Koenig on base. Page was in the box for Detroit.

Only a landslide now could give the Babe enough homers in his two remaining games for him even to tie his major-league record of 60 set last year, but he may possibly get two more to make his 1928 his third best season.

The Yankees first won the American League championship in 1921 and proceeded to reel off three in a row. Then, after a second-place finish in 1924 and a dip to seventh in 1925, the club regained the top in 1926 for the start of its second run of three. By wining six flags the Yankees move into a tie with the Athletics and the Red Sox, each of whom took six in their palmy days.

The winning campaign of the Yankees falls naturally into three divisions. Through the first two months they were invincible, winning 39 and losing only 8, for a percentage of .830. Experts were likening them to the famous Cubs, who won 116 games in 1906, and wondered how badly the champions would shatter that mark.

Some estimates ran as high as 125 games. They were thankful today to win their one hundredth.

Then came the awakening. The Yanks stumbled along at a gait of about .550 for the next six weeks, but the Athletics did little better. Even while they were skidding the champions retained their strange power to defeat the Athletics when and where they willed. A double victory over the Macks at the Ruppert Stadium on July 1 gave Miller Huggins an advantage of thirteen and one-half games.

Next came the closing phase of the Yankee battle—the long war of attrition in which the Yankees fought not so much to win as to keep from losing. The Athletics started on their way up and finally dislodged the champions by half a game on Saturday, September 8. Barring a few days early in the last three campaigns, it was the first time the Yankees had been out of the lead in three seasons.

The Mackmen moved confidently into the Yankee Stadium for four battles in three playing days, but found the Yankees still possessed their knack of winning from Philadelphia when no other team would yield. The Huggmen regained the lead and broke the back of the Athletic drive by taking three out of four to run their season's record against the challengers to sixteen victories and only six defeats.

That finished the Athletics. The Yankees gave them other chances to recoup in the West, but the A's themselves were faltering. Millions of fans were pulling for the Athletics, but that final debacle at the Ruppert Stadium weaned many of these from the challengers.

Almost everybody felt that if the Athletics did win after such a rout that the better team would be defeated.

Of the Yankees, champions of 1921, only Miller Huggins, the midget manager, Waite Hoyt, Babe Ruth and Bob Meusel remain. Hoyt, in particular, deserves great credit for his labor in pulling through a team which in a season lost a Ruether, a Shocker and a Moore, and had to finish without Pen-

MAXIVA WINS "GRAW" MATRON HANDICAP IN GALLOP

Fifth to Reigh Olga; Long Point Scores at Long Odds.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 28.—The racing colors of V. Kaiser went to victory in the feature race at the "Graw" today, when Maxiva, the 5-year-old daughter of Golden Maxim-Kiva, ridden by Jockey Eddie Watters, won the Matron Handicap. This was a mile and 70 yards test and Maxiva raced brilliantly to earn the decision from La Diva, of the Mack Adam Stable, which she beat to the wire by half a length. Two lengths behind flashed Pink Lily, from the Foxcatcher Farms, favored in the betting. Dear Inez finished fourth in a field of six starters. The race was run in the excellent time of 1:43 4-5.

Bright skies and clear weather greeted those in attendance. The racing strip was again in perfect condition with fast time being recorded in the various events. Favorites began to score early and the crowd was in a jovial mood.

Maxiva beat the others away from the gate when the webbing rose, but lost the lead to Pink Lily rounding the clubhouse turn. Dear Inez was running third and the balance of the field, well bunched, close behind. Nearing the half pole, Maxiva went to the front with a terrific burst of speed, passing Pink Lily as though she was standing still. La Diva moved into second place rounding the turn for home. Pink Lily's performance was a disappointment to the crowd, which backed her to the limit. The balance of the field was badly outrun.

Eight maiden 2-year-olds, racing at 6 furlongs, met in the opening dash with some fair juveniles participating. Coin Collector, off a little tardy, but showing extreme speed in the stretch, led the field to the wire under a capable ride by Jockey P. Walls.

He put the Sagamore Stable's son of Golden Guinea over two and a half lengths ahead of Fair Vena, with Lieut. Russell third.

An unwieldy field faced the starter for the second race, and, after some delay, the fourteen platers were dispatched in good alignment. The race provided a stirring finish when Jockey George Fields brought E. R. Bryson's Angry Mood home first to beat Sun Sweeper by a half a length. A length and a half behind Sun Sweeper came Bond Slave to finish third.

The Chatelaine purse, introduced as the third race, was for 2-year-old fillies at 5½ furlongs. On her Toes, from the Glen Riddle Stable, made a show of her opposition, galloping in front all the way to win easily in 1:07. The balance of the field was strung out like a parade. Dinah Did Upset was second, two lengths behind the leader, with Black Alice third, a head behind. The race incidentally rang up the second victory of the afternoon for Jockey P. Walls, who had the mount on the winner.

B. S. Mitchell saddled the winner of the Perryville, listed as the fifth race on the program, when he sent O. Lehman's Reigh Olga to the post for the mile and seventy yards test. This was an easy victory for the son of Sunreigh and he had no trouble leading McLean's fleet Portia to the wire by three lengths to win in 1:44 1-5. Behind Portia, Justa Pal to finish third.

Portia set all the pace from the break of the barrier, leading well into the stretch run but folded up in the final test. Bejshak rode a beautiful race on the winner, sending the 3-year-old Reigh Olga to the front at the proper time to get the decision.

Cudgeller, from the Guy Bedwell stable, showed a noteworthy performance in winning the sixth race of a mile and an eighth, leading Marat and Red Leather to the wire in 1:54 4-5.

COLLYER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

BY BERT E. COLLYER

$20,000 HANDICAP.

Down at Havre de Grace this afternoon, we have this as the piece de resistance at one and one-eighth miles and for which sixteen first-class racers were named overnight. Of the lot CRUSADER is accorded the place of honor and, in some quarters, it is argued that he has a trifle the best of the weights. OSMAND, in rare form, is given one pound more than VICTORIAN, the pride of the Whitney establishment. The dangerous outsider, according to the clockers is SUN BEAU, a winner at the meeting over Victorian. Personally I fancy OSMAND, which with his burning speed will be almost sure to be out of all early trouble. CENTAUR is another that seems to stand out. He is named in the sixth. Any old price would seem to be a good one about this clever racer. There was also quite a considerable play on KULAMAN, a sleeper, which was put over as a real "good thing" out at Hawthorne's summer meeting.

Out at Lincoln Fields this afternoon the headliner is the Prairie Stakes, for 2-year-olds, at 7 furlongs. Alderman Coughlin has a pair named, KARL EITEL and ANTON CEREMAK, while the Three D's Stable also has an entry in DOUBLE HEART and YAM TOY. The latter is the real sleeper of the race. The "oil merchant" paid a fancy price for this trick. In this respect, however, I am not accepting KARL EITEL'S last any too seriously. In the event the going turns muddy, SANKARI will be a real good thing. He is finer than split silk.

Over at Toronto, where the curtain drops on Canadian racing for the year, they have programmed the rich Jockey Club Cup, one of the real classics of racing. It is at 1½ miles, and for which the Seagram entry of GAFFSMAN and SIR HARRY rule favorite. However, it is just possible the race may be productive of an upset, with HARRY BAKER and ENDLESS most fancied. More anon.

Rochester Evens Series; Beats Indianapolis, 10-5

Rochester, N. Y., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Rochester evened the count in the little world series with Indianapolis today, winning, 10 to 5, in the second tilt of the series. Four Indianapolis pitchers faced the Red Wings, who got to them for 13 hits. The decisive scoring came in the sixth, when Manager Southworth rapped out a triple with the bases full.

$20,000 RACE AT "GRAW" TODAY

Victorian Favorite in Feature; 3 Other Stake Races.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., Sept. 28.—A card of unusual brilliance is offered the racing fans for the final day of racing at the "Graw." The high spot in tomorrow's program is the Havre de Grace Handicap, a test of a mile and one furlong, for 3-year-olds and upward, with an added value of $20,000 and a gold cup. The handicap dates back to 1912 when Adams Express, ridden by Jockey H. Shilling, won the initial event.

Last year the racing classic was won by Chance Play, with Louis Morris in the saddle. Edith Cavell was second, with Bostonian a close third.

Sixteen thoroughbreds have been named to parade to the post which includes the cream of American turf stars. The field, which is evenly matched, includes such favorites as Victorian, Osmand, Edith Cavell, Crusader, One Hour, Sun Beau, a victor over Victorian in the Potomac, Display and Ironsides.

The race may see Black Panther, Victorian, Crusader and Osmond in a struggle down to the wire. They should finish in the order named.

Three other features offer attractions for the week-end visitor. The Evergreen, a dash of a mile for 2-year-olds, may furnished a winner in the Whitney entry of Zoom and Cadyhill.

In the Eclipse Handicap for 3-year-olds and up, over, 6 furlongs the word is to string along with Nor'easter, with Tantivy a close second. The Boulevard, for 3-year-olds, at a mile and 70 yards, will see possibly nine horses of equal quality go to the post. Corporal looks like money from home here. His works have been excellent and he is at the top of his form.

The balance of the program is made up of claiming affairs, with the usual 2-year-old scramble opening the day's racing.

COIN COLLECTOR, rated off pace till called upon, quickly circled field to assume command and won going away. FAIR VENA raced SEARCHER into early defeat, drew clear but could not stall off the winner. LIEUT. RUSSELL, on the outside most of trip, closed some ground in the stretch run. ISLAND LAD finished with a belated rush. SEARCHER stopped badly after showing flash of early speed. HARVARD, well up all the way, had no excuses.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ANGRY MOOD, $5.30, $3.40, $3.10; SUN SWEEPER, $6.30, $4.10; BOND SLAVE, $13.70.

ANGRY MOOD, blocked when attempting to slip through on inside, was then taken to outside rounding turn, closed gamely in home stretch to wear down SUN SWEEPER. Latter raced AVERSION into defeat, drew clear in stretch, but weakened right at end. BOND SLAVE, escaping interference on the turn early held the others. AVERSION tired after going five furlongs. JIM CROW, in close quarters leaving the back stretch, had to take up. LUCKY DRIFT stopped.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—ON HER TOES, $3.10, $2.30, $2.10; DINAH DID UPSET, $2.60, $2.20; BLACK ALICE, $2.60.

ON HER TOES took command at break, made every post a winning one to win as rider pleased. DINAH DID UPSET moved into contention going down back stretch, made game effort to overhaul leader, but was again doing best at end to stall off BLACK ALICE. Latter, far back in early running, closed with a belated rush in the stretch. SUN O' CHEN broke well and raced forwardly for the first half-mile then tired.

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $2,000. The Matron handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good and fast. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:52. Off at 3:52. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MAXIVA, $6.20, $3.70, $2.50; LA DIVA, $10.00, $4.10; PINK LILY, $2.80.

MAXIVA broke in motion, was rated along behind pacemaker until midway back stretch, easily moved into command, drew away at leisure and won with much in reserve. LA DIVA began slowly, made up ground quickly on the outside rounding far turn, easily disposed of PINK LILY for the place. Latter rushed to lead at first turn, set the pace on sufferance, finished gamely, though tiring. DEAR INEZ raced under restraint to half-mile pole.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,300. The Perryville. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:21. Off at 4:26. Winner, O. Lehman's br. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—REIGH OLGA, $6.20, $3.90, $2.80; PORTIA, $3.70, $2.70; JUSTA PAL, $3.60.

REIGH OLGA, rated behind PORTIA until entering home stretch, came to outside as leader and won with much to spare. PORTIA rushed to front at start, set fast pace, drew away again on turn, but commenced to weaken in stretch drive and was doing best to outlast JUSTA PAL. Latter, far back for first three-quarters, closed with a belated rush.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300. Claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Gunlash. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:51. Off at 4:55. Winner, H. G. MAXIVA WINS "GRAW" MATRON HANDICAP IN GALLOP

Fifth to Reigh Olga; Long Point Scores at Long Odds.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Sept. 28.—The racing colors of V. Kaiser went to victory in the feature race at the "Graw" today, when Maxiva, the 5-year-old daughter of Golden Maxim-Kiva, ridden by Jockey Eddie Watters, won the Matron Handicap. This was a mile and 70 yards test and Maxiva raced brilliantly to earn the decision from La Diva, of the Mack Adam Stable, which she beat to the wire by half a length. Two lengths behind flashed Pink Lily, from the Foxcatcher Farms, favored in the betting. Dear Ines finished fourth in a field of six starters. The race was run in the excellent time of 1:43 4-5.

Bright skies and clear weather greeted those in attendance. The racing strip was again in perfect condition with fast time being recorded in the various events. Favorites began to score early and the crowd was in a jovial mood.

Maxiva beat the others away from the gate when the webbing rose, but lost the lead to Pink Lily rounding the clubhouse turn. Dear Ines was running third and the balance of the field, well bunched, close behind. Nearing the half pole, Maxiva went to the front with a terrific burst of speed, passing Pink Lily as though she was standing still. La Diva moved into second place rounding the turn for home. Pink Lily's performance was a disappointment to the crowd, which backed her to the limit. The balance of the field was badly outrun.

Eight maiden 2-year-olds, racing at 6 furlongs, met in the opening dash with some fair juveniles participating. Coin Collector, off a little tardy, but showing extreme speed in the stretch, led the field to the wire under a capable ride by Jockey P. Walls.

He put the Sagamore Stable's son of Golden Guinea over two and a half lengths ahead of Fair Vena, with Lieut. Russell third.

An unwieldy field faced the starter for the second race, and, after some delay, the fourteen platers were dispatched in good alignment. The race provided a stirring finish when Jockey George Fields brought E. R. Bryson's Angry Mood home first to beat Sun Sweeper by a half a length. A length and a half behind Sun Sweeper came Bond Slave to finish third.

The Chatelaine purse, introduced as the third race, was for 2-year-old fillies at 5½ furlongs. On her Toes, from the Glen Riddle Stable, made a show of her opposition, galloping in front all the way to win easily in 1:07. The balance of the field was strung out like a parade. Dinah Did Upset was second, two lengths behind the leader, with Black Alice third, a head behind. The race incidentally rang up the second victory of the afternoon for Jockey P. Walls, who had the mount on the winner.

B. S. Mitchell saddled the winner of the Perryville, listed as the fifth race on the program, when he sent O. Lehman's Reigh Olga to the post for the mile and seventy yards test. This was an easy victory for the son of Sunreigh and he had no trouble leading McLean's fleet Portia to the wire by three lengths to win in 1:44 1-5. Behind Portia, Justa Pal to finish third.

Portia set all the pace from the break of the barrier, leading well into the stretch run but folded up in the final test. Bejshak rode a beautiful race on the winner, sending the 3-year-old Reigh Olga to the front at the proper time to get the decision.

Cudgeller, from the Guy Bedwell stable, showed a noteworthy performance in winning the sixth race of a mile and an eighth, leading Marat and Red Leather to the wire in 1:54 4-5.

Long Point, racing for E. E. Rhodes, mastered a rather ordinary band of platers in the closing number of a mile and a sixteenth. He scored by a head on the thrilling finish over Yachtsman, the favorite, with Drama finishing third.

COLLYER'S COMMENTS on the SPORT of KINGS

By BERT E. COLLYER

$20,000 HANDICAP.

Down at Havre de Grace this afternoon, we have this as the piece de resistance at one and one-eighth miles and for which sixteen first-class racers were named overnight. Of the lot CRUSADER is accorded the place of honor and, in some quarters, it is argued that he has a trifle the best of the weights. OSMAND, in rare form, is given one pound more than VICTORIAN, the pride of the Whitney establishment. The dangerous outsider, according to the clockers is SUN BEAU, a winner at the meeting over Victorian. Personally I fancy OSMAND, which with his burning speed will be almost sure to be out of all early trouble. CENTAUR is another that seems to stand out. He is named in the sixth. Any old price would seem to be a good one about this clever racer. There was also quite a considerable play on KULAMAN, a sleeper, which was put over as a real "good thing" out at Hawthorne's summer meeting.

Out at Lincoln Fields this afternoon the headliner is the Prairie Stakes, for 2-year-olds, at 7 furlongs. Alderman Coughlin has a pair named, KARL EITEL and ANTON CEREMAK, while the Three D's Stable also has an entry in DOUBLE HEART and YAM TOY. The latter is the real sleeper of the race. The "oil merchant" paid a fancy price for this trick. In this respect, however, I am not accepting KARL EITEL'S last any too seriously. In the event the going turns muddy, SANKARI will be a real good thing. He is finer than split silk.

Over at Toronto, where the curtain drops on Canadian racing for the year, they have programmed the rich Jockey Club Cup, one of the real classics of racing. It is at 1½ miles, and for which the Seagram entry of GAFFSMAN and SIR HARRY rule favorite. However, it is just possible the race may be productive of an upset, with HARRY BAKER and ENDLESS most fancied. More anon.

$20,000 RACE AT "GRAW" TODAY

Victorian Favorite in Feature; 3 Other Stake Races.

Special to The Washington Post.

HAVRE DE GRACE RACE TRACK, Md., Sept. 28.—A card of unusual brilliance is offered the racing fans for the final day of racing at the "Graw." The high spot in tomorrow's program is the Havre de Grace Handicap, a test of a mile and one furlong, for 3-year-olds and upward, with an added value of $20,000 and a gold cup. The handicap dates back to 1912 when Adams Express, ridden by Jockey H. Shilling, won the initial event.

Last year the racing classic was won by Chance Play, with Louis Morris in the saddle. Edith Cavell was second, with Bostonian a close third.

Sixteen thoroughbreds have been named to parade to the post which includes the cream of American turf stars. The field, which is evenly matched, includes such favorites as Victorian, Osmand, Edith Cavell, Crusader, One Hour, Sun Beau, a victor over Victorian in the Potomac, Display and Ironsides.

The race may see Black Panther, Victorian, Crusader and Osmond in a struggle down to the wire. They should finish in the order named.

Three other features offer attractions for the week-end visitor. The Evergreen, a dash of a mile for 2-year-olds, may furnished a winner in the Whitney entry of Zoom and Cadyhill.

In the Eclipse Handicap for 3-year-olds and up, over, 6 furlongs the word is to string along with Nor'easter, with Tantivy a close second. The Boulevard, for 3-year-olds, at a mile and 70 yards, will see possibly nine horses of equal quality go to the post. Corporal looks like money from home here. His works have been excellent and he is at the top of his form.

The balance of the program is made up of claiming affairs, with the usual 2-year-old scramble opening the day's racing.

ANGRY MOOD, blocked when attempting to slip through on inside, was then taken to outside rounding turn, closed gamely in home stretch to wear down SUN SWEEPER. Latter raced AVERSION into defeat, drew clear in stretch, but weakened right at end. BOND SLAVE, escaping interference on the turn early held the others. AVERSION tired after going five furlongs. JIM CROW, in close quarters leaving the back stretch, had to take up. LUCKY DRIFT stopped.

THIRD RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. Purse, $1,300. The Chatelaine. For 2-year-old fillies. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:21. Off at 3:24. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ON HER TOES, $3.10, $2.30, $2.10; DINAH DID UPSET, $2.60, $2.20; BLACK ALICE, $2.60.

ON HER TOES took command at break, made every post a winning one to win as rider pleased. DINAH DID UPSET moved into contention going down back stretch, made game effort to overhaul leader, but was again doing best at end to stall off BLACK ALICE. Latter, far back in early running, closed with a belated rush in the stretch. SUN O' CHEN broke well and raced forwardly for the first half-mile then tired.

FOURTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $2,000. The Matron handicap. For 3-year-olds and upward, fillies and mares. Start good and fast. Won easily; place, same. Went to post at 3:52. Off at 3:52. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MAXIVA, $6.20, $3.70, $2.50; LA DIVA, $10.00, $4.10; PINK LILY, $2.80.

MAXIVA broke in motion, was rated along behind pacemaker until midway back stretch, easily moved into command, drew away at leisure and won with much in reserve. LA DIVA began slowly, made up ground quickly on the outside rounding far turn, easily disposed of PINK LILY for the place. Latter rushed to lead at first turn, set the pace on sufferance, finished gamely, though tiring. DEAR INEZ raced under restraint to half-mile pole.

FIFTH RACE—One mile and 70 yards. Purse, $1,300. The Perryville. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:21. Off at 4:26. Winner, O. Lehman's br. c. Two-dollar mutuels paid—REIGH OLGA, $6.20, $3.93, $2.80; PORTIA, $3.70, $2.70; JUSTA PAL, $3.60.

REIGH OLGA, rated behind PORTIA until entering home stretch, came to outside as leader and won with much to spare. PORTIA rushed to front at start, set fast pace, drew away again on turn, but commenced to weaken in stretch drive and was doing best to outlast JUSTA PAL. Latter, far back for first three-quarters, closed with a belated rush.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300. Claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good for all but Gunlash. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:51. Off at 4:55. Winner, H. G. COACH LITTLE SHIFTS G. U. LINE-UP FOR DEBUT TODAY

3 Sophomores In Hilltop Back Field

Mt. St. Mary's Here for Opening Game at Ball Park.

Duplin Only Veteran Back in Line-up; Bozek Ready.

By ARTHUR A. HEYWOOD.

GEORGETOWN UNIVERSITY will inaugurate its forty-first year of intercollegiate football competition at American League Park this afternoon at 2 o'clock in its game against Mount St. Mary's.

Remembering its last game with the Mountaineers in 1926, which the Hilltoppers won by less than the margin of a touchdown, the squad is set to meet any kind of opposition today, and fortunately Coach Little will have the services of practically every member. Dwyer, who was internally injured during the week, is the only player absolutely out. Morris and Zimowski, centers, are in playing condition, while Schmidt, a back who was expected to start, has a twisted ankle, but may see service in part of the game.

The Hilltop coach announced a change in his starting line-up last night when he named Leary and Williams for the two half back positions, and Duplin a full back. If Barabas or Hudak are not shoved into the line-up at the last minute three of the Georgetown back field will be sophomores as Scalzi, a newcomer, is sure to pilot the team, making Duplin the only veteran.

Georgetown's power will rest in the fact that it will have a strong and experienced line. Wynkoop, who stepped into the breach last week, when Morris and Zimowski were hurt, will start at center, with Carroll and Liston the guards, Mooney and Cordovano at tackle and Provincial and Tomaini on end.

The game today will be more or less of a test for Georgetown. Mount St. Mary's is coming here led by the veteran Ryscavage who will play at center and comes with the reputation of a team that plays hard football. A victory for the Mountaineers over Georgetown, a team which was rated high in intercollegiate ranks last year, would give them a big boost. Mike Tracey, a Washington boy and former Gonzaga star will call signals for the visitors

The Georgetown coaches hope that the team will be able to take an early and a commanding lead so that they will be able to play a number of members they are anxious to see in action William Maczees, an excellent broken field runner and passer; Borek, Gardner, Cunningham, W. Mooney and Fitzgerald, the latter the only Washington boy on the squad, are the new backs, while Flood, White, Morris, Driscoll Muir, Montanus and McCarthy will be among the first of the linesmen to see service if the score permits.

Army Sends 4 Untried Players Against Boston

Special to The Washington Post.

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 28.—Capt. L. Mc. Jones, head coach of the Army team, announced today that preparations for the opening game of the season with Boston University tomorrow afternoon in the West Point Stadium had been completed. This afternoon light signal practice was held in an effort to further smooth out the various plays. "Biff" Jones and his corps of assistants are far from satisfied with the present team where four positions are filled with inexperienced men.

G. W. Gridmen Idle Today; Dahlgren Cancels Game

DUE to the inability of the Dahlgren Naval Base to place a full team on the field, George Washington will be forced to lay idle today, with the Fordham game in New York, one of the hardest tests the Colonials will face this season, only a week away.

It was expected until a late hour that Dahlgren would fill its vacancies with Marine players, and for this reason Coach Crum was unable to schedule another game. Taking the only other recourse, the Georgetown mentor sent his men through a stiff scrimmage on the Tidal Basin field.

With seven new men in the line-up, the Colonials did not look any too impressive in view of the kind of opposition they will face next Saturday. Fordham has its strongest team in years and Maj. Cavanaugh, who went to the New York school last year, has thoroughly drilled his system into his men.

Of the George Washington squad, Allahouse and Carey, ends; Van Meter, a tackle; Athey, a center, and Clapper, a back, are the only experienced men.

Army-Navy to Mend Break In Time for 1930 Grid Game

By ALAN J. GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The now historic Army-Navy break in athletic relations, it develops on the eve of their 1928 football season, is likely to be patched up much sooner than has generally been expected.

It is even possible, though not likely that the two service schools will effect a reconciliation and get together on the gridiron this season, in spite of the fact that both have arranged rugged and independent schedules as a result of the rift that occurred last winter If not, it is now considered certain that they will resume football relations in 1930.

The primary basis for this unexpected outlook for peace, it is understood, will be a complete reversal of the Navy's stand on the three-year varsity player principle—the rock on which the academies split. The paramount motive, however, will be to restore harmony and regain public confidence in the ability of the Nation's foremost service institutions to get along together.

In other words, as the situation is outlined authoritatively to the Associated Press, Annapolis authorities, having failed to effect any compromise agreement on the issue of athletic eligibility requirements, will concede West Point's right to play its men, regardless of how much previous college experience they have had.

Just when these prospective developments may take definite form is speculative. Officially, neither academy has committed itself to a positive move toward peace. In fact, West Point, standing pat as it has from the start, has permitted the impression to go out that it sees no immediate hope of a renewal of relations with Annapolis.

This much, however, is certain—that an overwhelming sentiment exists at both academies, among officers as well as cadets and midshipmen for a speedy peace and renewal of athletic relations in all branches of sport; that the new heads of the two institutions, Maj. Gen. Smith and Rear Admiral Robison, both are sympathetic with this sentiment; and that both will seize the first appropriate chance to effect a reconciliation.

It is understood, in fact, that Gen. Smith and Admiral Robison already have had some discussion of ways and means of bringing this reconciliation about.

Kozeluh and Richards Play Today for Title

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Kozeluh and Richards, respectively professional tennis champions of Europe and of the United States, will clash in the final of the American title tournament tomorrow. On form and the record of their series abroad, the title of this Nation is about to pass to the holding of the Czechoslovakian Koseluh in his semifinal today against Harvey Snodgrass, the Californian, played cat and mouse most of the time, winning in straight sets, 8—6, 6—2, 6—1. He practiced shots as if in anticipation of Richards' net assaults He was, however, easily master of the rallies and his wealth of stroke production today is not likely to let down.

Kid Williams Beats Guglimini on Points

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 28.—Experience and strength saved Kid Williams in the feature bout with Louis Guglimini, of Washington, at River View Park tonight and enabled the former to gain the decision after an opening round that was a rocky and thorny path for the Baltimore veteran.

American U. Gridmen At Gettysburg Today

The American University Football Team took a short signal and passing drill yesterday preparatory to departing for Gettysburg, Pa., where it is slated to face Gettysburg in its opening game of the season today.

Coach Springston last night had not fully decided upon his complete line-up, but the back field combination sure to start will be Milton Crist at quarter back, Milton Folston at full back, with George Olson and Lynn Corson completing the quartet. Capt. Donald Bittinger, an end, will attempt to put fight into the forward wall. He and Le Favre, a tackle, will be the only experienced men in the line. Henry Johnson, a former Central star, is sure to start at center. Charles Lowe on end, Thomas Marton and Roland Parrish at guard and Lambert at the other tackle position.

C. U. ELEVEN IN DRILL AT BOSTON

Cardinals Impress in Practice for Boston College Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 28.—The lid comes off the Boston College football season tomorrow and, when the Eagles line up against Catholic University at Fenwick Park, Head Coach Joe McKenney will start a team of seven veterans and four sophomores.

Catholic University comes here with a fairly light team, but a glance at the squad in a workout at Fenway Park today indicated that it will be fast and has a dependable trio of ball carriers in Capt. Jim Schmidt, Joe Champa and Jack Malevich.

Tomorrow's appearance will be Catholic University's first in Boston since its defeat two years ago by an eleven coached by Maj. Cavanaugh and captained by McKinney, Coach Jack McAuliffe has an alert team, one that intends to capitalize its speed and shiftiness in a passing game. The passes probably will be thrown by Gene Murphy.

Boston College goes into the fray with an eleven that may be ranked as fair until it receives this competitive test. The line has weight and speed. McKenney expects great work from the veteran tackles, Capt. Warren McGuirk and Peter Herman.

McGuirk is starting his fourth year on the frontier. He has participated in every game without taking any time out. Herman is a junior.

The struggle for line positions has diverted attention from the make-up of the Boston College back field, but most of the team's strength will be found there. Al Weston, Pat Creeden, Johnny Marr and Tom Smith present a formidable quartet.

Business High to Play Emerson Eleven Today

Football in District high and prep school circles gets under way locally today when the Business and Emerson Elevens clash on the Sixteenth street reservoir field at 2:30 o'clock. Both teams engaged in last-minute drills yesterday. Coaches Woodworth and Banfield were undecided as to their starting line-ups, but indicated that every available man on their squads would see action.

Among those in the Business line-up will be Mahoney, Cohen, Loftus and Kengla, ends; Finley, Reid and Miller, tackles; Denniberg, Brown and Hargett, guards; Marks or Linwood Jones, center; Capt. Jakie Lewis, quarter back, and Rich, Duryee, Lester Jones, Reichardt, Katzman, Biondi and Shapiro, backs. Coach Paul Banfield will probably pick Baker and Buscher, ends; Rigg and Krick, tackles; Gordon and Shugrue, guards; Trilling, center; Dan Galotta, quarter back, and Colley, Bird and Darby, backs.

200 Fans See Russell Shut Out Indians, 1 to 0

Cleveland, Ohio, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Before less than 200 cash customers Jack Russell, Boston hurler, emerged victorious in a pitching battle with Wesley Farrell, of the Indians, today, defeating the Tribe, 1 to 0.

Loepp's triple in the first inning was responsible for the only run of the game. The attendance was said to have been the smallest here in many a season.

By W. CHARLES QUANT
(Post's Baseball Statistician).

BABE RUTH, the greatest drawing card of the diamond, will be seen cavorting about in right field at the Yankee Stadium when the series opens next Wednesday, and, incidentally, he will break another record by starting his eighth fall classic.

Though "The Babe" is not at the top of the heap in the statistical average standing of the right fielders that are liable to appear in the series, he can not be overlooked as the outstanding star of the group. Always dangerous in the pinch, the "Sultan of Swat" has redeemed himself in past series games and has been a big help to the Yankees in annexing a number of world's titles.

During the past 152 games which he has participated in Ruth has connected for 170 safe blows for a total-base mark of 373. Among his hits are numbered 53 home runs, the best mark of the year, and only seven behind the world's record, 28 two-base hits and 8 triples. This collection of hits has been responsible for 144 runs being driven in while he himself has tallied on 161 occasions.

In the field Ruth has accepted more than 300 chances, by far more than the number accepted by any of the other contenders, and he has been charged with but seven errors. Ruth is even more the fielder than the figures would indicate. He has a fine throwing arm and can always sense the situation at hand and is seldom seen to return the ball to the wrong position in the infield with men on the base paths.

The Cardinals will probably divide series duty between George Harper, the former Giant veteran, and Ernest Orsatti, the rookie who has performed well since returning from the minors this season and who last season showed the promise of a great player in the waning weeks of the campaign.

Harper has been hitting the ball at less than .300, but has been looked upon as a good hitter in the pinch while his fielding has been a great help to the Cardinal cause. He has been charged with but four errors in over 200 chances accepted.

The work of Orsatti in the few games he has played this season has been exceptionally good, but they are too few upon whom to base a comparison with the other contenders. It is here that the Cards have an uncertain quantity as the former International leaguer may prove to be the hero while again he might be the dub.

Should the Giants still come through on their mathematical possibility and cop the National league flag, McGraw's right field choice would alternate between Melvin Ott and Leslie Mann.

Ott, a youngster to the game, is a good hitter, having batted well over .300 all season, and also is a fair fielder. Despite these good qualities he is below par in returning balls from the outer garden due to a weak arm.

The same holds true to Mann in reference to his arm, while he, too, has a very low batting mark. With the Giants in the series the Yankees would hold even a bigger advantage than they will against the Cardinals.

STIFF opposition marked the opening day of play in the Central High School tennis championships staged yesterday on the Rock Creek Courts at the Sixteenth street reservoir.

Sylvia Cooper experienced difficulty in eliminating Mary Day, dropping the first set 5—7, but winning the next two, 6—2, 6—4. Ruth Murray also came back after dropping the opening set 4—6 to Mariana Thomas to win in love sets, 6—0, 6—0. Virginia Sutton won from Hortense Gifford, 6—4, 6—1, and Katherine Brown won by default from Isabell Brewer.

In the feature match, listed for this morning, Louise Bebb, finalist last year with Ruth Kohner for the doubles title, will meet Carol Smith. Elizabeth Middlemas is scheduled to play Kathleen Watkins, Helen Chafee will oppose Ruth Robbs and Virginia Tastet will meet Gladys Fielding, assistant tennis manager.

More than 40 racketers are entered in the tournament which will be in progress for the next three weeks. Play will open on the Reservoir Courts promptly at 10 o'clock this morning under the direction of Ruth Kohner, tennis manager.

Starting next month Miss Skadding will instruct swimming at the Marjorie Webster School.

Swimming activities for girls and women in the Washington Swimming Club will be conducted as a separate unit, according to action taken at the meeting attended by more than 30 members last night.

A complete roster of officials was named. Florence Skadding is president of the women's committee, Emma Ball was named manager and Virginia Lawrence will serve as her assistant and publicity secretary. Ione Whaler was named senior captain and Catherine Bray and Onalene Lawrence were nominated as junior captain. The election for this office will be held at the next meeting. Edith Johnson will serve as secretary and treasurer.

The regular schedule, which will include meets with the Scranton Swimming Club, the women's division of the Flushing Y. M. C. A. and probably the Baltimore Friends School, will be announced at the next meeting.

Giants' Protest Denied By President of League

New York, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—President John Heydler of the National League refused today to uphold the protest lodged by the Giants on the first game of yesterday's doubleheader, which Chicago won. The Giants had claimed that Catcher Hartnett of the Cubs illegally interfered with Andy Reese when the latter was trapped between third base and home.

Photographs tending to show that Hartnett had interfered with Reese were offset, Mr. Heydler declared, by other pictures giving an opposite impression.

"The evidence shows that it was a run-down play, with Reese trapped between third and home," Mr. Heydler explained. "Therefore Hartnett was entitled to be on the baseline. Umpire Klem's report is that Reese, in turning sharply toward home, collided with Hartnett, causing both to be thrown off balance. In the resulting scramble Reese was tagged by Beck, the Chicago third baseman.

"This is corroborated by the reports of two other umpires, Moran and McCormick. Since the decision was purely a case of judgment and not of rules interpretation, Umpire Klem's decision is sustained and the protest disallowed."

Eastern Football Season Reaches Full Sway Today

NEW YORK, Sept. 28 (A.P.). — The 1928 football season in the East gets under full headway tomorrow with the small colleges being fed to the big ones in large numbers, but with indications that the games will be closer and the scores smaller than on any previous opening day.

Uncle Sam's Annapolis Midshipmen in their first appearance of the year take on Davis and Elkins College of Elkins, W. Va., which last week toppled West Virginia University. Navy mopped up Davis and Elkins last season by 27 to 0.

The Army, which started slowly last season with a 13-to-0 victory over Boston University, appears capable of multiplying that score by almost any figure, while Pittsburgh, one of the greatest of the Eastern teams in 1927, figures to have another romp with Thiel, beaten last year by 48 to 0. Yale, which shared with Pitt the mythical Eastern title, is one of the few teams, including also Princeton and Harvard, which do not open the season until next Saturday.

Syracuse anticipates more trouble than usual with Hobart, which kept the score down to 13 to 0 last season. New York University draws a fighting opponent in little Niagara.

Other games include Gil Dobie's Cornell boys against Clarkson Tech; Columbia vs. Vermont, Dartmouth and Norwich, Georgetown and Mount St. Mary's, Lafayette and Albright, Penn State and Lebanon Valley, Pennsylvania and Ursinus, and Washington and Jefferson and Bethany.

CITY COLLEGE BOWS, 24-0, TO TECH

Special to The Washington Post.

BALTIMORE, Md., Sept. 28.—Tech High of Washington made the beginning of the football season for Baltimore City College at Homewood this afternoon anything but a success, for the visitors walked away with a 24-to-0 decision, scoring a touchdown in each of the quarters Three of the touchdowns came as the result of completed forward passes.

McKinley found City's forward easy to penetrate at times, but on other occasions the tackle plays, which were the best bet of the visitors, were stopped without gain and the Washingtonians forced to punt.

All four of McKinley's attempted place kicks for extra points were either wide or blocked.

Eastern High Eleven Ties With Calvert Hall, 6-6

Special to The Washington Post.

Baltimore, Md., Sept. 28.—Football elevens of the Eastern High School, of Washington, and the Calvert Hall College, of Baltimore, battled to a tie this afternoon. After 45 minutes of play the score was deadlocked at 6 all.

Close to 800 persons turned out to watch Calvert Hall in its opening game of the season. The locals were greeted with something of a surprise at the very outset of the contest when Eastern High pushed across a touchdown a few minutes after play started. It was McCarthy who carried the ball over the line. Calvert Hall evened up matters in the second quarter when Toy made a touchdown. Neither team was able to score in the last two quarters Both of the elevens attempted place kicks for extra points were unsuccessful.

Three Home Runs Win For Athletics, 7 to 5

Chicago, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia team slid out of the American League's 1928 baseball picture today, although defeating the White Sox, 7 to 5, in a wild slugging contest.

The New York Yankees' victory over Detroit made it impossible for the Athletics to overcome the Yanks' two-and-one-half-game lead in the two remaining days of the season.

The White Sox outhit the Athletics, 16 to 14, but three home runs, one each by Cochrane, Simmons and Miller, wrecked the hope of the Sox of squaring the series. Cochrane's home run, his tenth of the season, came in the first with no one on base.

D. C. GRIDMAN QUARTER AT NAVY

Whelchel Will Direct Play in Day's Davis-Elkins Game.

Special to The Washington Post.

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Sept. 28.—Navy football coaches put the final polish on their charges this afternoon in preparation for the inaugural game of the season on Farragut Field tomorrow. Davis-Elkins College, of West Virginia, will furnish the opposition. The Senators already are on the scene of conflict and late this afternoon quickly shifted into their togs and went through a good workout, the floodlights being switched on for their benefit.

Harold Bauer, who with his brother, Dale, will probably start as half backs, also a good booter, Joe Clifton, 190-pounder, will be at full back, and Dave Whelchel, Washington boy, is expected to start at quarter, though he is being closely pressed by Gannon. The latter is a clever drop-kicker.

The rest of the Navy line-up as tentatively announced follows: Moret and Byng, ends; Bowstrom and Olega, tackles; Burke and Swann, guards; Hardin or Hughes, center.

The line-up of Davis-Elkins was announced as follows: Curtis and McKinney, ends; Irwin and Milles tackles; Piggott and Curnea, guards; Pugh, center; Wagner, quarter back; Warren and Smith, half backs; Rengle, full back.

The Navy Plebes also will open their season tomorrow, meeting the Georgetown Freshmen. The game will start at 1 o'clock as a prelude to the varsity contest, which is scheduled for 2:30. Tom Hamilton, former Navy star, who has been handling the yearlings, has developed a fast combination. Whether varsity or freshmen teams meet, whenever Navy and Georgetown clash, a hard fight can be looked for.

Bob Smith yielded only nine hits in 14 1-3 innings, but walked twelve men in that same time. Sylvester Johnson's work as relief man for Alexander for six innings was gilt-edged.

NATS WIN 4TH PLACE DESPITE 4-3 DEFEAT

From that time the Browns were unable to dent Braxton until the sixth, although they hit him frequently. Frank McGowan opened the sixth for the Browns with a double to right, was sacrificed to third and went over the plate when Melillo sent a long fly to Goslin.

The Nationals scored their first run when West opened the game with a double to right. Their second marker came in the fourth, when Judge walked, went to third on Bluege's single to right and scored while Ruel was hitting into a double play.

With the Browns leading by one run in the eighth, Goslin hit into the right-field pavilion for a home run to tie the score and count his second hit of the day.

After the third inning the Browns were unable to do much with Braxton and collected only three hits in the last three innings. But for Cronin's ninth-inning error the Browns might have found themselves going into extra innings with the Nationals' pitcher getting stronger and their own hurler losing effectiveness.

MD.'S LINE-UP FOR OPENER DOUBTFUL

Byrd Uncertain Who Will Face Washington College.

UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND will go into its opening game with Washington College this afternoon in more uncertain fashion than any initial combat in years. Play will start at 2:30 o'clock.

Curley Byrd, coach of the Old Liners, said last night that he had not made up his mind as to what would be the starting line-up of the Old Liners. It is rare for him to be in such a state of mind as to the make-up of a team.

If Dodson is retained in the back field, where he has practiced most of the week, Lombard will be on left end and McDonald will be at right tackle. Evans appeared to advantage in the workouts during the week, and this may cause Byrd to send Dodson back to end, where he was a star last season.

Regardless of how the starting line-up reads, the great majority of those who take the field at the outset will be letter men. Of those mentioned only Lombard, Heintz, Madigan and Evans have failed to earn their insignia and last year was their first on the varsity squad.

Roberts totes only 142 pounds, Evans tips the scales at 157, but all the others go 167 or better, with Keenan and Crothers battling for the top honors, both just getting under the 200 mark.

With Roberts and Kessler in the game Maryland has two good kickers and passers and both are what is termed "triple-threaters."

her second into a trap and finally took four to get on the putting surface. When Miss Van Wie putted up Mrs. Hurd picked up her ball and was down for the first time.

Miss Van Wie became dormie by winning the sixteenth, but Mrs. Hurd, still fighting, took the seventeenth, leaving everything to be decided at the home hole. Miss Van Wie needing only a half to win the match.

Mrs. Hurd, perhaps, tried too hard to get the ball on the green over the wide expanse of deep blue water, for while the ball was long enough it was not straight. It tore through the branches of a sycamore tree and finished half-buried in mud and grass.

The referee examined the situation and yelled a suggestion across the water that Mrs. Hurd play a provisional ball, as the first probably was unplayable. The second effort was much better, the ball landing well on the green. In the meantime Miss Van Wie had driven into a trap, but, with Mrs. Hurd already charged with three strokes, she had only to explode to the green and have two putts left for a win. When Mrs. Hurd's putt from across the green remained out, she picked up her ball with one hand and extended the other to her young opponent in congratulation.

WIDE BROADCAST FOR WORLD SERIES

SMITH IS ON AIR AGAIN

The combined facilities of the National Broadcasting Company, reaching from coast to coast, will be used to broadcast the world series, officials of the company announced following receipt of official permission for the broadcasts from Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, commissioner of baseball.

The complete series, no matter where the games are to be played, will be broadcast. Graham McNamee and Phillips Carlin, veteran NBC sports announcers, will be at the microphones. The coast-to-coast facilities, including more than 50 stations, will be linked together, so that the story of baseball's classic will be available to every listener in the country. Through short wave transmitters operated in conjunction with stations associated in the system it is expected that the series will be available to listeners in foreign countries also.

Definite schedules will be announced later.

Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Democratic candidate, will address the radio audience again tonight. The speech will be picked up from Milwaukee at 10 o'clock and broadcast through WJZ and a network of stations, including WRC.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis will also address the radio audience tonight at 8 o'clock Eastern standard time, under the auspices of the Republican national committee. The speech will be made in Washington and will be broadcast to a chain of 23 stations associated with the National Broadcasting Co. WRC probably will be included in the hook-up.

The Lucky Strike Dance Orchestra will be tuning up around 9 o'clock for its third broadcast. The program consists exclusively of dance music and nineteen numbers have been selected for tonight, including "Get Out and Get Under the Moon," "Back In Your Own Back Yard," "I Can't Give You Anything But Love," "Ten Little Miles From Town" and "One Step to Heaven."

WMAL will present a program mostly made up of short features this evening. Among the entertainers appearing will be Grace Shannon, pianist; Isabel Peckin McArthur, in impersonation readings; Mildred Monck, soprano, and the "Three Musical Girls."

A dinner concert and request program mark the evening transmission from station WRHF, beginning at 6 o'clock.

Today's programs are the last to be broadcast on daylight saving time, which changes at 2 o'clock Sunday morning. Listeners will find many programs moved up an hour during the coming week.

Civitans to Entertain Garden Club of Boys

An outing at Beaver Dam Country Club this afternoon will mark the end of the seventh year of the Boys' Garden Club, an activity sponsored by the Washington Civitan Club. Sixty-five young gardeners will be rewarded for their year's work at 5 luncheon and an afternoon of sports.

The work of the Boys' Garden Club, which was undertaken in 1921 by the Civitan Club, has resulted in both material and physical benefit to the boys, who have grown in number from 12 to 65. Besides furnishing their families with fresh vegetables, the boys have been able to make money from the sales of their products. Clarence L. Harding is chairman.

Motorman-Director Gets 86 Cents an Hour

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28.—The rise of Patrick J. Connolly from "L" ticket chopper to member of the board of directors of the Interborough Rapid Transit Co. is nothing like one of these office-boy-to-millionaire stories one finds around Wall street, Connolly revealed today.

Connolly, after 22 years with the I. R. T., now holds three titles—motorman, president of the Brotherhood of I. R. T. Employes and director. But he told interviewers today, all he gets is 86 cents an hour, the standard subway motorman's pay. He will collect a nominal fee whenever he attends a directors' meeting. The brotherhood decided it should have representation on the I. R. T. directorate, the company agreed, and Connolly, as the head of the employes' organization, was voted a membership on the board.

Ellen Terry Left Estate of $110,000

Husband, in Chicago, Given £200 as Good-Will Token by Famous Actress.

London, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Dame Ellen Terry, the noted actress, whose will was made public last night, left an estate whose gross value is estimated at £22,231 (approximately $110,000). The value of her personal property was estimated at £19,697.

The estate was left to the immediate family, including a bequest of £200 to James Carew, of Chicago, her husband "as a token of good will."

Her daughter, Miss Edith Craig, is the executrix and receives the Terry house at Small Hythe, Kent, and half of the estate. Other chief beneficiaries are Miss Terry's son, Edward Gordon Craig, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Elena Gordon Craig, and her grandchildren, Nellie and Teddy Gordon Craig.

Miss Terry was an American citizen, since she was legally domiciled in the United States, but this, it is said, will not affect distribution of the estate. Pictures of the late actress by Watts and Sargent will be sold at Christie's. It is expected that Miss Terry's home at Small Hythe where she died will be made into a national memorial.

"Laziest Boy in World" Must Work, or Be Jailed

New York, Sept. 28.—Philip Gage, 20, termed by his mother "the laziest boy in the world," will soon relinquish that title or go to jail. Brought before Magistrate McAndrews today by his parent, Mrs. Elsie Gage, who supports herself and son by selling candy in Central Park, Philip was told to get a job by election day or be sent to prison for six months. His mother said Philip goes to bed at 8 o'clock, gets up at 10, and after eating the breakfast she leaves for him, spends the day loiling about the house or strolling through the park where she works.

CAPITAL'S BANKERS BEGIN EXODUS TODAY

TRADING IN STOCKS LAGS

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Preliminary to the opening Monday of the annual convention of the American Bankers Association in Philadelphia, a representative delegation of District bankers and officials of Federal fiscal agencies today will begin their exodus from Washington to attend the initial sessions of the body.

Questions of general public comment, such as the farming problem, the presidential campaign and changing business conditions, will be discussed at the convention along with technical and credit problems, the spread of group banking, bank taxation and bank administrative problems.

At the forefront of the official guests from this city will be Gov. Roy O. Young, of the Federal Reserve Board, scheduled to address the clearing house section of the organization Monday morning, and Comptroller of the Currency J. W. McIntosh, who will speak before the National Bank Division Wednesday afternoon.

Official Washington also will be represented by Representative L. T. McFadden, chairman of the House committee on banking and currency, whose address on "Dynamic Banking" will be delivered before the Monday morning section meeting. Leading the local banking delegation will be Robert V. Fleming, of Riggs National Bank, president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association.

Those Who Will Attend.

Gov. Young, Comptroller McIntosh, Representative McFadden, Mr. Fleming, Col. Robert N. Harper, president of the District National Bank; Joshua Evans, jr., District National; R. Golden Donaldson, president of the Commercial National Bank; Victor B. Deyber, president of the Second National Bank; Harry V. Haynes, president of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank; John B. Larner, president of the Washington Loan & Trust Co.; Maurice Otterback, president of the Anacostia Bank; George O. Vass and William J. Flather, vice presidents of Riggs National Bank; George W. White and C. F. Jacobsen, of the National Metropolitan Bank; Francis G. Addison, of the Security Savings & Commercial Bank, Wilmer J. Waller and Charles B. Lyddane, of the Federal-American National Bank; Ware H. Cooper, Miss Mary Jane Winfree and Miss Marjorie I. Tucker, of the Continental Trust Co.; E. J. McQuade and M. F. Calnan, of the Liberty National Bank; E. E. Mountjoy and F. G. Awalt.

Led by James A. Soper, of the Lincoln National Bank, president of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, a delegation of four officers of the local chapter will go to Philadelphia Tuesday to attend the institute's annual dinner. Accompanying Mr. Soper will be I. A. Roberts, of Riggs National Bank; T. Hunton Leith, of the Security Savings & Commercial Bank, and Richard A. Norris, of the Lincoln National Bank.

Tomorrow night Comptroller McIntosh, Mr. Fleming, Mr. Awalt and Mr. Waller will attend a dinner of the Reserve City Bankers Association.

Reports Business Good.

Echoing the Federal Reserve Board's September statement, which furnished a rosy portrayal of business conditions throughout the country, the Department of Commerce, in its weekly summary of the business situation, issued yesterday, declared that business in the week ended September 22 was greater than in either the previous week or the same period of 1927. This statement was based on the volume of check payments.

Bond prices, although higher than in the previous week, were lower than last year, and stock prices averaged higher than in either period. Brokers' loans were larger than in the preceding week, the summary stated, and interest rates for both time and call funds averaged higher than in either the preceding week or the same period of last year. Business failures were more numerous than in either the preceding week or the same period of last year.

Safeway Stock to Be Split.

The common stock of Safeway Stores, Inc., which Wednesday announced plans to unite with Sanitary Grocery Co., Inc., of this city, is to be split so as to put it within the reach of employes and consumers in the territory served, according to a statement issued yesterday by Charles E. Merrill, of Merrill, Lynch & Co., who ascribed much of the company's growth to the large holdings of Safeway Stock by store managers, supervisors and other executives. The increase in stock will be accomplished either by a stock dividend of 400 per cent, or by a 5-to-1 split, he said.

"It is quite likely that either before or after the split-up the company will make application to list Safeway shares on the New York Stock Exchange," his statement reads, "however, this action may be deferred until the consummation of negotiations now under way for the acquisition of intervening chains, thus consolidating the several companies into the first Nation-wide organization in the chain grocery field.

Banks to Pay "Under Protest."

Banks joining with the District of Columbia Bankers' Association in protesting the inclusion of Government bond interest in their gross earnings tax return, yesterday, as a mere legal formality, offered the District government payment of their taxes, minus the Government bond interest item.

The proffer will, of course, be declined, whereupon the banks which have taken the united stand will today pay full amount of the tax "under protest." Frank J. Hogan is serving as general counsel for the protesting banks.

Stock Trading Slackness.

Trading slackened notably on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, as transactions on the local board were concluded for the week. Mergenthaler Linotype led, with 40 shares changing hands at 100½, and 10 more at 100¼, fractionally off. Strength was shown in Chestnut Farms Dairy preferred, which moved to 107; Potomac Electric 6 per cent preferred, which climbed to 113½; and Potomac Electric 5½ per cent preferred, which sold as high as 108⅛.

The bond division was represented by Washington Gas 6s, series A, $1,000 of which sold at 104½; $1,000 Potomac Electric Consolidated, which brought 101¾; $1,000 Capital Traction 5s, which traded at 100⅞; and Georgetown Gas and Washington Gas 6s, series B, which sold in smaller blocks at 103¼ and 105¾ respectively.

Lincoln Board Votes Dividend.

The board of directors of the Lincoln Investment Corporation has voted the regular quarterly dividend of preferred stock outstanding, to be paid October 1 to stockholders of record.

Bankers to Meet October 15.

The fall meeting of the District of Columbia Bankers' Association will be held October 15, when a buffet supper will be served, Robert V. Fleming, president, announced yesterday, following a meeting of the Council of Administration, at association headquarters in the Becker Building. Councilmen present, besides Mr. Fleming, were: W. W. Spaid, Wilmer J. Waller, L. P. McLachlen, Charles H. Doing, E. J. McQuade, John M. Riordan, J. Frank White and C. H. Pope.

B. & O. Reports on Income.

Net operating income of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. for August reached $5,955,585, an increase of $778,632 over the same month last year, the company reported yesterday. Earnings for the eight months ended August 31, were $38,516,718 as compared with $31,420,126 for the same months in 1927.

Wife Asks Alimony; Held as Perjurer

Judge Says Man She Asserts Is Husband Is Not Her Mate.

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28.—Instead of collecting $3,200 back alimony, Mrs. Bella Frank, attractive Bronx blond, was compelled to put up $1,000 bail today to keep herself out of jail on a charge of perjury, pending a hearing October 11.

Mrs. Frank, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, descended on the home of Samuel Frank, a salesman, last Monday and pointed him out as her husband. Despite his protestations through several days of court wrangling, cluttered up with finger prints and Navy identification of Albert Frank, a brother, and apparently the real, but missing, husband, Mrs. Frank insisted that Samuel was her husband.

Supreme Court Justice Humphrey, in Brooklyn, finally ordered the release of Frank on a writ of habeas corpus and said he gradually became convinced that Mrs. Frank "knew this man was not her husband, but was trying to bluff her way through in the hope that it would result in the real Albert Frank being produced." Frank then had Mrs. Frank arrested on the perjury charge.

Missing Publicity Man Short $9,000, It Is Said

St. Louis, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Ralph M. Johnston, director of publicity of the Mississippi Valley Association, has been missing from his office since September 5 and auditors have discovered a shortage of $9,000 in the association's funds. James E. Smith, president, said today that five checks totaling $1,300 bore his forged signature, and that five others totaling $3,100 bore his genuine signature, but were unauthorized by him.

All the checks were made payable to Johnston, whose salary was $6,000 a year. The association, with membership in 25 States, is regarded as a major force in the development of the Nation's inland waterways.

Sergt. York, War Hero, Rallies From Operation

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Operated on for a stomach disorder, Sergt. Alvin C. York, of Pall Mall, Tenn., outstanding American hero of the World War, was resting well at St. Thomas Hospital here this afternoon. Attending physicians said Sergt. York's condition was not serious and that he rallied satisfactorily.

Since the war Sergt. York has devoted himself to the establishment of a school for mountain children in his native Fentress County. After many difficulties the project was finally started last year. The school buildings are now nearing completion and pupils will enter them within 60 days.

Jacqueline Logan's Condition "Restless"

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Jacqueline Logan, of the films, passed an "uncomfortable night and was very restless this morning," said attendants at the Hollywood Hospital, where she underwent an appendicitis operation yesterday. Dr. J. J. Carter, who performed the operation, expressed confidence, however, that the actress would recover quickly.

Miss Logan was stricken at a boulevard cafe Wednesday evening while eating dinner.

Hankow Fire's Toll Of Deaths Unknown

Men, Women and Children Perish; Troops Are Swept Aside.

Hankow, China, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Most of the densely populated Chinese quarter was in ruins today after a fire which started in a gambling den on Tuesday and claimed an uncounted number of lives.

Men, women and children perished when, panic stricken at their inability to escape from the flames, they plunged into the lakes. Others fought their way in desperation along alleyways choked with people until overcome by smoke. Many persons were cremated. It was impossible to determine the extent of loss of life.

The city's fire fighters were helpless. The area was in darkness from the time the fire began, due to the collapse of steel poles carrying power lines. Chinese troops were called out to prevent looting and maintain order. Fear-crazed crowds, however, swept the troops aside and looters became active. Order was restored today and soldiers were patrolling the Chinese city.

The police, charity organizations and the chamber of commerce were attempting to succor 10,000 persons who were homeless.

CAPITAL'S BANKERS BEGIN EXODUS TODAY

TRADING IN STOCKS LAGS

By ROBERT C. ALBRIGHT.

Preliminary to the opening Monday of the annual convention of the American Bankers Association in Philadelphia, a representative delegation of District bankers and officials of Federal fiscal agencies today will begin their exodus from Washington to attend the initial sessions of the body.

Questions of general public comment, such as the farming problem, the presidential campaign and changing business conditions, will be discussed at the convention along with technical and credit problems, the spread of group banking, bank taxation and bank administrative problems.

At the forefront of the official guests from this city will be Gov. Roy O. Young, of the Federal Reserve Board, scheduled to address the clearing house section of the organization Monday morning, and Comptroller of the Currency J. W. McIntosh, who will speak before the National Bank Division Wednesday afternoon.

Official Washington also will be represented by Representative L. T. McFadden, chairman of the House committee on banking and currency, whose address on "Dynamic Banking" will be delivered before the Monday morning section meeting. Leading the local banking delegation will be Robert V. Fleming, of Riggs National Bank, president of the District of Columbia Bankers Association.

Those Who Will Attend.

Gov. Young, Comptroller McIntosh, Representative McFadden, Mr. Fleming, Col. Robert N. Harper, president of the District National Bank; Joshua Evans, jr., District National; R. Golden Donaldson, resident of the Commercial National Bank; Victor B. Deyber, president of the Second National Bank; Harry V. Haynes, president of the Farmers & Mechanics National Bank; John B. Larner, president of the Washington Loan & Trust Co.; Maurice Otterback, president of the Anacostia Bank; George O. Vass and William J. Flather, vice presidents of Riggs National Bank; George W. White and C. F. Jacobsen, of the National Metropolitan Bank; Francis G. Addison, of the Security Savings & Commercial Bank, Wilmer J. Waller and Charles B. Lyddane, of the Federal-American National Bank; Ware H. Cooper, Miss Mary Jane Winfree and Miss Marjorie I. Tucker, of the Continental Trust Co.; E. J. McQuade and M. F. Calnan, of the Liberty National Bank; E. E. Mountjoy and F. G. Awalt.

Led by James A. Soper, of the Lincoln National Bank, president of the Washington Chapter, American Institute of Banking, a delegation of four officers of the local chapter will go to Philadelphia Tuesday to attend the institute's annual dinner. Accompanying Mr. Soper will be I. A. Roberts, of Riggs National Bank; T. Hunton Leith, of the Security Savings & Commercial Bank, and Richard A. Norris, of the Lincoln National Bank.

Tomorrow night Comptroller McIntosh, Mr. Fleming, Mr. Awalt and Mr. Waller will attend a dinner of the Reserve City Bankers Association.

Reports Business Good.

Echoing the Federal Reserve Board's September statement, which furnished a rosy portrayal of business conditions throughout the country, the Department of Commerce, in its weekly summary of the business situation, issued yesterday, declared that busines in the week ended September 22 was greater than in either the previous week or the same period of 1927. This statement was based on the volume of check payments.

Bond prices, although higher than in the previous week, were lower than last year, and stock prices averaged higher than in either period. Brokers' loans were larger than in the preceding week, the summary stated, and interest rates for both time and call funds averaged higher than in either the preceding week or the same period of last year. Business failures were more numerous than in either the preceding week or the same period of last year.

Safeway Stock to Be Split.

The common stock of Safeway Stores, Inc., which Wednesday announced plans to unite with Sanitary Grocery Co., Inc., of this city, is to be split so as to put it within the reach of employes and consumers in the territory served, according to a statement issued yesterday by Charles E. Merrill, of Merrill, Lynch & Co., who ascribed much of the company's growth to the large holdings of Safeway Stock by store managers, supervisors and other executives. The increase in stock will be accomplished either by a stock dividend of 400 per cent, or by a 5-to-1 split, he said.

"It is quite likely that either before or after the split-up the company will make application to list Safeway shares on the New York Stock Exchange," his statement reads, "however, this action may be deferred until the consummation of negotiations now under way for the acquisition of intervening chains, thus consolidating the several companies into the first Nation-wide organization in the chain grocery field.

Banks to Pay "Under Protest."

Banks joining with the District of Columbia Bankers' Association in protesting the inclusion of Government bond interest in their gross earnings tax return, yesterday, as a mere legal formality, offered the District government payment of their taxes, minus the Government bond interest item.

The proffer will, of course, be declined, whereupon the banks which have taken the united stand will today pay full amount of the tax "under protest." Frank J. Hogan is serving as general counsel for the protesting banks.

Stock Trading Slackness.

Trading slackened notably on the Washington Stock Exchange yesterday, as transactions on the local board were concluded for the week. Mergenthaler Linotype led, with 40 shares changing hands at 100½, and 10 more at 100¼, fractionally off. Strength was shown in Chestnut Farms Dairy preferred, which moved to 107; Potomac Electric 6 per cent preferred, which climbed to 113⅛; and Potomac Electric 5½ per cent preferred, which sold as high as 108⅞.

The bond division was represented by Washington Gas 6s, series A, $1,000 of which sold at 104½; $1,000 Potomac Electric Consolidated, which brought 101¾; $1,000 Capital Traction 5s, which traded at 100⅞; and Georgetown Gas and Washington Gas 6s, series B, which sold in smaller blocks at 103¼ and 105¾ respectively.

Lincoln Board Votes Dividend.

The board of directors of the Lincoln Investment Corporation has voted the regular quarterly dividend of preferred stock outstanding, to be paid October 1 to stockholders of record.

Bankers to Meet October 15.

The fall meeting of the District of Columbia Bankers' Association will be held October 15, when a buffet supper will be served, Rovert V. Fleming, president, announced yesterday, following a meeting of the Council of Administration, as association headquarters in the Becker Building. Councilmen present, besides Mr. Fleming, were: W. W. Spald, Wilmer J. Waller, L. P. McLachlen, Charles H. Doing, E. J. McQuade, John M. Riordan, J. Frank White and C. H. Pope.

B. & O. Reports on Income.

Net operating income of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad Co. for August reached $5,955,583, an increase of $778,432 over the same month last year, the company reported yesterday. Earnings for the eight months ended August 31, were $28,516,718 as compared with $31,420,126 for the same months in 1927.

Wife Asks Alimony; Held as Perjurer

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, Sept. 28.—Instead of collecting $3,200 back alimony, Mrs. Bella Frank, attractive Bronx blond, was compelled to put up $1,000 bail today to keep herself out of jail on a charge of perjury, pending a hearing October 11.

Mrs. Frank, accompanied by a deputy sheriff, descended on the home of Samuel Frank, a salesman, last Monday and pointed him out as her husband. Despite his protestations through several days of court wrangling, cluttered up with finger prints and Navy identification of Albert Frank, a brother, and apparently the real, but missing, husband, Mrs. Frank insisted that Samuel was her husband.

Supreme Court Justice Humphrey, in Brooklyn, finally ordered the release of Frank on a writ of habeas corpus and said he gradually became convinced that Mrs. Frank 'knew this man was not her husband, but was trying to bluff her way through in the hope that it would result in the real Albert Frank being produced.' Frank then had Mrs. Frank arrested on the perjury charge.

Missing Publicity Man Short $9,000, It Is Said

St. Louis, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Ralph M. Johnston, director of publicity of the Mississippi Valley Association, has been missing from his office since September 5 and auditors have discovered a shortage of $9,000 in the association's funds. James E. Smith, president, said today that five checks totaling $1,300 bore his forged signature, and that five others totaling $3,100 bore his genuine signature, but were unauthorized by him.

All the checks were made payable to Johnston, whose salary was $6,000 a year. The association, with membership in 25 States, is regarded as a major force in the development of the Nation's inland waterways.

Sergt. York, War Hero, Rallies From Operation

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Operated on for a stomach disorder, Sergt. Alvin C. York, of Pall Mall, Tenn., outstanding American hero of the World War, was resting well at St. Thomas Hospital here this afternoon.

Attending physicians said Sergt. York's condition was not serious and that he rallied satisfactorily.

Since the war Sergt. York has devoted himself to the establishment of a school for mountain children in his native Fentress County. After many difficulties the project was finally started last year. The school buildings are now nearing completion and pupils will enter them within 60 days.

Jacqueline Logan's Condition "Restless"

Hollywood, Calif., Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Jacqueline Logan, of the films, passed an "uncomfortable night and was very restless this morning," said attendants at the Hollywood Hospital, where she underwent an appendicitis operation yesterday. Dr. J. J. Carter, who performed the operation, expressed confidence, however, that the actress would recover quickly.

Miss Logan was stricken at a boulevard cafe Wednesday evening while eating dinner.

Men, Women and Children Perish; Troops Are Swept Aside.

Hankow, China, Sept. 28 (A.P.).—Most of the densely populated Chinese quarter was in ruins today after a fire which started in a gambling den on Tuesday and claimed an uncounted number of lives.

Men, women and children perished when, panic stricken at their inability to escape from the flames, they plunged into the lakes. Others fought their way in desperation along alleyways choked with people until overcome by smoke. Many persons were cremated. It was impossible to determine the extent of loss of life.

The city's fire fighters were helpless. The area was in darkness from the time the fire began, due to the collapse of steel poles carrying power lines Chinese troops were called out to prevent looting and maintain order. Fear-crazed crowds, however, swept the troops aside and looters became active. Order was restored today and soldiers were patroling the Chinese city.

The police, charity organizations and the chamber of commerce were attempting to succor 10,000 persons who were homeless.

COLUMBIA HEIGHTS CARNIVAL IS TAKEN OVER BY CHILDREN

500 Have Parts in Costume Parade Up and Down Fourteenth Street.

QUEENS, BOY MUSICIANS AND SCOUTS ARE IN LINE

Prizes for Floats and Masqueraders Announced in Closing Ceremony.

All the little girls want to grow up to be Queen of the Carnival out in Columbia Heights.—Miss Kathryn Sebastian made such a lovely one last night—and all the little boys, being boys, would be cannibals, or at least clowns with illuminated noses.

The final night of the two-day carnival under auspices of the Columbia Heights Business Men's Association was given over almost entirely to children, 500 or more of whom, some accompanied by their parents, took part in a colorful parade up and down Fourteenth street from Park road.

With the close of the carnival also came the award of prizes, both for Thursday and Friday nights, as donated by the association and its member concerns.

Forming at Park road, the parade of the children, practically all of whom were in costume, began to move at 8 o'clock. It was headed by a police escort and flag bearer. Next came the Boys' Independent Band and then a unit of Boy Scouts. Miss Columbia Heights, the queen, and her ladies in waiting rode on a decorated float. Children in costume, floats, decorated automobiles and the Firemen's Clown Band from Truck Company No. 6 formed the rest of the parade.

Queens on Platform.

When the parade disbanded the queen nd her ladies, winners of various prizes and officers of the association took their places on an especially erected platform. Queens of the two preceding carnivals also were on the platform, Miss Dorothy Brandt, who was selected Miss Columbia Heights in 1926, and Miss Louise Sobotka, who was queen of the first carnival in 1925.

W. F. Dismer, president of the American Racing Pigeon Union, announced that two of his pigeons, which were among the eighteen released by Miss Columbia Heights Thursday night, had returned home about one-half hour after they were let loose. It was the first time, according to Mr. Dismer, that pigeons have been successfully flown at night.

Through an oversight, it was said, the float entered by the Arcade Market dealers was omitted from the published list of those that took part in the parade Thursday night.

Fair Declared Successful.

Officials of the association were immensely pleased, more than one of them said last night, with the 1928 carnival. It was described as successful from every viewpoint.

Prizes for Thursday night, as announced by Harry S. Ball, of the No. 9 Truck Company, official amplifier, were as follows:

Most original comic costume—First, Mrs. F. A. Wright; second, Jack Biscarre; third, Jack Croft. Best decorated float — First, Columbia Heights Citizens Association; second, Mount Pleasant Nut Shop; third, No. 11 Engine Company. Best decorated automobile — First, Ambassador Laundry; second, Lillian Beauty Shop; third, Peck Rent-a-Car Co. Best electrically decorated float — Swann's Dry Goods Store.

Prizes awarded last night were as follows:

Mrs. Schlorb's Death Accidental, Says Jury

A coroner's jury yesterday found no evidence of foul play in connection with the death of Mrs. Lucille Burke Schlorb, 19-year-old mother, who, the jury held was burned to death when she attempted to start a fire in a stove to prepare breakfast for her husband at their home, 3040 Grant road, Thursday morning. A verdict of accidental death was issued.

The verdict set at rest rumors of shots and cries said to have been heard in the vicinity of the house prior to the fire. Flames from kerosene oil which enveloped the young woman and set fire to the house prevented her rescue by her husband, who battered down two doors to reach her. The couple's two children, Lillian, 1 year old, and Fred, 2 years old, were saved by the father.

13 New Privates Named By Fire Chief Watson

Thirteen new privater were appointed to the Fire Department yesterday by the District Commissioners on recommendation of Fire Chief George S. Watson.

They were Robert L. Briggs, Ralph E. Graninger, Stewart H. Ritnour, Charles C. Wolz, jr., George F. Hickey, William F. Mahaney, Samuel L. Barnett, Meade C. Fairall, Frank Donaldson, Victor J. Jacquot, jr., Morris H. Clarke, Walter B. Sweeney and George W. Quinn.

Shakespeare Engraving Is Stolen From League

The members of the Gentlewomen's League, who, for so long have obtained inspiration from an engraving of Shakespeare that hung in the hallway of theleague quarters at Dupont Circle, will have to forego, for the time being at least, the delights of the old engraving.

Sometime during the last three weeks a thief stole the engraving. Yesterday Mrs. Sarrah Dean, president of the league, appealed to the police to help her recover the picture.

Bankruptcy Petition Filed.

Petition of voluntary bankruptcy was filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Charles A. Rice, an insurance solicitor, of 1508 H street northwest. He set forth his debts at $2,877.50 and his assets at $300.

Made Reserve Lieutenant.

The War Department has announced a commission of first lieutenant in the Coast Artillery reserve, for Rex Philip Mulligan, 712 Twentieth street northwest.

"MEDICINE," TAKEN IN DARK, IS POISON

Girl Believed That She Was Swallowing Headache Potion, Says Mother.

IS IN SERIOUS CONDITION

A dose of medicine swallowed in the dark Thursday night by Pauline Eminisor, 17 years old, of Lee Way, Arlington County, had its familiar and oft-related sequence, when the young woman was found to have taken poison and is now under treatment at Emergency Hospital. Although her condition is serious physicians believe she will recover.

According to the story told by the young girl's mother, Mrs. George L. Eminisor, an employe of the Veterans' Bureau, Miss Eminisor complained of a headache, Thursday evening upon returning from a moving picture show in Washington and immediately retired to her room. In the darkness she is said to have swallowed what she believed to be headache medicine, and about an hour later was found in agony by her mother.

Dr. R. A. Ransom, of Falls Church, was called in, and after treating the young woman for an hour, left the Eminisor home, pronouncing the patient out of danger, the mother says. After his departure, however, Miss Eminisor lost consciousness and was rushed to Emergency Hopital by her mother and Roy Minich, a neighbor. She now is under the care of Dr. Frederick Keir.

The young girl previously attended school in this city, but because of ill health during the last two years, has remained at home. Despite her ill health, Miss Eminisor has not been despondent, her mother declared, and any thought that the poisoning was other than accidental is "preposterous," she said.

According to the police of the Third Precinct who investigated, however, the girl swallowed the poison with suicidal intent.

Wire-Shifting Silences Radio for Three Tours

Station WRC, broadcasting unit of the National Broadcasting Co., located in the National Press Building, was silent for three hours yesterday afternoon.

Closing down of the station, according to officials of the company, was due to the fact that wires and equipment had to be moved because of changes in the building. Some time was also taken for tests after the move had been made.

Motor Club Indorses Taxi Driver Tribunal

Earl V. Fisher's proposal to set up new semijudicial machinery for the handling of traffic offenses by taxicab drivers was given a boost yesterday when the Greater Washington Motor Club informed the Public Utilities Commission, of which Mr. Fisher is the executive secretary, that it desired representation on the proposed new body.

Mr. Fisher's suggestion was advanced recently and provided for the formation of a body comprising representatives of the Traffic Bureau, the Police Department, the corporation counsel, the Utilities Commission and each of the taxicab companies. This body, he proposed, should handle all traffic offenses by taxi drivers, with a graduated scale of punishment running from warnings for first offenses in minor cases to dismissal by the companies for more serious or repeated violations.

CITY-WIDE LOTTERY ALLEGED BY RAIDERS

CHANCES ARE 1,000 TO 1

An alleged lottery system, the network of which extends throughout the city, was brought to light yesterday when a dozen headquarters' detectives raided the home of the alleged proprietor of the game and six places said to operate as branches. More than $4,000 in cash was seized at 1222 Girard street northwest, which was described as a flourishing headquarters of the lottery.

The game is said to be based on the daily clearing reports of Federal Reserve banks and is known to players as "Numbers." Chances against the player are 1,000 to 1, the police say. If the gambler is lucky and bets the winning combination, however, he is paid off at the rate of 600 for 1. Bets from 1 cent up are accepted, according to the raiders.

At the Girard street address John Carter, colored, was arrested by Detectives Waldron, Sweeney, Wolfe and Ogle, of headquarters. Other raiding parties simultaneously raided places at 634 T street northwest, 616 T street northwest, 801 Second street southwest, 932 Fourth street northwest, 20 and 22 G street northwest.

Registration should be made at the above named schools at 7:30 o'clock and thereafter on Monday and Wednesday nights, school officials said.

The purpose of the night schools will be threefold; namely, for those whose circumstances make it impossible to attend a day school; secondly, those whose present position of employment may be materially improved by additional educational attainment; third, those who desire to attend higher educational institutions, but whose present education is not sufficient to enter the higher institutions.

Memorial Honoring Fallen Firemen Planned for City

Watson to Open Drive for Building Fund at Fire Chief's Convention.

A national drive for construction in Washington of a monumental memorial to the volunteer and paid firemen of the Nation who have lost their lives in line of duty or in the Nation's wars will be started by Chief George S. Watson, of the District Fire Department, and members of a national committee at the annual convention of the International Association of Fire Chiefs in Philadelphia, October 17, to 20.

The committee, composed of Chief Thomas R. Murphy, of San Francisco; Chief Frank C. McAuliffe, of Chicago, and Chief Watson, will propose a national fund-raising campaign among the paid and volunteer firemen of the country.

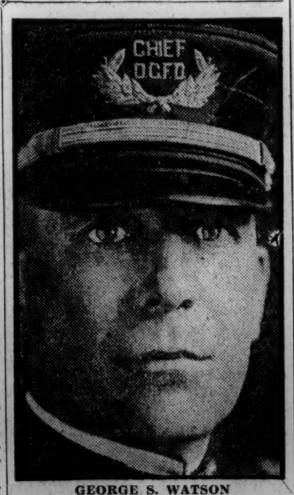

Tentative plans call for the construction of a monumental building which will serve not only as a memorial to the firemen but also as the national headquarters for the International Association of Fire Chiefs and the International Association of Fire Fighters.

The committee has fixed, in its tentative plans on a minimum of $500,000 for the construction of the memorial with another $100,000 to be used as a sinking fund for its maintenance.

The fund-raising campaign would be carried on among the 57,000 paid and the uncounted thousands of volunteer firemen throughout the country. The committee's plan calls for each fireman to pledge himself to give $1 a year for five years toward the memorial fund.

Though appeals to contributions would be to the firemen, gifts would be accepted from others and large amounts probably would be raised outside the ranks of the firefighters.

The memorial drive is dependent to a large extent on the acquisition of the necessary "setting up fund" which would be used to perfect plans and organization and would be repaid out of contributions.

GEORGE S. WATSON

Members of the committee are hopeful that leading citizens will advance this preliminary fund, at least as a loan.

The memorial would house, as Chief Watson sees it, a record of each hero and an account of the manner in which he gave his life. He has suggested a memorial hall, the dome of which would be decorated with a star for each fallen fire fighter, the number to be added to annually. A museum of relics and historic pieces of apparatus also would be housed in the building as the committee sees it.

Sweitzer's Funds Tied Up by Spouse

Injunction Is Granted Wife Who Charges Fictitious Divorce Obtained.

Complaining that her husband, Charles McG. Sweitzer, has gone to Reno, Nev., to obtain a "false and fictitious" divorce, Mrs. Lucille W. Sweitzer, of 2124 LeRoy place northwest, yesterday instituted suit in District Supreme Court for a legal separation and maintenance, and Justice Wendell P. Stafford signed ann injunction restraining five local banking establishments from giving up any money, bonds or papers belonging to Sweitzer that might be in their possession.

The complaint of Mrs. Sweitzer was filed by her counsel, Daniel Thew Wright, and declared that the husband deserted her last June 16, declaring he was going to Reno. They were married in October, 1919, the wife stated.

Mrs. Sweitzer declared that stocks, bonds, papers and valuable securities of her husband were located in safety deposit boxes at the American Security & Trust Co., the National Metropolitan Bank, Alexander Brown & Son, the Union Trust Co. and W. B. Hibbs & Co. She estimated that Sweitzer is worth $200,000. The institutions were given until October 5 to answer Mrs. Sweitzer's action.

Volumes of New Laws Ready.

Bound copies of all the acts affecting the District passed by the first session of the present Congress will be offered for sale to the general public, the District Commissioners decided yesterday. The volumes will be sold by the collector of taxes at $2.20 each. Most of the copies will be distributed to District department heads and only 67 will be sold to the public.

TRAFFIC RULE UNITY PLANNED TO AVERT HARDSHIP TO DRIVER

ILL-ARRANGED DETOURS HELD BANE TO MOTORIST

Lack of Uniformity of Police Precinct Regulations Are Pointed Out.

Coordination of the functioning of the police, traffic, highway and other District departments to eliminate every difficulty and inconvenience to motorists and the general public through ill-timed street repair work or ill-planned detours, is being worked out by Commissioner Proctor L. Dougherty and Col. William B. Ladue, Engineer Commissioner.

Commissioner Dougherty has asked both the police department and the traffic bureau for reports on the subject.

"I believe," Mr. Dougherty said, "That through closer coordination of our departments we can avoid inconveniences now thrust on the public through the fault of no particular department head."

The coordination program calls for each department to advise in advance all other departments with which its work will bring it into contact. The department heads then would work out a clocklike program, each knowing just what the other is to do and when it is to do it.

Caused by Wholesale Arrests.

The question was brought to the fore by wholesale arrests of motorists for disregarding detour signs at Third street and Massachusetts avenue northwest early in the week.

Protesting the lack of uniformity in traffic regulation and in the interpretation placed on the traffic laws in different police precincts, the American Automobile Association, in a letter to Commissioner Dougherty, proposed that all traffic regulation be taken from precinct commanders and placed under the direction of a central traffic bureau.

Commissioner Dougherty has called for reports from both the police and traffic officials on this proposal. The coordination movement, however, is to go farther, even if that proposal is approved. Dougherty believes that widening of a street, for instance, should not be begun until full study has been made of the traffic and other problems involved and a program worked out which will meet requirements.

Traffic Unnecessarily Diverted.

Police and traffic officials, the Commissioner believes, have in the past often unnecessarily diverted traffic and caused congestion and inconvenience because of street repairs. Signs restricting or blocking traffic, he holds, should not be put up until the last minute and should be removed at the first possible moment. In many instances, he believes, it might be possible to close off only a portion of the street under repair.

Another thing to be avoided, it is said, is the blocking of several streets in a neighborhood at the same time without making proper provision for the handling of "through" traffic.

Tighe Starts New Fight for Freedom

Curran's Slayer Presents Two Affidavits to Show He Is Sane.

A second attempt to obtain his release from St. Elizabeth's Hospital was begun in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Joseph M. Tighe, who shot and killed James A. Curran in September, 1922. He was committed to the asylum after being found not guilty of Curran's murder because of insanity.

In his petition, filed by George Curtis, attorney, Tighe declares he now is sane and affidavits of two medical men bearing out his contention were filed with the petition. His first attempt to be freed from the hospital was made on a writ of habeas corpus when Tighe claimed collusion on the part of his counsel and the chief justice of the District Supreme Court was responsible for his commitment to the hospital.

Tighe was said to be suffering from a paranoid type of dementia praecox, which mental experts described as an incurable disease of the mind. Tighe was a former secret service operative for the Japanese Embassy, is a graduate of Georgetown Law School and at the time he shot Curran was occupied in the erection of a wooden tower to rise to a 200-foot height in Rock Creek Park.

Bride Drafts Program To Protect Taxpayers

Repeal of Borland Law Among the Reforms Advocated.

Preparation of a program of legislation for the protection of taxpayers rather than the Government has been begun by Corporation Counsel William W. Bride.

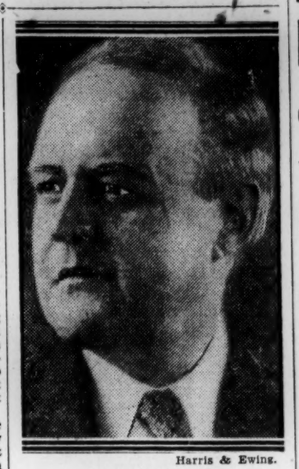

This program is to be submitted to the District Commissioners, with whom preliminary discussions already have been held, and with their approval will be sent to Congress for enactment.

A determined fight to relieve property owners of the burden of the Borland law will be made at the coming session of Congress by the corporation counsel. Repeal of the law has been sought by the Commissioners for several years and Mr. Bride intends to carry to Congress an energetic fight for its elimination from the District statutes.

The corporation counsel has told the Commissioners that the District may not legally assess the cost of street paving in two payments. The question was raised through the practice of first surfacing roadways with concrete and later, when this begins to wear out, placing an asphalt top on it. Under the Borland law half the cost has been levied against abutting property owners for each operation. But Mr. Bride declares that either may be levied for, or both, if done at one time, but not if the operation is divided.

Increased automobile license fees, increased gasoline tax or an increase in the general District tax rate are among the substitutes suggested by the corporation counsel to raise the funds which would be lost through repeal of the Borland law, which he declares is an unjust burden on individual property owners for benefits for the entire city.

Legislation which will protect taxpayers who have paid without protest taxes they did not owe also will be sought. At present, taxes paid without protest may not be recovered from the Government. Bride would have the law changed to permit tax payers to get back taxes improperly paid without legal notice of protest that they were paid under duress.

Harris & Ewing.

WILLIAM W. BRIDE

Existing laws do not, at all times, protect the individual against injury suffered through the Government, he believes.

These and several other questions are under study and will be the subject of conferences between the corporation counsel and the District Commissioners, in an effort to work out a program for better protection of the individual citizen.

BRIEFS TO BE FILED ON FARE RAISE PLEA

Fleharty and Company Counsel Will Express Dismissal Motion Opinions.

DECISION IS NEXT WEEK

People's Counsel Ralph B. Fleharty and attorneys for the street car companies will cross swords this morning in legal arguments submitted to Corporation Counsel William W. Bride, general counsel for the Public Utilities Commission, over the question of the authority of the commission to dismiss the plea for increased car fares on the grounds urged by Fleharty.

The Public Utilities Commission submitted that question to Mr. Bride yesterday morning, asking that he give the commission an opinion.

Bride conferred yesterday with his assistants, Francis H. Stephens and Robert Lynch, and set them to looking up several disputed legal points.

Fleharty asked permission to file a brief this morning, setting forth in more detail than was done in the public hearings the legal authority for his position in asking that the petition of the companies for increased fares be denied. Attorneys of the companies also are expected to present additional arguments and citations.

Bride took occasion yesterday to declare that he intended to express no opinion on the merits of the matter, but simply to rule on the authority in law for Mr. Fleharty's motion and the commission's authority to agree with him. He expects to submit his opinion to the commission early next week.

Policeman, Injured, Sues For Damages of $25,000

Damages of $25,000 were asked in a suit filed by Edward D. Healey, a policeman of the Third Precinct, in the District Supreme Court yesterday, against Ralph W. Hill, of 3327 N street northwest and the State Department, whom Healey blamed as responsible for injuries he suffered in a traffic mishap last April 23.

Through Attorney William Wendell, the policeman declared he was standing on a curbing at Twentieth and M streets northwest, when he was struck and injured by an automobile driven by Hill.

New Car Stop Asked By Northeast Citizens

Establishment of a new street car stop at Eighteenth street and Rhode Island avenue northeast was asked of the Public Utilities Commission yesterday by the Rhode Island Avenue Citizens Association.

Stops now are located at Seventeenth street, Queens Chapel road and at Twentieth street, the association said, but Queens Chapel is blocked off and so cluttered with rocks and debris as to be impracticable as a passage to Rhode Island avenue, the association said. The new car stop will be fixed as requested.

Nine Army Men to Honor Hull at Today's Funeral

Soldiers of Spanish War Will Act as Guard for Deceased Representative—Their First Meeting in Thirty Years.

Nine prominent Army men will form the honor guard at the funeral for the late Representative John A. T. Hull, of Iowa, for whom services will be held at his home in Clarendon, Va., this afternoon. Interment will be in Arlington.

An unusual assemblage, the nine military men, now residents of Washington were all members, 30 years ago, of the old Fifty-first Iowa Regiment that fought in the Spanish War.

Three successive captains of the company in which these men served will be present at the Hull ceremonies: They are, Maj. Gen. John A. Hull, son of the late representative; Col. W. R. Gibson, with the quartermaster corps here, and Frank Kihlbom, prominent in the administration of the Government Printing Office.

Of the nine soldiers, some of them retired and some still in service, the ranks range from major general down to corporal. They are: Dr. Edwin A. Merritt, prominent X-ray specialist, once a private; Frank M. Compton, Senate doorkeeper, formerly lieutenant; Maj. Gen. George S. Gibbs, chief of the Signal Corps and erstwhile sergeant; Sergt. Maj Axtel Haig, U. S. M. C., retired, watchman at the Navy Building; John Snure, Washington correspondent and former corporal; Maj. E. H. Conger, U. S. M. C., retired, now head of the Packard Motor Co. here; Representative Lloyd Thurston, of Iowa, formerly a private; L. A. Williams, president of the Williams Motor Co., formerly lieutenant, and Brig. Gen. Albert C. Dalton, then a captain in the Regular Army, assigned to the Fifty-first Iowa. Gen. Dalton is now president of the Emergency Fleet Corporation.

The assemblage this afternoon will mark the first time all these men have met in 30 years, or since they served together in the same regiment in the Spanish War.

GREAT FALLS POWER PLAN DECISION WILL BE RENDERED NOV. 9

Capital Park Commission to Get Reports on Potomac Compromise Project.

PROTECTION OF BEAUTY OF LANDSCAPE IS AIM

Board Members to Pass Four Days at Spot Studying Possibilities.

The National Capital Park and Planning Commission will decide November 9 whether it will reverse its decision against hydroelectric power development at the Great Falls and gorge of the Potomac northwest of Washington and indorse a compromise plan calculated to install the project without sacrificing the natural beauty of that region.

The commission at a meeting yesterday instructed its parks committee to make a further study of compromise plans submitted to the body by Maj. Brehon Somervell, United States engineer for the local district, resulting from six months' study by a committee representing the commission and Maj. Somervell's office.

The commission's park commitee will make an investigation at Great Falls. Its members may pass four days on the scene determining what effect the various plans combining beauty and utility may have on the water level of the river, the abutting timber, islands and the volume of water over the falls. The committee is composed of Frederic L. Olmsted, Brookline, Mass.; Stephen A. Mather, director of national park service; Maj. W. S. Stuart, chief of forest service, Department of Agriculture, and Frederic A. Delano, of this city.

Congress' Sanction Required.

On the report of this committee will probably depend the decision of the commission. Should the commission adopt one of the special committee's compromise plans or another one yet to be arranged, its decision will be incorporated in a report of Maj. Somervell to the Federal Power Commission.

The decisions of the park and planning and power commissions approving or rejecting requests of private firms to install power projects at Great Falls will then be forwarded to Congress for final action.

The special committee prepared nine compromise plans and of these, two were finally selected as the most promising. These will be considered by the park committee in connection with its investigation and final report, which was ordered filed not later than November 9.

Personnel of Committee.

The special committee was composed of Capt. H. P. Oram, United States engineer's office; E. E. Barker, landscape architect, New York City; Charles W Eliot, 2d, city planner for the National Capital Park and Planning Commission; A. H. Flournoy, local landscape architect, and C. A. Peters, jr., office of Public Buildings and Public Parks of the National Capital.

Members of the commission considered methods of treating Federal property at the Rosslyn end of Key Bridge with a view to relieving traffic congestion there but arrived at no decision. The commission will close its September session today, with consideration of various land purchase plans in connection with park projects.

Photographer Gets Assault Warrant

Girl Who Was Shielded From Snapshot Admits Theft Charge.

Frank Feeney, of 1507 M street northwest, yesterday morning successfully shielded Miss Marie Adele Abbott, 18-year-old artist's model, also of the M street address, from a newspaper photographer while escorting her into Police Court with the result that a warrant charging Feeney with assault was sworn out by the photographer.

Miss Abbott pleaded guilty before Judge Gus A. Schuldt to two charges of larceny and three of false pretenses in obtaining pretty clothes and finery, and upon recommendation of Assistant District Attorney Joseph Bruce an investigation by the probation officer was launched. Her case was continued a week until the investigation is completed. Miss Abbott was arrested on complaint of friends that she had abused their charge accounts at local stores in obtaining the clothes.

As Feeney was escorting Miss Abbott into the courthouse, Frederick Cole, a photographer for the Washington Daily News, attempted to take her picture. He charged that Feeney held him until the young woman was inside the building. Later and while in the courthouse Cole said he announced his intention to Feeney of "getting the girl's picture" and charged that Feeney grabbed him and threatened to beat him. The warrant was issued on Cole's complaint by Assistant District Attorney Walter M. Shea.

Telephone Company Sues District for $41,581

Suit to recover $41,581.09 from the District of Columbia was instituted yesterday in the District Supreme Court by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. The sum was paid to the District over a period of three years, the company declared, and was wrongfully collected as taxes on the interstate business, real estate and investment earnings of the company.

According to George P. Hoover, attorney for the company, its interstate business includes service stations, pay stations and subscribers outside of the District limits and is not subject to the District tax. It is also claimed that the income derived from rental of space in buildings, interest on investments, reserve funds, buildings and sales of materials should not be included in the operating income.

Tools Fell on His Head; Youth Awarded $3,500

Shortly after filing a suit for $10,000 damages for alleged personal injuries against the Howard P. Foley Co., electrical contractors, yesterday in the District Supreme Court, Roy J. Heinbuch, 18 years old, agreed to a judgment of $3,500.

The youth brought the action through his mother, Mrs. Mary E. Heinbuch, of East Falls Church, Va., and charged that he was injured while working at the National Press Building, Fourteenth and F streets northwest. The pleas of the company were filed almost immediately by Attorneys Swingle & Swingle, a jury was sworn in and the agreed verdict was given. Through his counsel, Daniel W. O'Donoghue, the youth charged that a cable, carrying a wire basket of tools and fixtures, was defective and broke, permitting the contents to fall on him.
